LBJ Refuses To Hike Wage Guidelines

Economic Message Cautions Against 'Overheating'

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — President Johnson served notice on business and labor today that he might have to request higher taxes to curb inflation unless they keep the lid on prices and wages.

He told Congress in his annual economic message that keeping the economy from overheating in the face of the Viet Nam buildup and the business boom is the "most serious economic challenge" facing the nation.

RECORD OUTPUT

Johnson predicted that unemployment will fall below 4 per cent this year, the lowest since 1953, while the value of the nation's output of goods and services will soar to a record $722 billion.

The unprecedented five-year economic boom has brought Americans prosperity "far beyond the dreams of any people, anywhere, any time," the President said. But he cautioned that the ominous threat of a spreading conflict in Viet Nam makes economic restraint vital.

WAGE GUIDELINE

It was the specter of inflation that prompted the President to abandon the administration's "sliding scale" method of setting guideposts for wage and price increases, a move that brought stiff criticism from organized labor, which played big part in his 1964 election victory.

He said in his economic message to Congress that it is "vitally important" that both unions and industry hew to the line of White House guideposts limiting wage raises to 3.2 per cent with no price hikes.

GUIDEPOST FIGURE

A blow to labor leaders' hopes in Johnson's message, accompanied by a report of his Council of Economic Advisers, was the failure to boost the guidepost figure to 3.6 per cent in line with latest national production figures.

"I'm sure it has been and will be described as changing the rules in the middle of the game," said council Chairman Gardner Ackley in defending the administration for sticking to the 3.2 per cent figure.

"We don't regard it that way at all," he said at a briefing on the President's economic report.

The guideposts are based on the increase of productivity per man hour, which averaged 3.2 per cent the past five years.

WAGES BOOST

The guideposts state that wages can be raised 3.2 per cent without price increases or larger profit margins for industry.

While conceding that the wage guidepost would be 3.6 per cent if 1965 figures were added and 1960 figures dropped, Ackley said, "We have never been wedded to the five-year rolling average."

Here are the major facts and figures in President Johnson's economic report sent to Congress today:

ROBERT G. THOMPSON
Center of controversy

Ex-Communist Burial Denied At Arlington

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department today refused to permit the burial in Arlington National Cemetery of the remains of Robert G. Thompson, a World War II medal winner who later turned Communist.

The Defense Department acted after a review of facts and laws covering the case. The matter had stirred up nationwide controversy and brought a caustic Moscow comment that refusing burial would be a mockery of an American patriot and Communist."

WON DSC

Thompson, who won the Distinguished Service Cross in New Guinea in 1943 was convicted in New York state under the Smith Act in 1949, along with 10 other Communist party leaders.

He was sentenced to three years for "conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the government of the United States." He later jumped bail, was caught in 1953 and sentenced to an additional four years.

He served five years and one month of the seven-year term.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas de B. Katzenbach said in a letter to Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus R. Vance that it was clear the Defense Department "can properly refuse to permit the interment of Thompson's remains in the Arlington National Cemetery."

ARMY ASSUMPTION

The Pentagon requested the Justice Department opinion after the Army had agreed to a request from Thompson's widow, Silvia, that his ashes be buried in Arlington.

Army lawyers had acted on the assumption that a veteran was entitled to burial in a national cemetery if survivors requested it.

Thompson died last Oct. 16 and his wife requested Arlington interment early this month. Before the Defense Department intervened, the Army had authorized the burial to take place next Monday.

The controversy over the burial spread from the Kremlin to Capitol Hill Wednesday, adding to the furor started by veterans groups protesting the request by Thompson's widow.

Thompson died at the age of 50. His remains were cremated.

Grand Jury Vows Full-Scale Probe Of Douglas Hiring

A full-scale investigation into hiring of John M. Douglas as county director of economic development was scheduled yesterday for next Wednesday by the entire 1965 Marin County Grand Jury.

George R. Scott, foreman, said the probe will start at 9 a.m. and is a consequence of a report yesterday by a special jury committee which has been studying the appointment.

The committee, composed of Harry M. Williams, Mrs. Ethyle M. Reindollar, and Scott, found "nothing wrong as far as Douglas, himself, is concerned," but wants to know why the county personnel commission was not consulted by the board of supervisors before selection was made.

Also sought, Scott declared, is explanation why Douglas, the sixth person on a recommended list of candidates, was selected, rather than one of the first five. Scott said his panel likewise is puzzled about a so-called "oral group" which he understands was appointed by Counnty Administer Alan Bruce to make recommendations for the job appointment. It was this group that submitted the list of recommendations on candidates.

THREE MEN

Scott said the committee, composed of three men, used county personnel commission stationary, but that Julius H. Selinger, commission chairman, appeared before the jury committee yesterday and said the commission had no part in the recommendations.

Members of the oral board were Rex T. Silvernale of San Rafael, manager of Hutchinson Co. at Greenbrae and president of the Marin County Development Assn.; Thomas Potter, vice president of Coldwell Banker and Co., San Francisco, and Henry Bostwick, general manager of the Santa Clara County Development Assn.

STORER APPROVES

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer also appeared before the panel yesterday, Scott said, and reported he had not seen the oral committee report, nor did he know who made it.

Scott said all supervisors will be asked to appear before the full jury at Wednesday's all-day session, as will Silvernale, Bostwick, Bruce, and Martin E. Nelson, personnel analyst in Bruce's office.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, who is on vacation, is expected back by then.

ROOSTER TOGETHERNESS JUST TOO NEIGHBORLY

Out of the night, two cocks together crow,
Cleaving the darkness with a silver bow.
—Edward Thomas

Mrs. C. R. Woodhouse of 337 Hazel Avenue, Mill Valley, told police yesterday she wished her neighbors' roosters would quit cleaving the darkness every 4 a.m.

Mrs. Woodhouse told police that two families on Rose Avenue have chickens, and some crow at 4 a.m. each day.

Some also fly into trees on the Woodhouse property, she said.

She asked police to do something about those chickens.

Russ Link Razor To U.S. Embassy

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow Radio charged today that American Newcomb Mott slashed his throat with a razor blade he received in a gift parcel from the U.S. embassy. The embassy said it still has no official notification from Soviet authorities on the "instrument of death," and said the radio account was "rather distorted."

The Moscow Radio broadcast said Mott, 27, "behaved violently" before he committed suicide aboard a train taking him to a Soviet labor camp as punishment for crossing the border into Russia accidentally.

An embassy spokesman said razor blades were delivered to Mott in a gift package from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott of Sheffield, Mass., and said the package contained medicines, toiletries and other items.

"But the package was forwarded to prison authorities who must have known what was in the package," the spokesman said.

The embassy, meanwhile, took possession of the body of Mott, a book company salesman arrested last Sept. 4. The body will be shipped home by plane tomorrow night.

(In Sheffield the elder Mott said earlier he and his wife packed a package for their son while they were in the U.S. Embassy after Mott was convicted of crossing the border illegally and sentenced to 18 months in prison.

(The father said it contained mostly warm clothing and that he honestly could not remember whether there were any razor blades but he was positive there was no straight razor. He said Soviet officials had allowed Newcomb to shave with a razor since the day he was arrested.

(Mott said they were not permitted to give Newcomb the package. Instead they handed the package to Russian guards in Newcomb's presence.)

A U.S. spokesman said until the official Soviet report on Mott's death is studied the United States will not accept or reject the Soviet account of Mott's suicide."

Candidates Popping Up In April Vote

Four candidates for city councils in three cities took out nomination papers today as the period for filing for city offices in April 12 elections opened.

In Novato, papers were taken out for Harley J. McAskill and Wayne Hathaway, who will seek council positions now held by Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Mrs. Lucile Cannon, both of whom have announced they will not run again.

In Larkspur, Mayor Neil R. Brixon announced he has reversed an earlier decision not to seek another term, and took out a petition of candidacy.

In Corte Madera, papers were taken out by Holmes S. Norville, president of the Marin Estates Home Owners Assn.

Johnson Presents Program To Halt Nuclear Spread

COMBINED AP & UPI

GENEVA—President Johnson called on the 17-nation disarmament conference today to negotiate a sweeping seven-point program designed to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons, halt the nuclear arms race and reduce nuclear stockpiles.

Johnson's message was read to the conference as Pope Paul VI, in an unprecedented move, appealed directly to the group to achieve "positive and concrete results" for the sake of peace so money now spent on arms could be spent for the benefit of humanity.

The conference resumed today after a four-month recess.

First item in President Johnson's program was a treaty to prevent the further proliferation of nuclear weapons, an appeal also voiced today by United Nations Secretary General Thant in a message to the conference.

Johnson's seven-point program calls for a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons to non-nuclear countries, demands international safeguards over peaceful nuclear activities, calls for the strengthening of international security organization and the establishment of a system of inspections.

The Johnson proposal also seeks an international agreement "not to increase, and indeed to reduce, nuclear materials in weapons stockpiles."

It calls for a freeze "on offensive and defensive strategic bombers and missiles designed to carry nuclear weapons.

Finally, it suggests exploration of ways for nations "to limit competition among themselves for costly weapons often sought for reasons of illusory prestige."

Bay Area's Gales Go To Southland Instead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The major storm front that unexpectedly bypassed Northern California yesterday was moving south along the coast and expected to veer inland near San Diego by nightfall, the Weather Bureau said today.

The bureau said yesterday heavy rains and high winds would hit Northern California later in the day. However, the storm failed to materialize, moving southward instead.

Kentucky Adopts Civil Rights Law

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — In the shadow of a towering bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln, Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt today signed into law the first civil rights bill to be enacted by a state of the traditional Old South.

The bill will take effect July 1. It bans discrimination in public places and in businesses with eight or more employees.

Viet War Steps Up With Cong Captures

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Allied forces reported today 91 Viet Cong were killed and at least 123 captured in their first sizable clashes since the end of the lunar New Year truce four days ago.

The South Vietnamese army's 9th Division struck the hardest single blow in a surprise attack on a Viet Cong training camp in the upper reaches of the Mekong Delta near the Cambodian border.

A government spokesman said 14 guerrillas were killed and 114 captured, including a training chief. The government troops also seized 117 suspects, many of them thought to be new recruits, and a batch of weapons and ammunition.

The 9th Division carried off the strike yesterday morning by sending a regiment of infantrymen into the camp 80 miles southwest of Saigon while another regiment in armored personnel carriers blocked the enemy retreat. Government casualties were reported light.

A South Korean platoon patroling Route 1, the main north-south highway, bumped into a force of about 70 Reds last night near Bong Son, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. In the fight 35 Viet Cong were killed and two captured while the Koreans had only light casualties, a spokesman said.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, operating in the same coastal plains as the Koreans, reported 27 Viet Cong killed and 78 suspects and eight tons of Communist rice stores seized.

The South Vietnamese government's official press agency reported that an armed Viet Cong platoon of 14 men, 18 to 30 years old, defected to the government at Phuoc Binh, 7 miles northwest of Saigon, last Thursday.

Hanoi Radio announced that the Viet Cong had released 1 South Vietnamese officers captured last year.

The broadcast said the men carried anti-American signs and shouted Viet Cong slogans on their way back to Quang Ngai, a provincial capital 30 miles south of Chu Lai.

Perhaps This Salesman Finally Saw Light Like Aurora Borealis

SVOLVAR, Norway (UPI)—the car dealer in this northern Norwegian town looked askance when the young man entered yesterday and asked the price of one of the autos on display.

The customer wore oilskins, rubber boots and dungarees and had a week's beard. His hands were dirty.

"How much?" he asked.

"About $2,500," the salesman said.

"Let me have 16 of them," the young man responded

The salesman drew himself up. "Get out of here," he snapped. "This is no place for jokes."

Whereupon the young man left the shop, went to another car dealer across the street and paid in cash for 16 automobiles.

It turned out he was a crewmember aboard a Norwegian trawler having a successful season this year.

Recently the crew received $10,000 apiece as part of their pay and delegated the young man to buy a car for each of them.

Proposition 14 Appeal Scheduled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Supreme Court decided yesterday to look again at Proposition 14 which voided the state's anti-discriminating housing laws.

The proposition, approved by voters in 1964, is now Section 26 of Article 1 of the State Constitution.

Further arguments are to be heard in Sacramento March 21 through March 23.

In ruling, the court consolidated seven appeals.

In its present form, the proposition is holding up more than $21 million in urban redevelopment projects because of conflict with federal regulations.

Reopening was based on a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Jan. 17 that Macon, Ga., could not void constitutional restrictions on racial discrimination in a park by turning it over to private trustees.

Two Policemen Cleared In Kidnap Deaths

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police officers who fatally shot two alleged kidnappers at the Beverly Hills home of rubber millionaire Leonard Firestone have been cleared by a coroner's inquest jury.

The jury ruled yesterday that the death of William Calvin Bailey, 44, was justifiable homicide.

The death of George Henry Skalla, 25, was ruled accidental on the part of the officers.

Officers, tipped by Skalla, shot the two men near the front door of Firestone's home Jan. 13.

Bailey, struck by two shotgun blasts, died at the scene. Skalla, hit by a pair of ricocheting 38-caliber bullets, died a few hours later in a hospital.

Beverly Hills Det. Lt. B. L. Cork and Det. Sgt. Jack Mourning testified at the two-day hearing that they were waiting inside the house when Bailey came through the front door, a gun in his hand. They said they fired simultaneous shotgun blasts.

Dr. Charles Cade, who performed the autopsy on Bailey, testified he found 19 pellets in the body. He said the cause of death was perforation of the lungs and heart causing massive hemorrhaging.

Beverly Hills Det. Sgt. John L. Egger testifed that he fired three slugs from his 38-caliber revolver, and Dr. Cade said the autopsy on Skalla's body showed 38-caliber gunshot wounds of the neck and abdomen and resulting massive hemorrhaging.

Brown Fiscal Plan Held Smoke Screen

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Partisan strife enveloped the Democratic administration's fiscal plans today, a week and a half before the legislature convenes.

Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R - Tracy, charged Gov. Brown with throwing up "another fiscal smoke screen."

He referred to an administration plan, disclosed yesterday, to reduce by $100 million the amount of new taxes needed to balance Brown's 1966-67 budget.

Facing an election-year deficit of up to $300 million in the more than $4.5 billion spending program, the governor had this proposal for one-year relief for the state's money problems:

Eliminate the present accounting system of counting only the cash on hand when figuring how much money is available.

Instead, count tax revenue that will be received after the end of the fiscal year, too.

More than $100 million in revenue from the cigarette, sales and other taxes will not be received by the state until shortly after the end of the 1966-67 fiscal year. Now, it can't be counted when preparing the new budget, even though it was levied on sales made during that fiscal period.

The new proposal won't bring any more money, but will permit the administration to count the expected taxes when searching for revenues for the 1966-67 budget.

"No matter where you write the figures in the books, if the money isn't there you can't use it," said Monagan.

He said the "administration is spending a great deal more than they are taking in. That is a fact and no accounting system can hide that fact."

"This newest bid for re-election is just another in a long series of fiscal gimmicks," he said.

Roy Bell, assistant finance director, conceded the plan is "basically a one-shot deal," providing money to ease this year's taxload but no funds for future years.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, the legislature's nonpartisan fiscal adviser, said the state already is borrowing money to pay day - to - day expenses because of delayed tax collections. The General Fund repays the loans—made from special state funds — when the tax money comes in, but must pay interest for borrowing the money.

Post said the new plan "will increase the borrowing from special funds and if the special funds can't carry it, we will have to go to outside sources."

Brown To Name Two To Courts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today he will appoint Assemblymen Burt Henson, D-Ventura, and Richard J. Donovan, R-Chula Vista, to municipal judgeships after the 1966 budget session.

The governor said he made his announcement in advance of the appointments at the request of Henson and Donovan.

Both men would have had to file notices of intent to run for re-election by Feb. 23.

Knight Decides Not To Battle For Governor

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Goodwin J. Knight, governor of California from 1953 to 1958, refuses to seek a new term.

Knight, 69, said yesterday after meeting with supporters that there was great need for a united Republican party and "I sincerely feel I can best contribute to that vital Republican unity by not becoming a candidate."

"I will not take an active part in the primary election," Knight said. "But I shall endorse and support all Republican nominees in the final election."

Three men so far have announced they will enter the GOP primary: Former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, manufacturer William P. Patrick, of Tiburon, and actor Ronald Reagan.

WINS BATTLE OF BULGE—Merrill W. Plaskow II of Indianapolis, Ind., uses a tape measure to illustrate the girth he lost in order to be accepted by the Army. Plaskow, 19, dieted down to 185 pounds from the 322 pounds he weighed a year ago so that he could enlist.

OPERATION A SUCCESS—Ronald Olliges, 20, is a Marine now. He's working at his father's tree surgery at Roselle, Ill., prior to starting basic training. He underwent hernia surgery so he could qualify for the Marine Corps. He wants to fight in Viet Nam. (AP Wirephotos)

THEY WANT TO FIGHT

Burning Of Draft Cards Leads To Enlist Efforts

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Angered by the draft card burnings and anti-Viet Nam demonstrations last October, two young Americans made remarkable efforts to try to get into the armed forces. One took off 130 pounds; the other underwent surgery. The following stories tell what has happened to them.)

By PATRICK E. O'KEEFE

ROSELLE, Ill. (AP) — A husky young landscaper who underwent a hernia operation so he could pass a Marine Corps physical examination is looking ahead to starting two years of active duty in March.

Ronald Olliges, 20, said he won't mind if he is sent to Viet Nam, and if the Marines put the choice to him, he'll volunteer for duty there. He was sworn into the Marines Jan. 6.

Olliges underwent the hernia operation Oct. 19 after the Marines told him he needed it to qualify.

If the United States wins in Viet Nam, he said, "it will stop them (the Communists) from trying it other places. Otherwise this thing will just keep on going and we'll have to fight them some place else."

The 6 - foot - 1 youth, who dropped from 220 to 205 pounds after the operation, said his first month of recuperation was quite painful. Even now, he said, "I get a shot of pain every once in awhile."

Joseph Olliges Sr., operator of a tree nursery in Roselle, a suburb of Chicago, said he and his wife approved of both the operation and the Marines for their son.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Merrill W. Plaskow II, who got into the Army by losing 130 pounds, is fighting the second biggest battle of his life.

Army chow.

Plaskow, who grew fat on his family's Philadelphia chain of luncheonettes, is beginning to feel renewed tugs at his belt.

"Army food is really very good," says Plaskow, trying to hold the line at a svelte 185.

"But the other day I got up to 188," he said.

Plaskow, 19, admits a three-pound gain is small potatoes for a confirmed chow hound who ballooned to 322 pounds a year ago.

"I was miserable," he said.

Today hs is a private studying journalism at the sprawling Defense Department Information School at Fort Benjamin Harrison. He hopes to specialize in Army radio and television, and perhaps someday become an actor.

Plaskow tried to enlist in the Army last February but was classified 4-F. A recruiting sergeant told him to come back when he weighed 196 pounds.

Plaskow told him, "I'll see you in October."

The youth wanted to join because he wanted to do something to counteract the draft card burning and other student demonstrations in protest of U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Plaskow showed up at the Philadelphia Army recruiting office eight months later, minus 130 pounds. He was inducted.

The trend in free calendars, sent out at year's end by American firms, is toward modern design and fine art.

Low Income Group To Get Free Counsel

The county-wide advisory committee on the "war on poverty" last night approved an agreement with the Marin County Legal Aid Society whereby free legal services will be provided low-income families.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who is also president of the legal aid society, said the federal program will provide $70,000 a year for support of attorneys and staff.

Part-time offices will be maintained in Marin City, Novato, San Rafael and West Marin. The staff will include one attorney at $12,000 a year, two at $10,000 each, two legal secretaries at $5,000 each, and an executive secretary at $6,000.

Innocent Verdict In Attack Trial

Four Marin City youths, ages 14 to 17, were found innocent yesterday in Marin County Juvenile Court of statutory rape of a 15-year-old Tamalpais High School student last Dec. 8.

Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said conflicting prosecution testimony during the two-day hearing was the basis for his decision. The girl, an acquaintance of the quartet, told sheriff's officers she was kidnapped in the school parking lot, then taken to a Daly City home and raped.

Deputies said the girl's mother learned of the alleged assault and notified them. A physician's examination, however, showed no evidence of force or shock, they added.

Space-Traveling Potato May Unravel Puzzle

DETROIT (AP) — A common potato that sells for pennies a pound is going to be carried into space soon by a multimillion-dollar rocket to search for what scientists hope will be a key to a biological mystery.

Hoping to discover that key, Space Defense Corp. in suburban Birmingham, Mich., in conjunction with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, plans to orbit the potato within the next two years.

The high-flying potato project has been christened "Spudnik."

Bruce Pinc, a biologist with Space Defense Corp., says "the possibilities of this thing are enormous. If Spudnik accomplishes what we expect, its potential in the study of the entire area of biological science is staggering."

Spudnik is designed to probe what Pinc calls the "riddle of biorythmicity, one of the five most important questions in biological science".

Pinc said biorythmicity describes the tendency of living organisms to become active at regular, predictable intervals.

Pinc said one school of thought contends clock-like mechanisms inside the cell control activity and that no outside forces influence stimulation of cells.

Another view says outside forces such as the sun, moon and gravity dictate variations in organic activity. The greatest problem in attempting to prove the theory has been the near impossibility of eliminating such outside forces in experimentation.

"By taking advantage of space we get away from the exertion of all earth-bound forces." Pinc said. "We have a virtually empty environment, and if standard biorythmicity occurs we can be relatively sure the cause is inside the cell."

But why a potato?

Pinc says, "What's more simple than a potato? It is one of the most homogeneous masses existent."

Pinc and Dan Foster, another scientist, says results of their tests so far tend to back up the theory of outside influence on cellular activity. But they're not drawing any conclusions yet.

Homeowners Decry Dearth Of Hub Council Candidates

San Anselmo Homes Assn. members last night commented on a dearth of candidates for election to the San Anselmo city council, then appointed a committee to seek out candidates and interview them on city issues.

The committee will report to the association's board of directors before the closing date for filing of candidates, reported Mrs. Anne West, association vice president.

The homes association also decided to hold another membership meeting seven days after the candidacy filings close, so candidates may appear and give their views.

Association members also voted to ask two members of the San Anselmo library board to appear before them and give pro and con arguments on the city joining the county library system. The city council this month vetoed a library board proposal for the city to join the system.

Everett Farley announced that the association and the Fairfax Citizens Advisory Committee will hold a panel discussion on proposed routes for the east-west highway Feb. 17 at 8 p.m. at Isabel Cook School.

Blood Donated To Aid Child In Operation

Firemen from all over the county and a Fairfax policeman joined this week to donate blood for 15-month-old Juliana Wedemeyer, the daughter of Larkspur fireman Bud Wedemeyer.

Juliana needed nine pints of blood for an open heart operation which was successfully performed Monday at Presbyterian Medical Center in San Francisco.

Learning of Juliana's need, firemen from the Sausalito, Kentfield, Fairfax, Larkspur and Treasure Island fire departments, and the policeman donated a total of 36 pints of blood.

"It was just great the way they all responded to her need," said Wedemeyer today. "We're going to donate the blood which Juliana doesn't need to another pediatric heart patient."

Warrant Is Issued For Forgery Suspect

Warrant for arrest of Norene Creighton, 24, also known as Evelyn Isabel McCormick, was issued yesterday by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court following her failure to appear for plea entry.

She is charged with two counts of forgery and one of passing a worthless check. New bail for the suspect, of 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Sausalito, was set at $2,750.

Exchange Plan Shows Students There Are Other Ways Of Living

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"It ain't necessarily so.

"That is, it's not necessarily so the way you think and what you have always been used to. Your school system is not the only one. Your political system is not the only one — your newspapers neither."

This explains in part the feelings of Ulrich Zahlten and Karin Reinke, two German participants in the Youth for Understanding conference being held this week at the Ralston L. White Memorial Retreat in Mill Valley.

Representatives from 14 countries are holding workshops and hearing reports on work of the volunteer organization which promotes study abroad for students of high school age.

The first such conference to include leaders from all over the world, it will close with a reception at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Broadmoor Congregational Church, San Leandro.

Zahlten and Miss Reinke represent a romantic aspect of Youth for Understanding. Zahlten was an exchange student 12 years ago and Miss Reinke, eight years ago, both studying in Michigan. Zahlten was on the selection committee that selected Miss Reinke to go abroad. They plan to marry.

They reside in Hamburg, where they operate the Youth for Understanding office, handling selections and placing American students who go to Germany. Their work is volunteer. Zahlten is studying law and Miss Reinke to be a teacher.

"We realize," Miss Reinke said, "that you can't become aware of other countries' ways just by reading about them. You have to live there. But even this doesn't always work, because you tend to apply your own patterns to the new environment."

"You've got to be sufficiently mature to be able to perceive these things and evaluate them," Zahlten continued. "And you must still be sufficiently young and open-minded to become a part of the foreign environment, which is the value of the teenager. His mind isn't made up." (Students who participate range in age from 15 to 18.)

"Today you have to live internationally," Zahlten added.

Mrs. Rachel Andresen of Ann Arbor, Mich., home office of Youth for Understanding, is director of the conference. She said the organization has been in operation since 1951 and has in the last two years been reaching into the northern California area.

The board decided Jan. 15, she said, to concentrate for the next few years on Latin America. The choice was made because of a great deal of interest in Latin America, because of the general policy of the government, and partly because of a request from the U.S. State Department, with which Youth for Understanding cooperates.

Funds to support the program, which this year had 66 foreign students in northern California, come primarily from families and community organizations, Mrs. Andresen said.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter S. Press of San Rafael, participants at the meeting, were active in securing the retreat, Mrs. Andresen explained. "We like to get out and away and have some privacy. This is a beautiful location."

Also participating from Marin County are Dr. and Mrs. Henry Kuizenga of San Anselmo and Rev. and Mrs. James P. Sherman of Fairfax.

Sewer Project

Directors of Las Gallinas Sanitary District, in an adjourned meeting last night, accepted completion of the sewer works expansion project done by Arntz Construction Co. of San Francisco for $402,547.23.

School Volunteer Conference Set

More than 30 local school administrators, teachers, and volunteers will be discussion leaders in Saturday's conference on "The School, the Teacher, and the Volunteer," sponsored by the Volunteer Bureau of Marin.

Topics for discussion in the workshop to be held at the College of Marin are methods of organizing volunteer programs, and the responsibilities of school boards, school staffs and citizen groups in the volunteer programs.

Among educators who will help lead the conference, which will run from 8:45 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., are: Dr. Bert C. Corona, superintendent of San Rafael School District; Mrs. D. F. Deedy, president of College of Marin Board of Trustees; and Mrs. Betty Goerke of the Sausalito pre-school volunteer program.

By 1915, there were more than two million automobiles, trucks and buses in use in the United States.

Airport Information Session Is Set

A workshop session of the Marin County Aviation Commission will be held at the Civic Center at 8 p.m. today to prepare supplemental information for supervisors.

Commission chairman Benjamin R. Ostlind called the session after supervisors Tuesday requested backup information of the commission's recommendation to proceed with development of the county airport at Novato under Federal Aviation Agency standards.

Inmate Eating, Not Beating Is Testimony

The first of a trio of San Quentin defendants to testify in their assault trial in Marin Superior Court yesterday afternoon declared they were all calmly eating lunch in the prison's north dining hall when the beating and stabbing occurred.

James Schreckengost, who with his brother, John, and Russell Dillard is accused of assault on another inmate while serving life sentences, testified they left the institution's paint shop at 11:45 a.m. several minutes before the attack occurred.

He said they walked down an alley to the dining hall, had their meal, and were back out into a main yard at 12:05 p.m. when he first learned the inmate, Myford G. Duncan, 24, had been attacked in the paint shop and saw prison personnel carrying Duncan out.

The other two defendants were with him throughout the luncheon, he testified.

Duncan was severely beaten, then allegedly stabbed in the neck with a screwdriver and dumped in a paint rag barrel on Jan. 21, 1965. He survived.

The lengthy trial, which started Dec. 27, is expected to conclude next week, with 15 defense wittnesses yet to testify.

If convicted, the defendants then face a penalty phase trial.

Mill Valley Chamber Plan Annual Event

Theme of the annual Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce installation dinner to be held Feb. 9 at Sabella's restaurant is "business promotion in southern Marin," board President Charles J. Francis said today.

Details for the dinner and program, starting at 7:30 p.m., were discussed by the board yesterday at its noon meeting. Speaker, yet to be selected, is to be an expert on business promotion and marketing, Francis said.

Many Schools To Close For Day

Pupils in many Marin County public schools will get the day off tomorrow while their teachers attend annual teaching institutes.

San Rafael schools, declaring a special work afternoon for teachers, will send pupils home for the afternoon. Dismissal hours will range from 12:25 to 1:20 p.m.

Only schools which will hold classes as usual tomorrow will be those in the Dixie, Lagunitas, Novato, Tomales Bay, Tomales High School and West Marin districts.

Diplomat Says Kashmir Crisis Looks Brighter

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Selection of Mrs. Indira Gandhi as prime minister of India offers hope for a solution of the Kashmir dispute between that country and Pakistan, a veteran diplomat told a Marin group today in Terra Linda.

Henry W. Spielman, 54, a foreign service officer just returned from Pakistan, addressed the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club's weekly meeting at the Oakview Club in San Rafael.

With the foreign service since 1942, Spielman has spent all but four years of his time in Asia. The four years were spent in Washington, D.C., where he continued to specialize in Asian affairs.

His remarks made it clear that no discussion of Pakistan is possible without frequent references to India, which sets squarely between the two halves of Pakistan.

Among these references was a discussion of how it felt to be awakened by Indian bombs when the United States Embassy branch in Rawalpindi, Pakistan, was bombed during the brief but hot war over Kashmir last fall.

"We only got gombed once, in the first night of the fighting," recalled Spielman. "I can't say exactly how many bombs they dropped, but I personally know of five. One knocked me out of bed."

Spielman, in charge of the branch embassy, cabled Indian officials in Delhi, asking them to leave the embassy out of their target areas in future raids. It was not bombed again.

Pakistan's 100 million people are divided between West Pakistan, about the size of California and Nevada, which has 48 million, and East Pakistan, about the size of Louisiana. They are 1,000 miles apart.

Formally called "the Islamic Republic of Pakistan," the land has its minority of Hindus, just as India has a relatively small population of Moslems. The Hindus in Pakistan, Spielman said, are "almost a hostage in some respects."

He traced the history of U.S. aid to Pakistan, which started with President Harry S. Truman's Point Four program in 1959 and reached a turning point when this country found its military aid supporting both sides of last fall's India-Pakistan fighting.

American aid, except for food, was quickly cut off, which brought the fighting to a halt.

With three official languages (Bengali in the east, Urdu in the west and English for official documents) and more dialects than anyone has tried to count, Pakistan is at least 50 years from solving its language problems, Spielman predicted.

As for a lasting peace with India, the diplomat said friction will continue until there is a lasting settlement of the Kashmir question.

Choice of Mrs. Gandhi may speed this, he said.

"She is probably the strongest leader India could have selected," he said. "It took an Asian country to pick a woman for its leader."

Mrs. Gandhi, he added, is more likely than any other Indian leader to guide the ruling Congress Party into Kashmir solution.

"It will probably be settled within the next 18 months—I hope," he said guardedly.

Asked if residents of both India and Pakistan see the Chinese as "just waiting on the border," Spielman said Pakistanis are less fearful than Indians because a high plateau protects them from mainland China.

But he agreed that China's policy has been one of "stirring up troubled waters" between India and Pakistan.

Auto Yards Face Ouster Hearings In San Rafael

Acting on city council directions, the San Rafael Planning Commission Tuesday night set a Feb. 8 hearing in whether to revoke the permits of two auto wrecking yards on Jordan Street.

Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr., however, insisted that it be done right.

Warning his fellow commissioners that they would be "acting in a quasi-judicial capacity that night, making findings of fact," Robbins said he wanted a court reporter and the power to swear witnesses. He was assured that City Atty. David Menary would attend.

The permits were issued in August to Richard Isi and in September to R. L. Thompson and L. P. Aquilino. Each was issued by the council on an appeal of the commission's denial.

Councilmen asked for the hearing on revoking the permits after a Jordan Street property owner complained that the lots were not complying with conditions imposed by the council.

Alexander Graham Bell experimented with rocket propulsion, built giant man-carrying kites and headed a group that designed and flew pioneering airplanes.

She Divorces, All Hope Gone

CHICAGO (AP) — Julia Michuda, 60, has given up hope that her husband would come back. She got a divorce. Her husband, Stephen, 63, a retired bridge engineer of Chicago, lives in Las Vegas, Nev.

"Why did you wait so long to sue?" asked Circuit Judge Robert L. Massey.

"I had always hoped he would return, but after 28 years I guess he won't," Mrs. Michuda said. They married June 6, 1926, and he left March 1, 1937.

Chamber Plans Fireworks In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce yesterday approved a contract under which it will sponsor the city's July 4 fireworks display this year. The program was previously sponsored by the now-defunct Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Commission.

Chamber president Beverly A. Sill said the program will be paid for with chamber funds, along with a $350 donation from the town of Corte Madera.

The chamber also adopted a $3,700 budget and approved bylaws for the county Chamber of Commerce. The bylaws state the county chamber's board of directors will be composed of two representatives from each local Chamber of Commerce and the Marin visitors bureau and 15 other businessmen.

Sill reported that when remodeling of the Corte Madera town hall is complete, the Corte Madera Sanitary District will move to that building and the town will give the chamber the present sanitary district office rent-free.

Bel Marin Channel Delays Criticized

By FRANK FARRARA

Bel Marin Keys home owners made it clear last night they would be a lot happier if they had a deep water channel to San Pablo Bay.

More than 60 residents crowded the former sales office at Bel Marin Keys Boulevard and Montego Key in Ignacio for election of officers of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Assn.

Gerry Kroneberger of 61 Montego Key was elected president in a runoff after the first balloting resulted in an 18-to-18 tie with Roger A. Hicks, outgoing secretary. A third candidate, Stanley C. Rakeman, received 10 votes on the first ballot. In the runoff, Kroneberber won 24 to 21.

Carl Boivie was elected vice president; Mrs. Lee Hudson, secretary, and Howard Bean, treasurer. Elected to the executive committee were Anthony Sarganis, William C. Fries and Raymond Hosking.

But it wasn't long until the conversation got to the number one topic in the area: lack of a deep water channel, which prevents residents from using their boats.

Comments came from Samual L. Wright, vice president of Fox and Carskadon, announced that firm is now the exclusive real estate agent for Bel Marin Keys.

Fries, of 308 Montego Key, said when he moved into the development, he expected to be able to get his boat "in and out," but took it out once and got grounded.

Wright asked how many persons purchased their homes "with deep water access as their motivation." Practically everyone raised a hand.

Anthony Ricci, outgoing president, said when he purchased his home he was told there would be six foot of water "at all times, even at low water," and dredging was promised last July.

Ricci charged that developer Jack H. West was supposed "to come up with a dredging plan, but he's stalling."

Wright said there are 140 families living in Bel Marin Keys, 170 unsold homes, and 130 developed lots without buildings.

There were comments that some effort has been made to complete dredging of the channel and that the sale of more homes would provide money to complete the dredging job.

Hicks said that "for $20,000, we could get a deep water channel to the Petaluma Creek channel."

Hicks warned, "If we're not careful, we'll end up with the community services district paying for the dredging, and we'll all get a whopping assessment."

The permit issued to M. P. Finley Co. to dredge to Petaluma Creek channel is valid until the end of next year, Hicks reported.

The homeowners association reported that a petition with 36 signatures has been sent to the State Public Utilities Commission urging toll-free calls between Ignacio and San Rafael.

Another letter, to the Marin County sheriff's office, protesting drag racing between Bel Marin Keys and Highway 101, and a letter to the county public works department asking for street lights along that stretch of county road.

The association voted to join the Marin County Federation of Improvement Club at a cost of $12.50 for annual dues.

A Candidate Shows Up For Bel Marin District

Roger A. Hicks of 40 Montego Key, Ignacio, announced last night he plans to be a candidate for director of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District, but he's in the dark as to how to go about it.

Jack H. West, his wife, Leona West, and son Jack H. West Jr., developers of Bel Marin Keys, have been directors since the district was formed in 1961.

Hicks, outgoing secretary of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Assn., said he wrote the directors asking the date of the next district election, the date of the last election, the date nominations are open, and the time and date of the next CSD meeting.

"I haven't heard a thing," Hicks said last night at a meeting of the association.

Hicks urged other residents to consider running for CSD directors, pointing out that the district has more authority than a homeowners association, and can undertake such projects as recreational facilities and street lighting.

Hicks also said he wants to know when, where, how and why community services district funds have been spent.

During the last fiscal year the tax rate was nine cents per $100 assessed valuation. It was boosted to 67 cents this fiscal year.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the district, reported Tuesday that the election has been set for April 12, when Mrs. West's term will expire. "I doubt if she will run again and I believe the other directors will resign," Jordan said.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said filing for an April 12 election would open today. However, the board could vote to consolidate the district election with the June 7 primary, he said.

Policeman Faces Robbery Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal grand jury charged an Oakland policeman yesterday with attempting to rob a branch of the Bank of America.

Arnold Bray, 25, a plainclothes officer, also was charged with endangering the life of teller Suki Bullock by using a loaded .22-caliber derringer in the Jan. 20 holdup attempt.

The indictment came after police said Bray changed a $20 bill at Mrs. Bullock's counter, pulled the pistol and then demanded more money. He left without getting it when Mrs. Bullock declared she was short of funds.

Hot And Cold

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U. S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 34 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn. The highest reported yesterday was 80 degrees at Homestead and Coral Gables, Fla.

Civic Council To Send Annexation Observer

Members of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs agreed last night to send an observer to the meeting of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission next Thursday when annexation of 54 acres to San Rafael will be discussed.

The property is at the southwest corner of Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road, and is within the Terra Linda Community Services District and Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District.

Chairman Naphtali H. Knox of the civic affairs council, said the districts are worried over loss of assessed value, but there appeared to be little that could be done to prevent annexation to the city when owners of the land wish it.

The council does not take stands on local issues, Knox said, but members agreed to observe the hearing, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Civic Center.

Council members last night also agreed that taxes and the county budget should be topics for discussion at the annual meeting on Feb. 23.

Month's Living Cost Rise Largest Since Korean War

WASHINGTON (AP)— Living costs jumped four-tenths of 1 per cent ast month, the largest December rise since the Korean War year of 1950.

The new figures made 1965 the fastest paced, in terms of the annual increase, in seven years.

Commissioner Arthur Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the kind of inflationary pressures that built up during the Korean War are not expected in 1966 unless the Viet Nam fighting is sharply escalated.

"Nevertheless, we should not minimize the dangers of price inflation nor the precautions which will be necessary to avoid it," he said.

Higher food costs were mainly responsible for the increase in the bureau's consumer price index to 111.0.

This means it took $11.10 to purchase typical consumer items such as food, clothing, housing, transportation and medical care that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

Headache Interrupts Triangle Killing Trial

MIAMI (UPI) —Candace (Candy) Mossler was led out of the courtroom where she is being tried for murder today, suffering nausea and a migraine headache like the one she had the night her millionaire husband was slain.

Candace and her handsome nephew and alleged lover Melvin Lane Powers, are on trial for the June 30, 1964 murder of Jacques Mossler. Mossler was slain in the middle of the night while, according to testimony at previous hearing, Mrs. Mossler and her children were out mailing letters and going to a hospital to get treatment for one of Candy's migraine headaches.

ICE CREAM TIME — The weather makes no difference to a youngster when he has a chance for an ice cream cone. Just because it was 13 degrees at Madison, Wis., didn't mean Greg Thompson, 6, would forego the treat—besides it doesn't melt as fast in winter. (UPI Telephoto)

Marin City Youths Face Burglary Charge

Two Marin City juveniles, one 15 and one 16, were booked at juvenile hall yesterday on burglary charges after they reportedly were found tampering with a coin box in the self service laundry of an apartment house at 5 Rodeo Avenue.

A resident of the area called Sausalito police at 12:03 p.m. saying she noticed the youths loitering around the apartment. Officers found extensive damage to the coin box, where efforts had been made to pull it from the wall. The coin box had not been opened.

Newly Named Commissioner Is Fire Board Secretary

Henry V. Alvernaz, appointed to the three-man Novato Fire District Board last week by Marin County supervisors, last night was named secretary of the board at its meeting in Fire Station 1 on Grant Avenue.

He fills the vacancy created by resignation of Robert E. Campbell, who quit to go to work for the district as a fireman Jan. 12.

Fire Chief George Cavallero reported the county counsel had advised him that the district cannot consolidate its April 19 election with that of the City of Novato on April 12.

He also reported that filings for the position on the board now held by Peter J. Ferrarese, chairman, would open on Feb. 3 and close at noon on Feb. 24. Ferrarese will seek re-election.

The board authorized purchase of a $93 tape recorder to record the meetings.

Tree Uprooted

Mrs. Louise Burnham reported to Mill Valley police yesterday afternoon that someone pulled a "very valuable" maple tree out by the roots at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club, apparently Friday night, and that people are dumping debris, including beer cans and liquor bottles, on club property. Mrs. Burnham, who lives at 11 Blithedale Terrace, is club president.

Each fall, small land birds of more than 200 species fly southward from the United States and Canada, says the National Geographic Society.

Mayor Brixon Says He'll Be Candidate

NEIL R. BRIXON
Reverses decision

Larkspur Mayor Neil R. Brixon, 44, announced today he will seek election to another term on the city council.

Brixon, who lives at 320 North Almanor in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur, said he changed his mind last night and decided to make the race because:

"I think I might be some help to the city in the transition period when first we will be without a city manager and when we will have a new city manager.

OWN BUSINESS

Brixon, who owns Elite Rug Cleaners in Larkspur, was appointed to the council in September, 1960. He was elected to a four-year term in 1962.

Brixon said he had decided not to seek re-election before Larkspur City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper announced his resignation, effective Feb. 28. The mayor said the city will be without a manager for at least 60 days during March and April.

"I live and work in Larkspur and have been in and out of the city offices each day, working with the manager," he said. "I feel that now I may be of more help to the city, because of this experience, than ever before."

Brixon said he would like to be in office when the new manager is chosen, then be there to help him work into the job.

LISTS TASKS

Brixon also listed these other tasks he said will be important for the city council in the coming term:

1. To continue to work for acquisition of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way to replace Magnolia Avenue as the major north-south route through town.
2. To put into effect the boundary adjustment agreement reached this week between Larkspur and Corte Madera and explain it to the people first hand.
3. To move sensibly and systematically toward added fire protection in the Greenbrae section of the city.
4. To get approval and participation of property owners on industrial land east of the highway in a drainage system for that area.
5. To implement some major construction work on city streets.

Silverthorne Denies Keeping Banking Fees

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former banker Don Silverthorne, accused of pocketing $270,000 in loan fees, has testified that he in fact received at least $750,000 in loan fees.

But these loan fees, he said yesterday, although deposited in his personal bank account, a went for the good of the bank.

He estimated that he paid more than $262,000 to money brokers for new deposits in the bank, and put another $182,000 directy into the bank's earning account.

The rest went for employe gifts and "pubic relations," including $500 that Silverthorne claimed he gave San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley for liquor. The mayor, however, denied that he ever received the $500, which Silverthorne called a "political contribution."

Asked if he ever kept any money for himself, Silverthorne said "no."

Asked if he ever intended to defraud the bank, he asked "Why would I defraud my own bank? I was only interested in building it up."

The banker made general denials of wrongdoing to each of the 14 counts against him in the indictment, but was hazy about specific details of some of the transactions.

He said that the closing of the bank had cost him "everything I had."

Silverthorne and William S. Bennett are being tried before a federal jury of seven women and five men.

Official Takes Responsibility For Book Action

The recommendation to drop Jack Kerouac's novel "On the Road" from an honors English class at Terra Linda High School was made by Asst. Supt. Mitchell L. Voydat, not the five-member committee which reviewed the book.

Voydat said his recommendation was "decidedly influenced by the committee," but was his own.

After complaints were filed by parents against the book, a committee consisting of Voydat and four other staff members reviewed it. However, there was "no attempt" at reaching a consensus of the committee, Voydat said.

At a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education Tuesday, Voydat said, "I do not find sufficient literary and human values to counterbalance the objectionable qualities" of the novel.

The Independent-Journal yesterday erroneously attributed this to Voydat's report of the committee review.

Senators Belabored On Labor Filibuster

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate was chided today for wasting time on "right to work" repeal legislation while solutions to labor problems such as New York's crippling transit strike are allowed to languish in committee.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., complained about the situation in a prepared speech. He said, "Congress is made to look ridiculous" when such a bill gets attention and more important labor - management problems "go unnoticed."

The "right to work" repealer, a top-priority measure for organized labor, is now mired in a filibuster aimed at blocking its consideration by the Senate.

President Johnson has given his backing to the proposal, which would remove section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act. The section gives states authority to ban labor contracts providing for compulsory union membership. Nineteen states have done so.

The House passed the bill last year, but Senate opponents under the leadership of GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen blocked it. Dirksen is leading the anti-repeal forces again this year.

Water Board Told Of Tam Rail Foes

William R. Seeger, Marin Municipal Water District general manager, told the district board yesterday that letters received by the district have been 19 to 3 against the proposed railroad and restaurant on Mount Tamalpais.

Seeger said railroad promoter Frank Allen of San Anselmo had said he would appear at yesterday's meeting to make a formal request that district directors set a date for a public hearing on the railroad proposal.

Allen did not appear. Board president William A. Marcus suggested that perhaps the board "should assume that the gentlemen have given up on their plan." Directors decided not to set a public hearing, "at least at this time."

Asked later if his group has abandoned plans for the railroad, Chester F. Gilbert of Kent Woodlands, Allen's partner, said: "Absolutely not. As for the letters, I personally have received mail running 19-1 in favor of the railroad. We certainly intend to ask for a public hearing, but we're not ready yet."

One letter in opposition to the revival of the railroad was from the board of directors of the Marin Conservation League, Seeger said.

The letter said that on Jan. 17, league directors voted unanimously that a railroad and restaurant on the mountain were "incompatible with the pre-eminent values of Mount Tamalpais as a natural area. It asked that the project not be approved "under any conditions."

The water board denied a request of San Anselmo School District that it not be charged $700 in water storage fees for service to Red Hill School, which will open in September.

School trustee Robert W. Corlett argued there will be no additional drain on the water system as pupils at the new school will be transferring out of Isabel Cook School so there will be a drop in water use there.

The water board offered to study water use when the new school opens and refund the money if school district predictions are correct.

The Marin Municipal Water Dist. Board Also:

1. Accepted construction of the district's new Corte Madera yard as complete and agreed to purchase furniture and hire a custodial service for the offices there. The district will move into the new yard the weekend of Feb. 12, Seeger said.
2. Agreed to purchase 19,000 square feet of property for the Alto water tank site from Mannel Gomez of Mill Valley for $7,500.
3. Heard from Seeger that the district is inaugurating a beautification program by landscaping areas around its water tanks and pumping stations.
4. Agreed to call for bids on three pickup trucks and a car and on roofing of the Ross reservoir.
5. Agreed to a contract with the A. J. Bresnan Co. for foundation pads for four new water tanks.
6. Agreed to apply to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for natural gas service at the district water treatment plant in the San Geronimo Valley.
7. Agreed to send Seeger to a seminar on federal legislation with the American Water Works Assn. in Washington in March.
8. Agreed to pay $12 for each employee Seeger names to take a management training course through the mail.
9. Agreed to purchase service saddles from Smith-Blair Inc. for $1,248, and tapping sleeves from Rich Manufacturing Co. for $2,850.70.

Boy Cut When Bike Hits Pickup Truck

Six-year-old Alec M. Giddings of Resaca Way, Forest Knolls, was cut on the left leg when the bicycle he was riding hit the side of a pickup truck at Montezuma and Juarez avenues, Forest Knolls, at 4:25 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said the truck was driven by Robert F. Shaw, 38, of Montezuma Avenue, Forest Knolls. The Giddings boy was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Narcotics Agent Slaps At Lynch

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The director of the Federal Narcotics Bureau in California says Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch was unfair in stating that the bureau is not doing its share to curb mounting dope traffic in the state.

Agent Fred Dick contends that state narcotics officers have hindered federal authorities in not turning over information on narcotics sources in Mexico.

"As it was, federal agents turned over for Mexican prosecution last year 22 cases involving 48 defendants and 986 grams of heroin," Dick said Wednesday. "These were not pushers. These were prime suppliers."

Football Shoulders Make Big Yoke In Parisian Showings

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — The football influence took over the Paris spring fashion parade today.

Shoulders worthy of any halfback jutted out 2½ inches on either side of the willowy mannequins showing the latest styles of designer J. F. Crahay at the house of Jeanne Lanvin.

The House of Dior tried football shoulders three seasons ago but they died on the vine: Women just didn't buy them.

Today, Crahay decided to try to depose the narrow silhouette that has been in power for years by adding wide shoulders, not through padding but via a "horseshoe" cut, to his clothes.

The shoulders appeared even wider through the use of yokes of different colors or beading that extended across half of that squared-off shoulder.

A BLACK MINK coat for summer (well, it can be pretty chilly in Paris in July) had a white canvas yoke from the bustline up, extending nearly to the end of the shoulder.

A white linen suit had a dark green yoke inset across the top, while the edge of the shoulder and the arm remained white. Even his sheath sleeveless daytime dresses in black linen or print had a square of fabric on the shoulder for the wide effect.

WHITE NUBBY silk afternoon dresses with long sleeves had the football shoulders. So did coats, with the sleeves and shoulder sometimes stitched vertically or even divided, half one color and half another.

Evening capes looked like "sentry capes" with that broad shoulder, especially one in white mohair with rows of wool fringe and silver spangles.

Some of Lanvin's wealthy private clients at the showing appeared to like Crahay's football shoulders. But whether store buyers will whisk them up for the mass market remains to be seen.

The growing suspicion that faces are going out of style gained impetus with the collection shown at the House of Jeanne Lanvin.

AT LANVIN'S, the broad-shouldered misses tied chiffon hoods under their chins, hoods that fitted close to the noses, with sunglasses over them. Wide-brimmed hats dipped down over the forehead.

On the other hand, what remained to be seen of the face was sometimes eulogized by crisp white halos that framed them.

Brawny broad shoulders were emphasized and re-emphasized in suits built square and padded there, and even sleeveless dresses.

HIDDEN BEAUTY

Designer Jules Crahay of the Paris house of Jeanne Lanvin hid the model's face behind a hood fitted close to the nose and topped by sun glasses and clothed her in a broad shouldered, brawny appearing two-piece dress topped by a tie scarf at the spring showing in Paris yesterday. The dress is white with a contrasting black yoke. (AP Wirephoto sketch)

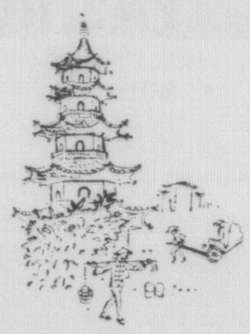
Marin Mardi Gras Candidate Plans Movie Matinee Benefit

By MOLLY MARIN

Now that Mardi Gras Queen candidate Mrs. Stevens Manning of Belvedere has things all set she announces that the benefit for her candidacy will take the form of a movie matinee for children at the Tiburon Playhouse on Feb. 5, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The film will be the David O. Selznick color production of "Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Appropriately enough Isabelle Manning, the mother of five children, has had all the posters done by her son's kindergarten class. Others assisting the candidate with her campaign, which aids the Children's Hospital of San Francisco, are Mrs. Sheila Ashley of Mill Valley and Mrs. Charles Lansill of Ross.



DR. AND MRS. John Flint and family of Belvedere will be at Heavenly Valley for a weekend of skiing.

MRS. IRVIN C. TIPTON of San Rafael returned recently from a three months' tour around the world which she traveled by air but describes her additional methods of transportation. "I rode an elephant up the hill to the Amber Palace in India, a camel to the pyramids and Sphinx of Giza, a horse-drawn buggy from Luxor to Karnak, the great temple of Anoun, Egypt, and horseback to the ancient city of Petra in Jordan." Boat trips included a canoe on the rapids in a gorge in the Philippines, sampans and motor launch in Hong Kong, boat rides on the Klongs in Bangkok, a sunrise trip on the River Ganges and also the River Nile. She noted also

No Bubbles A Quality In Diamonds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clarity in a diamond refers to the absence of carbon spots, bubbles or other natural imperfections, according to gem experts.

Only diamonds that show no "bubbles" to an expert using a glass that magnifies 10 times can be rated flawless. Most imperfections are so small that the naked eye cannot see them. The beauty of a diamond may not be affected, but the price of the gem is lowered by the imperfection.

Feeding Wildlife Unusual Hobby Of New Golf Captain

Mrs. Herbert Prodger, a member of the Women's Golf Assn. of the Marin Country Club Estates, has been elected captain of the Nineholer Women's Golf Club at the Marin Country Club.

The Nineholers are new golfers who must graduate from the club before they are eligible for the 18 hole group.

Mrs. Prodger and her husband, a furniture salesman in San Rafael, were the first residents at the Marin Country Club Estates. They are charter members of the Marin Country Club and are now honorary members.

Ann Prodger has a most unusual hobby—feeding the wild animals and birds that come to her door. A family of three raccoons stops by each evening after dark for their daily handout, and if Ann has forgotten to put out feed the precocious animals knock at her door. Six cats also come for their twice a day feeding and hundreds of quail pay an early morning call. Mrs. Prodger buys bird seed by the 100 pound sack and cat food by the case.

Ann was graduated from Lowell High School in San Francisco and was graduated from Gallagher-March Business College.

The new captain has been a bookkeeper for many years and teaches operation all types of business accounting machines.

Mrs. Prodger is a past secretary of Laurel Heights Home Owners Assn. in San Francisco and has served as secretary of the Marin Homeowners Assn.

The Prodgers have two sons, Herbert Prodger Jr. of Belmont and David Prodger Tilles of Millbrae.

Serving with Mrs. Prodger during the year will be Mrs. Charles Hancock, as assistant captain, who was captain of the Nineholers last year and Mrs. Armand Cueva, publicity.

Knee-Baring Skirts Remain On Italian Fashion Scene

ROME (UPI) —Italian high fashion shows ended here Saturday with the message that knee-baring skirts are here to stay—at least for the spring-summer season.

A trio of newer houses, di Lazzaro, Brugnoli and Barons, brought the curtain down on nine days of Italian fashion showings for international buyers and press.

The shows have confirmed that the short skirt is a fixture on the local fashion scene. Italian designers—with rare past shown the enthusiasm for the hoisted hemline demonstrated by their Paris or London colleagues.

But this season skirts were cut to uncover the knee and, in some cases, part of the thigh, even by some of the more traditional Roman houses.

The rest of the fashion picture here was made up of checks, colors, and a fundamentally geometric line.

Whimsical Jewelry

The Jewelry Industry Council reports that in costume and fine jewelry, popular designs for spring and summer include whimsical birds, animal motifs and flower pins. In costume, there is new emphasis on coral, no longer coral in color, but white.

Their Parents Should Provide Tots A Variety OF Experience

By DAVID NYDICK

What is the five to seven-year-old like?

The characteristics, needs and interests of children change with their age. Although each of these varies with the individual, there are some needs which are typical of children in a particular age range.

Children do develop at different rates. Parents should always remember this so that they do not become upset and place undesirable pressure upon their children. Comparisons with other children are always made. This is dangerous if the parents expect all children of the same age to be at the same level of ability and achievement.

WHAT ARE SOME of the typical needs of children in the kindergarten through second-grade years? They generally need 10-12 hours of sleep. They usually resist taking a bath. They grow 2-3 inches and gain 3-6 pounds each year. They like large servings of food but usually can't finish everything.

They are especially active in the area of running, jumping, climbing and other major physical movements. Speed, control and accuracy improve rapidly. Girls like to play house and boys like rough games.

Children of this age group are actually frightened of imaginary creatures such as witches and dragons. They don't like being alone. Girls seem to show more fear than boys.

BOYS TEND TO QUARREL and use more physical force than girls. They all seem to have poor table manners. There is an attempt to show independence by using bad language and being untidy.

There is a great deal of interest in being "one of the gang." There is a need for gaining prestige and for opportunity to make contributions to the group.

PARENTS SHOULD provide children of this age range with many experiences. The children learn by doing. They like to take things apart and put them together again. Although they can pay attention to some activities for increasing periods of time, they will need activities which are generally short-lived.

There is much value in play acting. Humiliation and shame should be carefully avoided. There is a need to develop respect for things which belong to others. The child should not be constantly nagged. He needs to feel somewhat independent.

ALL CHILDREN need love and affection. Parents sometimes hesitate to show affection with this age group because the child seems to have become so independent. Remember that this is only a way of declaring his freedom. He is still a young child and needs much love and attention from adults.

In working with their children, parents should be relaxed. Tense parents cause tense children. Act naturally. Use common sense. Don't be so dedicated to all the advice which you read that you are afraid to act.

CHILDREN AND PARENTS have a natural understanding of each other. If parents can avoid structuring every minute of the child's present and future life, they will have a much more relaxed and pleasant relationship with the child.

Just like every child doesn't start walking on his first birthday, every child won't start reading on his sixth birthday.

Polish Low-Gloss

Low-gloss finishes should be polished with low-luster polish or cleaning wax that will clean the surface and protect the finish without increasing the luster. If it is desired to raise the luster of such finishes, use a paste wax. If wax is used, apply sparingly between two layers of cloth so that only a thin layer comes through to coat surface. Wax a small area at a time, buffing immediately with a soft cloth until wax is hard and dry. Under-buffed wax collects dust.

MAESTRO AND MARINITES — A matter of great pride to maestro Josef Krips, musical director and conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, (center) is the high caliber of his orchestra principals. Among them are Rolf Persinger of Tiburon (left), principal of the viola section, and Charles Meacham of Mill Valley, principal of the second violin section.

Josef Krips Lauds Marin Artists Among San Francisco Symphony

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin concertgoers may look forward to hearing some of the top musicians in the country when the College of Marin brings Josef Krips and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra to the county on Feb. 5.

The concert will be at 8:30 p.m. in the college gymnasium, with a program consisting of Beethoven's Symphony No. 7, Richard Strauss' symphonic poem "Don Juan," and Robert Schumann's Symphony No. 1.

In an interview last week, the maestro, renowned as the last representative of the great Vienna school of conductors, spoke of his musicians, his plans for the orchestra and its community relationships involving the entire Bay Area.

A matter of great pride to him is having some players, who, he says, rank as the best in their field, some of whom are Marin residents.

"Rolf Persinger," he said, "is the top violinist in this country, and Ronald Bishop is the best tuba player. Others of our leading players who are among the best are Charles Meacham, second violin principal; Donald Reinberg, trumpet principal, and Philip Fath, clarinet principal."

(Persinger lives in Tiburon; Bishop in Corte Madera; and Meacham, Reinberg and Fath in Mill Valley.)

Jacob Krachmalnick, concertmaster, who formerly lived in Marin, he considers one of the outstanding violinists in the world.

Besides these principals, Marin has 14 other members of the orchestra, most of whom live in Mill Valley. These are violinists Linda Ashworth and Michael Gerling; violinists David Smiley and Lucien Mitchell; cellist Jean Maguire; tympanist Roland Kohloff, and trumpeter Chris Bogios.

Other Marinites are violinists Ezequiel Amador of Sausalito; cellist Eugene Winkler and French horn player Jeremy Merrill of Larkspur; and flautist Merrill Jordan and bassoonist Raymond Ojeda, Kentfield.

Krips went on to discuss "orchestra sound," and particularly what he is striving for with the San Francisco Symphony.

"The conductor makes the sound," he declared. "A particular orchestra has no general 'sound'—it has a different sound under each director.

"What I want is to have my players produce as many overtones and harmonics as possible, because the beauty of sound is the sum of produced harmonics. Every instrumentalist must have the feeling that he is singing his part. Mere mechanical perfection is not good enough. It is necessary to sing or breathe the music into the instrument."

The San Francisco orchestra, he believes, is rapidly approaching his ideal, and he foresees the time soon when it will be one of the best.

The kind of sound he described has a great deal to do with romantic music. Asked if he believes, as many do, that there is a revival of interest in the romantic music of the 19th Century, he agreed that there is.

"In a sense, all great music is romantic," he stressed. "The backbone of programs will always be classic and romantic. Bach, Beethoven, Mozart and Brahms—all were romantic."

This does not mean he is cold to contemporary composers, for he pointed out that he has been trying to do one new work a week, and he is known for his mastery of works of Hindemith, Bartok and Stravinsky.

"I just will not do the avant garde at present," he said vehemently. "I am sure there will come one day a genius of this kind, and this genius I will perform."

The maestro is also proud of the number of Bay Area artists he has been able to use as guest soloists — including this year musicians such as concert pianist Istvan Nadas, formerly of Mill Valley, and soprano Carole Bogard, who is well known in the county for her appearances with the Bach to Mozart chamber players.

In the last 10 years, he noted, 33 local artists, not counting orchestra musicians, have appeared on the subscription series of the San Francisco Symphony.

Keenly aware of the importance of reciprocal relationships between the San Francisco orchestra and music organizations in the surrounding counties, Krips discussed some of them.

Asked for his opinion of community orchestras (such as the Marin Symphony Orchestra conducted by Sandor Salgo, he said: "Thank God there are community orchestras. They educate the public about the need for and value of great music, and then they will come to our concerts. The more good music they hear, the more they will want to hear both from our orchestra and their own groups.

"This is especially important for young people. A boy who can appreciate a Schubert symphony will never become a delinquent.

"Instead of a government giving two or three hundred thousand dollars to make up a deficit or just giving it to the arts for no particular purpose, I would like to see such an amount invested in making sure every child 15 years of age and older gets to hear at least the nine Beethoven symphonies, the four of Brahms, and some good modern works."

Eventually Krips hopes to schedule six concerts each season in Marin.

White House Opens Year's Social Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — An early - departing President, a vice - presidential slip of the tongue and a borrowed chef were all part of the launching of the 1966 White House social season.

Here's how it went as the President and Mrs. Johnson entertained 180 tuxedoed and elegantly gowned guests last night to honor Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chief Justice Earl Warren:

Johnson retired to his private quarters almost immediately following after-dinner entertainment by Broadway luminary Tammy Grimes, who belted out a half dozen show tunes that drew some attention away from her clinging gold lame gown. Johnson went to his living quarters with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Humphrey, responding to a toast in which the President described him and Warren as representing "the finest traditions of public service and of private integrity," got his titles mixed up and addressed Johnson as "Mr. Vice President."

The Johnsons, whose new chef reports for duty Feb. 1, borrowed William H. Dallas from the staff of neighboring Blair House to prepare the meal which, perhaps by design, lacked any of the French touches favored by the old chef, Rene Verdon, who quit with a blast at White House menus.

Johnson's early departure never was explained. Mrs. Johnson, gowned in sunshine yellow silk, mingled and danced with the guests for about another hour before retiring shortly after midnight.

Humphrey and his wife Muriel stayed until the departure of the First Lady.

Humphrey's slip of the tongue during the toasts was received impassively by the President. Humphrey apparently erred because he had just been talking at some length about vice presidents, which seemed natural enough for a man in his position.

Soul Music

Mill Valley Youth Council members will have a dance tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the community and youth center to music of a Mill Valley band, Soul by Four.

Community Orchestra Sets Concert

The College of Marin Community Orchestra, directed by John H. Myers, will present its winter concert on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the college's gymnasium. Admission is free.

Marilyn Covell, guest artist, will perform Haydn's D Major Piano Concerto with the orchestra. She is a graduate of the Music and Arts Institute of San Francisco, and has studied at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. Marilyn has also been a student of Adolph Baller.

The 60-piece orchestra will perform a varied program of works from the orchestral repertoire. The program will open with Eugene Ormandy's arrangement of Handel's Concerto for Orchestra in D Major. An unusual item will be Norman Dello Joio's transcription for orchestra of 3 songs by Chopin. These are from a set of "17 Polish Songs" for voice and piano, and are virtually unknown compositions of Chopin.

Contemporary composition will be represented by "Epilogue," a short work by Ernst Toch, renowned 20th Century composer. The concert will close with the "L'Arlesienne Suite No. II" by Georges Bizet. The famous flute and harp passages in the minuet movement will be played by Dollie Eger and Melony Rogers. The Bizet work, written in 1872, is one of the earliest orchestral compositions to employ the saxophone, and this important part will be played by Susan Ernst.

Parks, Information Not To Be In Budget

RICHMOND (AP) — Gov. Brown says he will request that $55 million be set aside for new park projects and $570,000 for an information network in his 1966-67 budget.

The governor declared that last night in remarks prepared for a dinner given in his honor at Richmond, but he did not elaborate verbally as much as he did in his prepared text. His actual remarks were mainly jovial comments to dinner guests.

Park money, he said in his text would come from a $150 million bond program approved by voters in 1964.

Included in the program for 1966-67 would be 25 state park acquisitions and 39 local grants. The governor said he considers the park program by far the most important in state plans to conserve resources and natural beauty.

The first allocation for an information net, he continued, would "create the skeleton structure of what one day will be a statewide information network."

Such a net, he added, would "tie into local data systems to provide local governments with information for planning, criminal data, and to introduce new efficiencies in welfare administration."

College Orchestra, Band Set Auditions

Auditions for the College of Marin Community Band and Community Orchestra will be held on Feb. 5 from 9 a.m. to noon in the Butler Building, adjacent to the college football field in Kentfield.

The band and orchestra begin their spring semester rehearsals the week of Feb. 7. The orchestra rehearses on Monday evenings and the band on Wednesday evenings. They are directed by John H. Myers, head of the music department.

Millions Regained For Underpaid Labor

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A state agency recovered a record $4.5 million last year for employes of private firms who claimed they had not been fully paid for their services.

In a year-end report, the Division of Labor Law Enforcement of the California Department of Industrial Relations said it handled 67,670 claims, including 50,000 for unpaid wages. The agency also initiated 1,583 prosecutions for criminal violations of labor laws.

Birth Defects Rank High As Destroyer

(The following article was supplied by the Marin Chapter of the National Foundation, March of Dimes.)

By GABRIEL STICKLE, M.A.
Medical Statistician, the National Foundation

Contrary to popular belief, birth defects are our nation's second greatest destroyer of human life.

Recent studies indicate that at least 500,000 miscarriages, stillbirths and spontaneous abortions are caused by defects in the embryo or fetus before birth. To this must be added the more than 60,000 deaths caused every year by birth defects among infants, children and adults. Thus the annual toll mounts to 560,000.

This means that birth defects are responsible for the loss of more lives than some of the so-called "major killers," such as cancer and stroke. It also means that birth defects are second only to heart disease as a cause of death in this country.

To express this appalling toll in another way, it may be said that birth defects take nearly twice as many lives as cancer, 2.8 times as many lives as stroke, and 74,000 more lives than cancer and stroke combined.

The annual national death toll from heart disease is approximately 708,000. Cancer of all kinds takes 285,000 lives a year, and strokes account for 201,000 deaths.

What is even more important than their being "major killers" is that birth defects claim their victims primarily before birth or in the early years of life. In contrast to these losses early in life, disorders such as heart disease, cancer or stroke are predominantly causes of death among much older individuals.

This disparity brings us inevitably to consider a meaurement known as "life years." This refers to the future years of life as a result of death from a specific cause - that is, how many additional years the victims of a certain disease could have been expected to live had they not died from that illness. "Life years" are calculated from official records of the sex and specific ages of persons who die from given causes and of the life expectancy of all males and females at these ages.

GABRIEL STICKLE

After the number of these "life years" has been computed, statisticians can estimate the future income lost as a result of deaths from each cause. Here we use the results of surveys of consumer income conducted by the Bureau of the Census, covering expected income by both sex and age group.

The summation of all these values indicates that the 560,000 deaths caused by birth defects are responsible for the loss each year of an estimated 37.4 million "life years" and an estimated $79.7 billion in future lifetime earnings.

These totals are nearly twice as large as the corresponding losses due to the so-called "major killers" - heart disease, cancer, stroke and accidents - all lumped together.

New Radar Spies Out Deadly Peril To Jets

By GENE BYLINSKY
Advance News Writer

WASHINGTON—Clear air turbulence—or CAT—an invisible menace to jetliners—apparently can be detected by laser radar.

The research advance holds some promise of developing into an instrument that would enable pilots to steer around the hazard.

Clear air turbulence is caused by the collision of large air masses. It can rip apart airplanes or abruptly plunge them thousands of feet through the air, injuring passengers and crew. Pilots generally have very little warning.

The phenomenon can occur at low altitudes above hilly countryside, over mountains, and near jet streams—the swift "rivers" of air which flow high in the atmosphere.

Some encounters with CAT by jets and propeller-driven planes have been as brief as five seconds, but still resulted in injuries. Turbulence is a more serious hazard to jet planes because of their speed.

The possible effects on the proposed faster-than-a-bullet supersonic transport are still a matter of guesswork. But it could be the same as a bullet hitting a wall—with similar damaging results to the superplane, some experts believe.

Conventional radar can't locate the stealthy CAT. Weathermen have tried to predict its presence by measuring upper air temperatures, but without much success.

Now, the first tangible evidence that CAT can be detected is being reported by University of Michigan researchers.

The researchers equipped a small twin-engine plane with optical, or laser radar, and flew hundreds of CAT-tracking missions in the midwest. The laser radar generates brief pulses of light, which bounced off the aerosols, or tiny particles of matter present in CAT areas, much as conventional radar beams are bounced off solid objects.

The researchers caution that there's probably only a 50 per cent chance of detecting CAT with laser pulses. More research is needed before a workable CAT detector emerges.

They are now designing a laser radar which would provide a two-dimensional map of turbulent air areas to help differentiate them from quiet pickets of air, which also reflect laser pulses.

The University of Michigan work is an outgrowth of pioneering research by Stanford Research Institute scientists who demonstrated a few years ago that distinct signals can occasionally be reflected from a normally clear atmosphere.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, in a recent study of accidents caused by in-flight turbulence, found that passengers who are injured usually failed to fasten seat belts despite instructions by the pilot. In some cases, the agency has blamed injuries on pilot failure to warn passengers of approaching turbulence.

The most dramatic recent example of what CAT can do involved a passenger jet which plunged 13,000 feet over Texas and lost an engine before pilots regained control. Other planes are believed to have crashed after they ran into CAT.

Marin College Band Given Solo Billing

The College of Marin Community Band will be the only junior college band performing Feb. 12 at the western division convention of the College Band Directors National Assn.

The band will perform the first movement of Jon Sutton's "Symphony for Band," composed especially for the Marin group and performed for the first time by the band last year.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hiatal Hernia Often Undetected Unless Discomfort Is Extreme

VAN DELLEN

The diaphragm is an umbrella-shaped muscle that separates the chest and abdominal cavities. Its weakest spot is the hiatus where it is pierced by certain nerves, blood vessels, and the tube (esophagus) that connects the mouth and stomach. When this aperture relaxes or tears, a part of the stomach protrudes into the chest cavity. When the opening is large, virtually all the intestinal contents slip into the thorax and encroach on the heart and lungs.

THE MOST COMMON hiatal hernia is the sliding type in which a small portion of the upper stomach moves upwards into the chest when the individual is reclining and returns to its normal position when sitting or standing. The latter is more likely to occur when the stomach is full and is drawn downward by gravity. Many of the victims are not bothered by the condition or have symptoms that are so slight nothing need be done. The lesion is detected by chance when X-rays are taken for some other reason.

On the other hand, hiatal hernia may lead to discomfort or a burning sensation over the lower part of the breastbone. The distress may be brought on by eating, especially when the food distends the stomach opening. Gas, belching, heartburn, and other signs of indigestion usually are present, especially after lying down. When pain resembles angina pectoris, heart disease is suspected unless X-rays disclose the real cause.

Eating smaller meals is helpful. Food should be bland and not gas-forming. By remaining in an upright position for at least an hour after the meal, the weight of the food will hold down the stomach and prevent distention of the opening. Antispasmodic and antacid products also are beneficial, especially when the lower part of the esophagus is irritated.

SURGICAL correction of the hernia is done when discomfort persists. There have been many improvements in the procedure and, as a result, it is safer and more likely to be successful.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request).

MUCUS PRODUCTION

A. E. writes: Is the mucus secreted during a cold a protective mechanism?

REPLY

I presume it is. Dryness of the membranes during an infection of the respiratory tract adds to the discomfort of the cold. A cough that brings up mucus is easier and less irritating than dry hacking.

LOW THYROID

Mrs. L. writes: Can a person have a lazy thyroid gland and not know it? I feel all right but tests show this is what I have.

REPLY

Yes: the condition often is detected only on routine examination. Others have mild symptoms such as dry skin and brittle hair and nails.

BROKEN DOWN HERNIA

A. C. writes: Can a hernia that has given way three times be repaired?

REPLY

This question must be answered by a surgeon. Modern surgeons have many tricks up their sleeves, and it is possible that something can be done in this case.

REPLY

No. Like a balloon, it stretches after eating but returns to normal after it empties.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Bad Planning May Be Liable

The county decided that an earthen drainage canal running through one area was inadequate. It built an elaborate flood control system and diverted many canals to drain off storm waters. Completed in 1941, the system worked well for years. During that time, however, many canals became clogged with debris which hindered drainage.

Jones owned land near the canal. Before the new system, water would sometimes flood Jones' land during a storm. But he had suffered no flood damage since then and he therefore invested heavily to develop his land.

In four days during 1964 it rained more than eight inches. The canals could not take away all the water. The unremoved debris added to the trouble. Jones' land was flooded and his crop and home suffered great damage.

Jones successfully sued the county for his loss. He showed that the county should have built a better system to drain off the water. When the county builds a drainage system to prevent flooding, nearby landowners that invest money in reliance on the canals can hold the county responsible if it fails in its assumed duty.

When property is damaged as a result of planned governmental action, the law offers protection. The government drainage project that fails and floods one's land, become "inverse condemnation," as the law calls it. It is a taking of property for which the owner is entitled to payment.

Other inverse condemnation cases are the government's lowering the street, thus destroying your access, closing off one end of your street and greatly restricting your movement, or building a smoky sewage disposal plant whose fumes destroy your plants.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Counterfeiters Looting County

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The county treasurer reports that counterfeiters have passed more than $10,000 in bogus county warrants in the last three weeks.

Harold J. Ostly said yesterday that electronic canceling machines have picked out about 60 of the bad checks. He said most of them were cashed by Los Angeles area merchants—who will have to stand the loss.

Ostly said the phony warrants are perfect lithograph copies of good county checks, and that the paper they were printed on is of better quality than used by the county.

Old Favor Returned

STARKE, Fla. (AP)—A donation he made 43 years ago is coming back to Rev. J. T. Quigley, an 85-year-old retired minister. In 1922, residents of the city provided the money to put street lights on Call Street. These eight-foot lights with globes on top are now being replaced by the city. Rev. Quigley, the only survivor of those who purchased the lamps, is being given six of the street lights for his antique collection as a sentimental gesture of the city council.

Officer Cleared In Killing Case

SALINAS (AP)—After 10 hours of deliberation, a jury yesterday acquitted a suspended California Highway Patrolman of a murder charge.

Found innocent was William Brennan, 33, of Fresno, who had been accused in the killing of Roland Strange, 30, of Salinas, in a hotel parking lot Oct. 16.

James Boccardo, defense attorney from San Jose, contended Strange had attacked Brennan and been killed during a struggle for the patrolman's gun. Brennan was off duty at the time.

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—For the first time in its 34-year-history, the Cambridge University undergraduate newspaper, "Varsity," has named a woman editor.

She is 21-year-old Suzy Menkes, a third-year English student at Cambridge's Newnham College. She took up her post as editor at the start of 1966.

BLIZZARDS CHOKE ATLANTIC COAST

Virginia, Carolinas Hardest Hit; Snow Falls In 14 States; South Texas Freezes

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy snowstorm, termed by the Weather Bureau the biggest in years in the Middle Atlantic region, choked much of the region with wind-piled drifts today.

Virginia and the Carolinas were hard hit, and accumulations ranged up to 15 inches at Roanoke. Richmond was staggered with 14 inches of new snow and Washington, D.C., caught 3 inches during the night to find a 7-inch mantle today.

SHIP ADRIFT

The Coast Guard at Portsmouth, Va., said the SS Sea Train New Jersey, carrying 39 crewmen and a cargo of truck trailers and railroad cars, was drifting in the choppy Atlantic off Cape Hatteras, N.C. The ship was located near the center of the Atlantic seaboard storm. The Coast Guard reported the 483-foot vessel said she was in no immediate danger.

At least two persons died in the third wintry assault on Virginia in less than two weeks — and the first to hit every area of the state.

As the snow began to taper off, state police and the Weather Bureau reported depths ranged to more than 16 inches and some drifts of 3 feet.

State police said chains or snow tires were required for auto travel anywhere in Virginia.

COASTAL GALES

There was some snow over a 14-state area from northern Georgia to southern New Eng-and and the big disturbance brought Weather Bureau warnings of gales and high tides along the coast.

St. Mary's City, Md., on western Chesapeake Bay had 14 inches of snow. In North Carolina, Greensboro had 10 inches of cover.

In Washington, D.C., government offices closed early yesterday and sent employees home.

A half hour's light snow fell in Fort Walton Beach, Fla., the first such precipitation in 10 years. There was no accumulation, however, in the northwestern Florida city, and it was 66 degrees in the southern part of the state where Key West had warm rain.

In Georgia, where snows ended and skies were clearing, temperatures dropped into the 20s during the early morning. The state had snow cover ranging from about one inch in Atlanta to a foot at Hogpen Gap in the northeast mountain area.

Bowie race track in southern Maryland canceled Wednesday's program because of snow, and in eastern Tennessee, where temperatures were in the teens, schools remained closed in about 30 counties.

The Midwest was cold, with some readings lower than -20 in the Dakotas and Minnesota, and the Great Lakes section braced for a new frigid air surge.

Temperatures sank below freezing in the semitropical Lower Rio Grande Valley, forcing citrus growers to light orchard heaters and burn blocks of solid fuel. The mercury dived to unofficial readings of 29 degrees around Harlingen and Edinburg, Tex.

A storm in the Far West pressed across California and rains were expected to spread over the Southwest during the day.

Deputy Apprehends Runaway Youth

A 17-year-old runaway from Family Rehabilitation Center in Lucas Valley, was apprehended yesterday by a sheriff's deputy on Highway 101 near Rafael Meadows.

Deputy James L. Current saw the fugitive, missing since 11 p.m. Tuesday, at about 1:30 a.m. He said the youth, returned to the center, had a metal throwing knife and heavy-link dog collar chain in his possession when arrested. He told officers he was heading for San Francisco.

Circulation's critically healthy!

Since September, almost 4,000 new I-J subscribers—and still coming

Diagnosis by number

Red-blooded rush of I-J circulation shows newspaper has exceptional vitality and reader interest. Now more than 41,000 Marin County families—daily net paid circulation. Amazing!

Seldom ever see a case like this: I-J circulation growing FASTER than population. Must have a lot of editorial protein! Obvious when the I-J flexes its local news that this is something few newspapers can match—anywhere! Equally obvious that's what Marin families want—41,000 of them!

What a circulatory system—covers the entire county! What that 41,000 can do for an advertiser . . . families who buy the I-J to read and who read to buy. Highest-income families, too, in Marin County.

Growing circulation like this keeps lowering the cost per thousand circulation for all I-J advertisers. More readers, more response. Good health is highly infectious!

Diagnosis by quality

I-J circulation has the numbers . . . but it also has something which no other newspaper in Marin County may claim: AUDITED, PAID CIRCULATION. For only the I-J in Marin takes a "physical" from the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Only the I-J can present an advertiser with certified FACTS about circulation.

ABC is the doctor, both for the I-J and for YOU, the advertiser. ABC accepts and audits only PAID circulation—no other. What a protection for you! You know exactly what you're paying for . . . not throw-a-way circulation but every copy of the I-J PAID FOR by people who pay to read!

Quality like this should concern you. It guarantees readership of your sales message. It means our editors are putting out a newspaper WORTH reading and worth the money. It gives your store entree to the families who read most, buy most in Marin County. You get the numbers, you get the quality . . . ABC audited circulation of Marin's Best-seller.

AND NOW

a little understatement

I-J daily circulation is now more than 41,000. However, as an even more conservative base, we present a 3 months' average paid circulation figure as reported to ABC:

Airport Linked To Industry, Marin Taxes

It will take the successful development of airport facilities attractive to private industry to shoot down the high flying Marin tax rate, according to County Supervisor William A. Gnoss.

Speaking on radio station KTIM's discussion program, "Marin Sounding Board," Gnoss today defended a proposed $382,123 program of improvement for the present Marin County Airport at Novato.

TAX DROP

"My interest in the development of airport facilities," Gnoss said, "is to bring down our taxes by bringing in new industry." Gnoss claimed the McGraw-Hill Book Co. decided to build its new distribution center near the Novato airport site because airshipping facilities to and from the center are essential.

"I know of at least one other industry which is waiting to decide on locating in Marin to see what happens with our airport plans," he said. "I travel around and see airports everywhere and I begin to wonder why we've been so lax in developing our own."

Appearing with Gnoss on the program, conducted by Kitty Oppenheimer, were Arthur T. Knutson, assistant director of the county public works department, and Joseph W. Wright and Richard Nave of the county airport commission. The program will be rebroadcast from a recording Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

INDUSTRY DRAW

Asked by a radio listener how much industry the expanded airport facilities would draw, Nave answered:

"We can't say how much industry we'll get from it, but if we spend only $250,000 to get, with federal aid, a $600,000 airport, we're taking a good risk. The flowers which will decorate the new Hall of Justice will cost $250,000 and that won't bring any industry at all."

Several listeners who telephoned comments charged that plans for the airport expansion were being promoted by a "minority" of pleasure flyers, whothey said, would be the only ones to gain from the work.

"When I first heard about this project I thought only a small group stood to benefit from it, but I've since seen enough statistics and other information to convince me of the great potential of such an airport," said Wright.

The county board of supervisors will discuss the airport comission's recommendation in favor of the proposed expansion on Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Dixie District Asks 90-Cent Tax Increase

Trustees of Dixie School District last night agreed to ask for a 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation increase in the maximum general purpose operating tax rate.

Voters in the district will decide April 19 if the increase should be allowed.

The total tax rate in Dixie, with over-rides and bond retirement is $3.125, with $2.45 of this being the present maximum for the general operating tax. If voters approve the request, the maximum on that portion of the tax rate would go to $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation.

Trustees of Dixie School District last night also:

1. Accepted certificate of completion of Dixie School.
2. Authorized district participation as plaintiff in a price fixing suit against suppliers of resilient flooring, initiated by the state attorney general's office.
3. Accepted the resignations of Mrs. Dorothy Seita, teacher of a third and fourth grade combination class at Dixie School; Mrs. Mary Lou Krusic, teacher of a combination second and third grade class at Dixie, and Mrs. Louise Soules, second grade teacher at Mary Silveira School.
4. Authorized hiring of Mrs. Marian Stolesson at $2,620 for the remainder of the year, Margaret Ann Thompson at $2,379 for the remainder of the year, and Mrs. Jacqueline J. Booth at $2,689 for the remainder of the year, to replace the three teachers who resigned.

Soft Drink Machine Burgled At Shop

An estimated $2 change from a soft drink machine was taken in a burglary of the Marin City Beauty Shop, Building C-64, sheriff's officers reported today.

C. D. Lee Townsel, owner, told deputies entry was by forcing a front door hasp. The drink machine also was pried open.

Un-American Probe Gets More Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today gave a ringing reendorsement of its Committee on Un-American Activities. It voted to give the panel $425,000 for its investigations during 1966.

The total, which covers a current investigation of the Ku Klux Klan, was $5,000 more than the House provided in 1965.

Marin Civic Fathers Shun Viet Nam Policy Statement

An attempt to put the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen on record regarding U.S. foreign policy and anti-Viet Nam war demonstrators was ruled out of order last night by chairman Charles W. Aby of San Rafael.

City Councilman George Pagni of Fairfax sought to have the council adopt a resolution originally adopted by the San Mateo City Council.

It expressed support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam and American men fighting there, and condemnation of anti-Viet Nam demonstrations.

City Councilman John R. Moore of Belvedere, whose council unanimously adopted the resolution, seconded Pagni's motion.

Mayor Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, however, objected that the motion was out of order. "I certainly support the U.S. Army," said Wornum, "but I equally oppose the fact that this resolution indicates we cannot criticize what the government does that we think is wrong. . . . And I don't think I can speak for the citizens of Mill Valley on U.S. foreign policy."

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk of Sausalito agreed, declaring, "The United States is committed in Viet Nam. . . . But I have been elected for city affairs."

Dr. Aby, San Rafael city councilman and chairman of the mayor's council, said it was policy of the council not to enter into affairs which do not directly concern the member cities. He ruled the motion out of order and asked for a vote on his ruling. The voice vote approved his ruling overwhelmingly.

In matters on its agenda, the mayors' council, meeting at the Meadow Club with Mayor Frank L. Lawrence of Fairfax as host, heard discussions of a hotel-motel tax, county ordinance on health and sanitation, county services districts for unincorporated urban areas, and revision of by-laws of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments. No action was taken on any of them.

Town Councilman Charles F. Pendleton of Corte Madera said his town was the first in Marin County to enact a tax on hotel and motel rooms. "The returns have far surpassed our fondest expectations," he said. First year's revenues from the tax had been expected to be about $4,800 but will total between $8,000 and $10,000, he reported.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the county has adopted an ordinance charging fees for health and sanitation inspections of restaurants, food handlers, etc., and suggested the cities might do likewise.

Dr. Aby asked whether charging fees would mean the county would provide more inspection. Barrows said it would not.

City Administrator Douglas E. Flautt of San Anselmo said the county is required by state law to make the inspections, and suggested city councils check with their attorneys before enacting any fee ordinance.

City Councilman J. Wayne Womack of Novato urged that other cities join his in urging the county board of supervisors to require county services areas for Marincello or other urban developments which require public services beyond those furnished in rural areas. This would prevent additional tax load falling on city residents.

City Councilman Vaughn M. Marker of Larkspur asked whether the board of supervisors has considered this. Supervisor Peter H. Behr, only member present, said it has not.

At suggestion of City Councilman Earl Grady of Larkspur, the council's representative to ABAG, the organization took no action on a proposal by Contra Costa County to make all actions of ABAG's board of directors subject to ratification by the membership.

All cities were represented at the meeting.

Next meeting of the council will be Feb. 23, with Larkspur as host city.

Viet Nam Veteran Gives Personal View Of U.S. Buildup, Problems

The escalation of the United States' war in Viet Nam was made graphic last night by a statistic cited by Maj. John Brennan of Sixth Army Headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco in a talk to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

The statistic was not of manpower committed nor of ammunition fired.

Major Brennan said that when he arrived in Viet Nam in 1960, fresh from what was the Army Language School at Monterey, he was the first American officer in Viet Nam able to speak the native language.

Today, he said, there are more than 160 instructors in Vietnamese at what has become the Armed Forces Language Institute at Monterey.

The major said at the opening of his talk at the public meeting at the Meadow Club that "my discussion will be off the record." He recited the history of the Viet Namese conflict as it concerns the United States. He described the organizational setup of U.S. forces there.

The Viet Cong, he emphasized, is no bush-league foe, though it fights in the bushes. "At the time they defeated the French," he declared, "the French had 720,000 troops in Viet Nam."

Many wonder why the United States does not simply knock out the Ho Chi Minh trail, by which troops and supplies are transported from North to South Viet Nam, he said. The answer is that the trail "is a network of thousands and thousands of trails" through the mountainous area of what used to be French Indo-China.

Major Brennan, who returned recently from Viet Nam, said that since he first went there in 1960, "I've gone through about seven different governments."

South Viet Nam now has "really a military government," he said.

About one-third of its area is "surely controlled" by the American and South Vietnamese forces—with assists from small units of Koreans, Australians and New Zealanders, he reported.

In this area, popular elections have recently been held at the hamlet and village level, but "it will be at least 10 years" before the people are ready for popular elections nationwide, he said.

Cautious in describing the fighting itself, Brennan carefully referred to tear gas as "riot control agent."

City Councilman Sally Matthews of Belvedere asked if the people of South Viet Nam "understand what this war's all about."

"Quite honestly, they don't," said Major Brennan.

Tiburon Peninsula Club Elects New Officer Slate

Joseph W. Royer of 27 West Shore Boulevard, Belvedere, is new president of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Royer was chosen by the board of directors to succeed J. Donald McCune of Tiburon following election of three new board members Tuesday night.

David Kilmer was elected vice president; William Asiano, treasurer, and Mrs. Joseph Keller, secretary.

New members of the board of directors are Asiano, Mrs. George Cleland, and Arthur Gensler. Holdover directors are McCune, Kilmer, Mrs. Keller, Lowell Airola, Thomas Price, Robert Knapp, and Mrs. Jim James. Directors are elected for three-year terms.

The new board was authorized to conduct a membership drive to try to bring the membership, now about 480, up to 500. Outgoing president McCune predicted this would be easily done as the club is soon to open a second swimming pool and new tennis courts for use of members and guests.

The Novato volunteers of the Marin County chapter of the Northern California Society for the Prevention of Blindness will conduct the tests on the 60 preschool children enrolled there.

Weapon Charge Plea Scheduled

Oris Williams, 29, arrested by sheriff's officers last Friday following an altercation with his wife, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of carrying a concealed weapon while having a prior felony conviction.

Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled plea entry for 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Williams was jailed after allegedly striking Mary Alice Williams, 34, in the face at the family home, 103 Drake Avenue, Marin City, then taking her to Marin General Hospital for treatment. She declined to file charges.

Williams was convicted in Marin County on Oct. 23, 1961, of assault with a deadly weapon. He is free on his own recognizance.

Dredge Requests To Go Before Bay Commission

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will decide next Thursday on two requests for permits to dredge in Marin waters.

Before the commission will be an application by Marin County to dredge in Gallinas Creek northeast of the county fairgrounds site, and one by Clipper Yacht Co. to dredge property next to Marinship Yacht Harbor in Sausalito to create a small boat harbor.

The Gallinas Creek project, estimated by the Marin County Public Works Department to cost $150,000, would make the creek navigable up to the county fairgrounds. The proposed channel would be six feet deep and 75 feet wide, and would require dredging of 510,000 cubic yards of material.

Disposition of the spoils would be in already diked areas, both public and private, according to James Wiese of the county department.

BEAUTIFICATION

State Spending $450,000 In Marin

Marin highways have been beautified with $450,000 worth of state-financing landscaping, and several more landscape projects are in the works for Tiburon Boulevard, and Highway 101 near Lucas Valley and Ignacio.

This is the resort submitted to the California Highway Commission by J. C. Womack, state highway engineer.

Already completed are landscaping, paving, and rest room facilities at Vista Point, and landscaping along Highway 101 near Terra Linda, Corte Madera Creek to Richardson Bay Bridge, and several other spots between the Waldo and Miller Creek Road.

Under contract are landscaping jobs at the Spencer Avenue overcrossing ($8,130) and a mile stretch both north and south of Corte Madera Creek ($12,866).

A project report has been prepared for a $15,000 job on Tiburon Boulevard from Blackfield Drive to a point west of San Rafael Avenue in Tiburon.

Future landscaping projects include a $10,000 job at the Ignacio interchange and a tree planting program along a four-mile stretch between Miller Creek Road to north of Ignacio interchange. This project will include planting at the two interchanges near Hamilton Air Force Base.

No major planting is planned north of the Ignacio interchange and through the City of Novato. Engineer Womack gave this explanation:

"There are frequent crossovers. These average closer than one-quarter mile. The median is 20 feet wide and there is room for planting but it would be of short intermittent stretches because of the need to ensure adequate vision at the crossovers . . .

"Studies have been made to convert this section to a six-lane and ultimate eight-lane freeway. These plans are developed to save a row of existing trees on the west side of the present highway. Because of this, any planting done in the present median would be lost in the near future."

The engineer noted that the state and Novato entered into a joint improvement of curbed medians in the center of the city. The city installed a sprinkling system and agreed to assume maintenance. The state planted shrubs and ice plant and assisted in weed control.

Jack Theft Referred To Juvenile Court

Case of David Philip Peoples, 18, charged with theft of a hydraulic jack, was referred to the juvenile court yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Trial had been scheduled today. Peoples, of 7 Renate Court, Novato, allegedly took the jack from the Standard service station at Corte Madera Shopping Center on Dec. 5.

Junior Horsemen Elect In Novato

Corinne Bouaird has been elected president of the Novato Junior Horsemen for this year.

Jane Fairweather is the new vice president and Sandy Bouaird, secretary-treasurer. Sandi Phillips is in charge of the parade unit. Gladys Brough, Betty Cullins and Dick Du Fault are the junior advisers.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Opponent's Frailty Pays Off In Three Out Of Four Cases

In some situations most players either take the wrong finesse or don't finesse at all.

The correct play depends on the fact that your opponents are made of flesh and blood.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

If you had only eight trumps in the combined hands, the book play would be to lead a low trump from dummy for a finesse.

If that lost to the jack, you would return to dummy for another finesse.

STILL CAN LOSE

With nine trumps in the combined hands, most players believe in leading out the ace and then leading a low trump toward dummy.

This loses when West started with the singleton 3 or 2, and also when either opponent has all four trumps.

You can get better results if you begin the trumps by leading the six from your hand.

Iw West plays low (or shows out), you plan to let the six ride as a finesse.

If you lose to the jack, you plan to return to dummy with a club and lead the queen through for a finesse.

USUALLY WORKS

This play works when West started with a singleton, as in today's hand. It works equally well when West has started with K-J-x or if either opponent has all four trumps.

It works for any 2-2 break, but loses when East has started with the singleton jack.

The play does not lose when West holds K-3 or K-2 of trumps because West will play his king for fear of losing it.

West might have nerve enough to play low if you led the ten because he might guess your plan, but he assumes you are going to put up dummy's queen when you lead the six.

To sum up, the recommended line of play loses in only one case. Leading the ace out first would lose in four cases.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K J 3
♡ K 9 8 4 3
◇ J 9 4
♣ 8 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

The hand is not quite strong enough for a response of two hearts.

If partner can rebid after your simple raise, you will accept any invitation to game.

Signs Pointing To Police Stolen

HANOVER, Mass. (AP) — Thieves have stolen three signs pointing the way to the Hanover Police Station.

Chief John W. Stoddard told the town finance board that now he'd like a large sign placed on the police station.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Jan. 27, the 27th day of 1966 with 338 to follow.

The moon is between new and first quarter; there is no morning star; the evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

Austrian composer Wolfgang Mozart was born on this day in 1756.

In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued general war order No. 1, instructing Northern Army and Navy forces to move forward not later than Feb. 25.

In 1880, Thomas Edison was granted a patent for an electric incadescent lamp.

In 1943, the 8th U.S. Air Force staged World War Two's first all-American air raid on Germany, bombing Wilhelmshaven in broad daylight.

In 1964, Republican Sen. Margaret Chase Smith became the first woman to challenge for a presidential nomination in a major party. She lost.

A thought for the day — American President Abraham Lincoln said: "Let us have faith that right makes right, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

Reader Funds Scheduled For Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today his 1966 - 67 budget will include $9 million to launch special reading programs aimed at reaching 250,000 poor readers in the first three grades of public schools.

The funds would finance a program approved last year by the legislature.

The governor said the money would be provided as matching funds to school districts that provide pecial reading teachers and professional librarians. The program also would provide scholarships to encourage development of teachers competetent to help slow learners.

"This investment can help break the pattern in which the poor reader so often becomes an early school dropout and becomes an expensive burden on the unemployment and welfare rolls," the governor said.

Mark Hopkins Suit Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Judge Joseph Karesh dismissed a 30-year-old suit yesterday which contended that railroad pioneer Mark Hopkins' estate was distributed fraudulently.

He said there was no triable issue in Mrs. Estelle Latta's contention.

Mrs. Latta, who lives in Durham, N.C., claims there were were two men named Mark Hopkins, one from New York and one from North Carolina.

Mark Hopkins, from North Carolina, was one of the builders of the Central Pacific Railroad, now known as the Southern Pacific.

Mrs. Latta contended the widow of the poorer Mark Hopkins, the one she says came from New York, became a housekeeper for the rich Mark Hopkins and channeled the wealth in his estate to descendants of the New York Hopkins.

Members of the association agreed last fall to increase dues from 50 cents a month to $3 in order to hire a manager. Applications closed Tuesday.

Synanon Closing Not Felt In West

Closing of the Westport, Conn., house of Synanon will not increase the number of former addicts at the house near Marshall, the supervisor of the Marin house said yesterday.

Synanon has decided to close the Westport house because of a ruling by the Connecticut Supreme Court that the house violated a Westport zoning regulation restricting houses in the neighborhood to single-family use.

John Maher, agent for Synanon in Marshall, said residents of the Westport house will move to a recently acquired building near Central Park in New York City. Eventually, he said, Synanon hopes to set up a rural facility near New York which will be modeled after that in Marshall.

Judge Orders Braves To Stay In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Circuit Judge Elmer .W Roller, acting upon petition of Wisconsin's attorney general, ordered the Braves today to prepare to play their home National League games in Milwaukee this year and until league expansion takes place with the city gaining a replacement franchise.

Judge Roller, who held earlier this week that his court has jurisdiction in the state's antitrust suit against baseball, said that "the threatened injury to the public (in the Braves' proposed move to Atlanta) outweighs possible inconvenience to the defendant."

The court added that it had ordered the suit to trial Feb. 1, but now was faced by a request from defense counsel for a delay of two to six months for preparation.

"From the nature of this action," the court said, "time and the status quo are elements of record before this court, it appears that there is a serious question whether there can be any effective relief under the complaint unless there be a final determination of the action on the merits prior to the opening of the 1966 season."

The Braves already have transferred nearly all of their baseball operations from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

The Braves, who originally had planned to move the franchise from Milwaukee a year ago, played the 1965 season in Milwaukee under a similar injunction.

However, that was based upon fulfillment of a contract with Milwaukee County for use of the stadium. That contract expired Dec. 31.

Today's preliminary injunction came in a suit filed last August by Atty. Gen. Bronson C. Lafollette, charging the National League and its individual members with violation of Wisconsin's Little Sherman antitrust statutes.

In a 73-page decision Tuesday, Judge Roller found that cause for such a suit existed, and that jurisdiction was properly in his court.

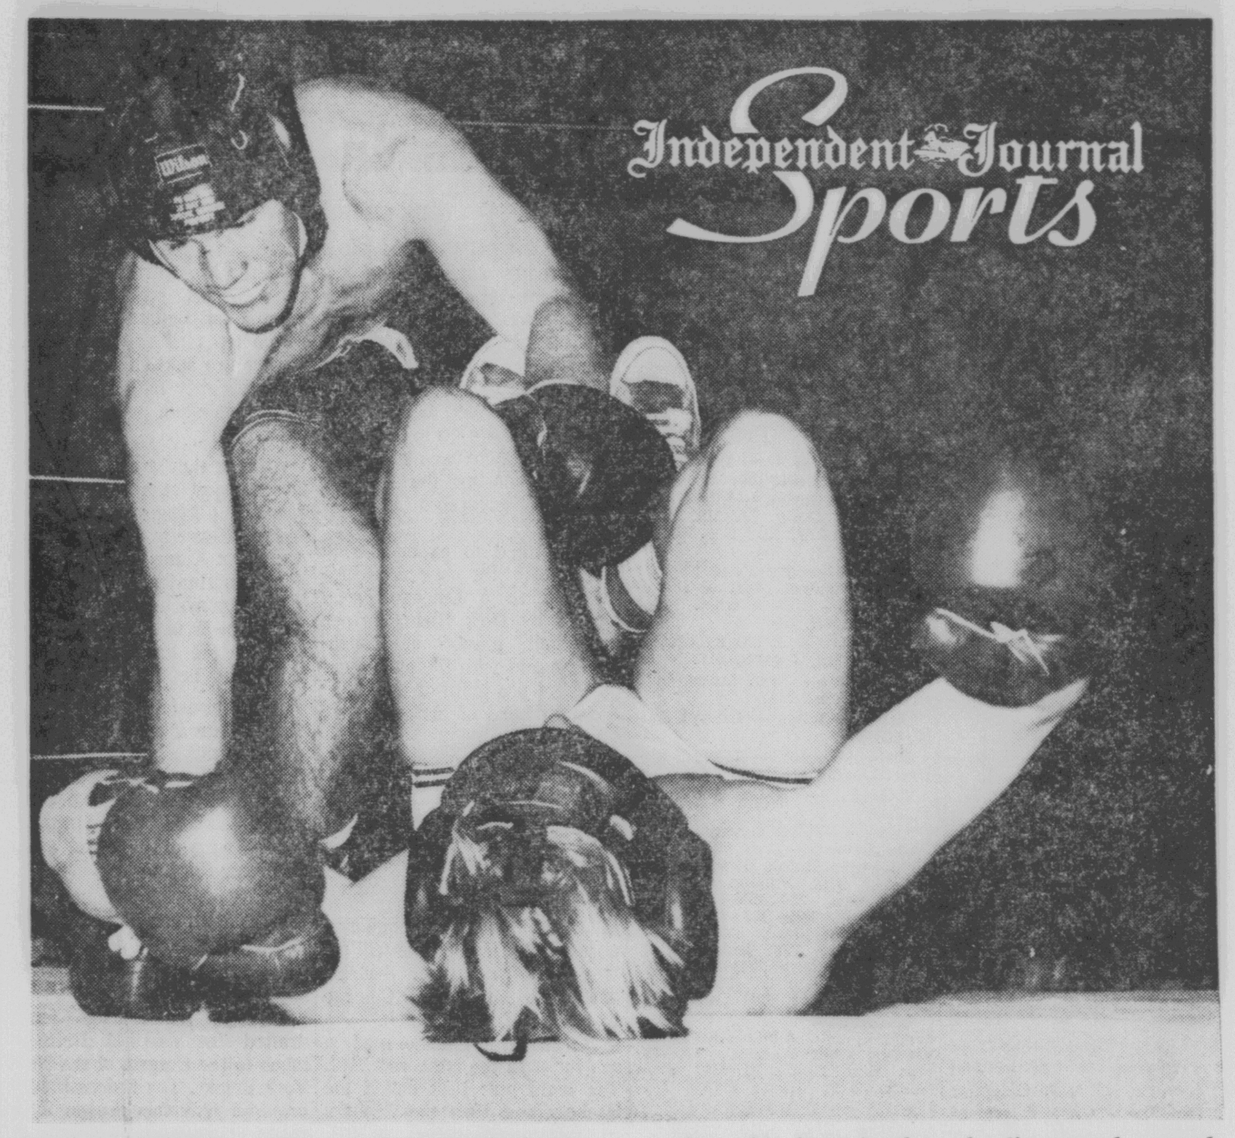
The order today set forth three major points.

One restrained the Braves from entering any contractural or other obligations for the 1966 season in Atlanta.

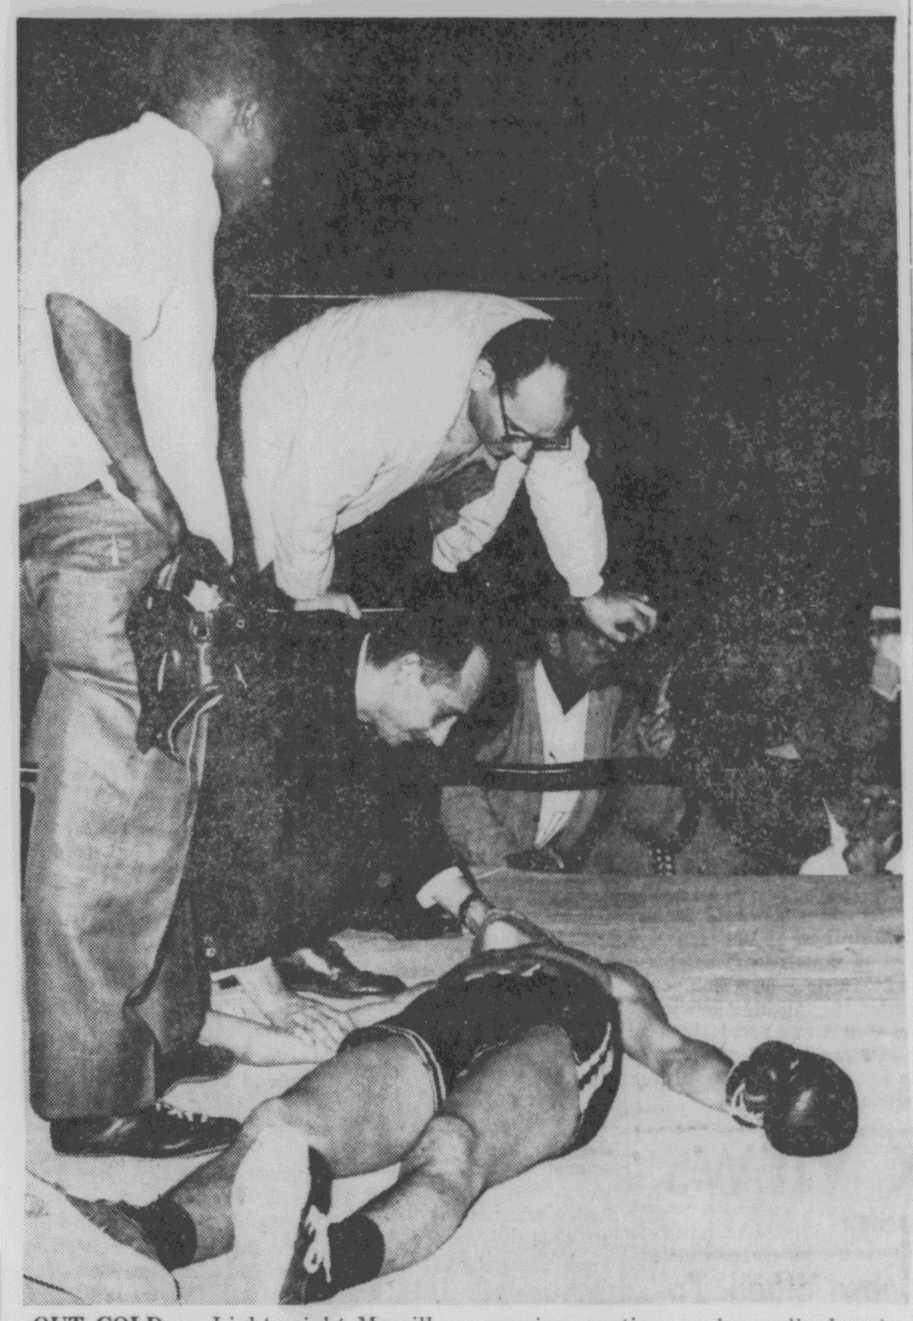
A second ordered the Braves to make all necessary preliminary arrangements to enable them to play home baseball games in Milwaukee "during the 1966 baseball season and thereafter" if so ordered by the court.

The third directed that the defendants "shall make a plan or plans for expansion of the defendant league so as to permit major league baseball to be played in Milwaukee, in time for the 1966 season...to include within their scope the location of a franchise in Milwaukee . . . (and to) make available National League baseball of competitive quality in Milwaukee on an after the opening of the 1966 season."

Ashe Sweeps Into Australian Tennis Semi-Finals



FOOTBALLERS — Showing more football than boxing form, these two Novato High School heavyweights tumbled to the canvas during their rough and tumble bout in the school's second annual Boxing Night last night. Chuck Ashworth (on top) decisioned Randy King in this match. (Independent-Journal photos by Richard Smith)



OUT COLD — Lightweight Merrill Larsen, knocked out by Ron Pederson, is attended to by Dr. Richard Walker as referee Billy Thomas looks on in the Novato High ring. The capacity crowd gave Larsen a rousing ovation as he walked out of the ring, apparently in good condition except for a sore jaw clobbered by a Pederson haymaker. It was the only knockout on the 10-bout intra-mural card.

3 Aussies Advance With Yank

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., swept into the semifinals of the Australian National Tennis Championships today with a 14-12, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Tony Roche, Australia's young Davis Cup prospect.

Ashe was joined in the semifinals by three Australians, defending champion Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle and John Newcombe. Newcombe ousted the other remaining American contender, Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, 7-5.

Clark's wife, Carole, and Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., gained the women's semifinals with easy triumphs, joining defending champion Margaret Smith and unranked Kerry Melville of Australia.

Carole Graebner defeated Judy Tegart of Australia 6-3, 6-3 while Miss Richey, the United States' top-ranked player in 1964, won over Helen Amos of Australia 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Richey plays Miss Melville and Mrs. Graebner will meet Miss Smith, seeking her third straight national women's title. Miss Smith ousted Madonna Schacht of Australia 6-1, 6-3.

PLAY SATURDAY

The semifinals are scheduled Saturday. Tomorrow's matches will be confined to doubles with Miss Richey and Mrs. Graebner the lone U.S. survivors.

Ashe's foe Saturday will be Stolle, the Australian stylist who has been runner-up at Wimbledon the past two years. Stolle defeated New Zealand's Lew Gerrard 6-2, 7-5, 7-5.

Emerson, the Wimbledon titleholder who has won the Australian crown the last two years and three times in the last four, continued to look off his game as he battled for a 9-7, 4-7- 4-6, 7-5, 9-7 triumph over fellow countryman Bill Bowrey. The match could have gone either way.

Emerson will play Newcombe in the semifinals.

Of the seminflists, Ashe was by far the most impressive. He played well within himself in beating Roche, regarded as possible heir apparent to Emerson's throne.

The American was devastating with his service and he dominated the match with aggressive net play.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

Bare Bear, Booze And Caribous; This Column Has Everything

SPORTS IN SHORTS . . .

EVEN THOUGH he dropped his suit in court last week I refuse to call George Halas "Papa Bare."

SPEAKING OF such, I hear where 49er "tight end" Monte Stickles wants his position to be called something else because of the alcoholic implications. Every time he passes a gin mill some wisenheimer giggles, "Hey, look at the tight end."

Monte should squawk; how does he think John David "Old" Crow feels about running out of a tight backfield formation?

In fact, there's only one sobering thought about the entire 49er squad and that's defensive end Dan Colchico. His nickname's "Coke."

IN ONE of those recent literary classics I told you that Don Hanson was one of only two "foreigners" on the otherwise all-local bred College of Marin cage squad. Wrong again, Shamus. Don has lived in Marin for 15 years and learned his cage fundamentals under Coach Lou Freitas in the St. Raphael's CYO program, but attended Bellarmine High down the Peninsula, which led me to believe he was furriner.

Thus, Ron LaRuffa, a Cupertino High grad, is the only non-localite on the Marin roster. I think.

SAN QUENTIN correctional officer D. A. McCarthy read in the paper recently that a Sacramento high school track star was badly injured in an accident and in need of blood.

Though McCarthy didn't know the lad, or even hear of him before, he rushed right down to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Rafael to donate a pint in the lad's account.

Why, for a complete stranger? "Well," replied McCarthy, "I used to run the mile on my high school track team many years ago and I felt something special for this boy."

Athletes are like that.

LUCKY GOLF

Palmer Zips Off To A Fast Start

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golf's leading money winner of all time Arnold Palmer, opened play today in the $55,000 Lucky International Open after starting 1966 faster than any other year in his remarkable pro career.

Arnie won low pro honors in the pro-amateur prelude over the Harding Park municipal course to push his January earnings to $20,750

Not a bad start for a fellow whom many thought on the down grade when he placed only 10th on the money list in 1965 with $57,770 in official winnings and $82,989 over-all.

Today Palmer left the tee among the late starters for this first round of San Francisco's 72-hole event with its $7,500 top prize.

He had whipped around Harding in 65 yesterday followed by a big gallery and playing with three amateur partners who helped him to a 56 in the team play, tied for second with a group headed by George Bayer, who individually had a 70.

Don Massengale, who hung on to beat Arnie by a stroke last Sunday at the Crosby, also found Harding to his liking in the pro-am and posted a 67. So did Randy Glover and Billy Maxwell.

The latter and his team of Californians won the team honors with a best-ball 55. With Maxwell were Erick Engman of San Francisco, Lloyd F. Fritzell of Red Buff and Lou Spiro of Stockton.

Most of the interest centered on the big guns. Defending champion George Archer shot a 68, Ken Venturi a 69, Billy Casper a 70 and Tony Lema a 71.

Venturi, sidelined much of last year with a circulatory ailment, carried a hand warmer and wore two gloves in windy, chilly weather. He's playing over a course where he played as a youngster and where his father still operates the pro shop.

Palmer showed the throngs both power and putting in carding seven birdies against a single bogey on his pro-am round.

Palmer started this year the same as he did 1963 with a victory at Los Angeles, but three years ago he was disqualified in the Crosby. In 1961, Arnie won at San Diego but didn't make the cut at Los Angeles after carding a 12 on one hole and he placed only fourth at the Crosby.

So this year has been the best of all.

Gloves Fly In Novato Ring Finals

Chuck Ashworth, fullback on Novato High School's championship football team, added the school's intra-mural heavyweight boxing title to his laurels last night by scoring a three-round decision over fellow gridder Randy King.

A capacity crowd of more than 1,000 cheered as the two heavies started out with a fast and furious pace, but soon ran out of steam and slowed to a waltz for the last two rounds, the 185-pound junior Ashworth getting the nod over the 190-pound senior King.

In the 10-bout, action-packed card sponsored by the Novato High Lettermen's Club, there was only one knockout with freshman Ron Pederson kayoing sophomore Merrill Larsen in the first round of their lightweight-class bout.

There were two technical knockouts: Middleweight Robin Means stopped Paul Coletti in the third round and light-heavyweight Lowell Mason stopped Jim Bribbon in the first round.

Hayward St. Cager Dies During Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Hayward State College basketball player, Roosevelt Dunn, died last night of a heart seizure during the halftime of a Far Western Conference game with San Francisco State.

Dunn, who had played most of the first half, was taken out shortly before the halftime break by Hayward Coach Glen Albaugh. He crumpled over on the bench and efforts to revice him were unsuccessful.

Dunn, a 6-foot-2 forward, was a junior and a transfer student from Monterey Peninsula College. He was 20 years old.

The score at halftime was 36-26 in favor of the San Francisco Gators, but because of Dunn's death the game was called.

Dunn had collected five rebounds and missed four free throws and three field goals during the first half.

Joseph Visalli, a doctor with the athletic department at San Francisco State, gave emergency treatment. He said Dunn apparently died of a heart attack.

'Agent 007' Sneaks Into Atlanta To Get Coaching Job

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The new head coach of the Atlanta Falcons sometimes goes by the name of J. Jones.

By now, those interested in National Football League affairs know that the Falcons' man is Norb Hecker.

He used the name 'J. Jones" to keep secret Falcon owner Rankin Smith's selection of a new head coach.

"I felt like agent 007 coming into Atlanta," said Hecker, 38, who for the past six years has been assistant coach with the Green Bay Packers. "I thought the game was up on an airplane when a stewardess recognized me and said 'hello, Mr. Hecker.' But no one else found out."

Hecker wasted little time getting to work. He started calling friends yesterday afternoon in a search for five assistant coaches.

He said he doesn't plan to move his wife and five children to Atlanta until school is out "because I'm going to be so busy I wouldn't have time to spend with them anyway."

Hecker was first contacted by the Falcons last Saturday, and was told Tuesday to fly to Atlanta so he could be introduced at a news conference Wednesday.

WHIRL-WIND

"It was a whirl-wind five days for me," Hecker said. "I still have to go back to Green Bay and clean out my office."

Hecker said that he feels Atlanta has some top college players on its roster, "and with the 42 players we will get from the other teams I believe we will have pretty good talent."

The former Baldwin-Wallace College star, who played halfback for the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins before a knee injury ended his NFL career in 1957, said he will first build a strong defense with the Falcons.

"You can't win in the NFL without a good defense," said Hecker, who has been defensive backfield coach for the Packers. "And it is easier to build a defense than an offense.

"Our biggest problem will be to instill a desire to win among our players," Hecker said. "I hope we can get some players from championship teams that will have that desire."

Hecker was never mentioned as a candidate for the Falcon post, and Smith said he was the only one "of about 10 prospects" interviewed for the job that had not applied.

HICKEY BYPASSED

Hecker apparently was suggested for the post by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who visited with Smith at length in Atlanta last Friday, when Red Hickey, former head coach of the San Francisco 49ers, was considered the top candidate.

Smith's first contact with Hecker came a day after the meeting with Rozelle.

Hecker has been considered one of Packer Coach Vince Lombardi's top aides. But he lacks Lombardi's brooding intensity and is slow to anger.

"Norb has all the quaifications of a paragon," Lombardi said. "He is a very fine young gentleman, highly intelligent and with a fine personality. He is extremely loyal and one of the finest workers I have ever seen on my staff."

KEN BLASTS OUT OF THE SAND

Chicago Gets Third Chance In Pro Cage

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — The hopes of Chicago's entry in the National Basketball Assn. for next season undoubtedly rest with the possible acquisition of home-towner Cazzie Russell, the All-America at Michigan.

Chicago twice before has failed to make a go in the NBA, but yesterday it was given another chance by the league's board of governors in New York.

They voted to expand to 10 teams with the new franchise awarded to a Chicago group headed by Dick Klein, former basketball player at Northwestern and with the old Chicago Gears pro team of the 1940s, and now head of his own sales promotion company.

Russell could become the hub of the team and kingpin of its promotion.

Cazzie reportedly said in Ann Arbor, Mich., last night:

"Several people interested in a franchise for Chicago have talked to me. I am inquisitive about what the outcome will be. It will be a tougher decision about me playing in Chicago than a lot of people think."

The last time Chicago made a run for it in the NBA was 1961. The team was first called the Packers and then the Zephyrs and moved to Baltimore in 1963. Prior to that were the Stags who lasted from 1946 to 1950.

When Chicago got a franchise in 1961, it received from the NBA the No. 1 draft choice and five choices on the second round. Walt Bellamy of Indiana was a top pick and some NBA owners are said still to be sour about it. They may not be that generous again with a new team.

Whether they are may be disclosed today at a news conference in Chicago attended by Water Kennedy, NBA president; Ben Kerner, owner of the St. Louis Hawks and chairman of the expansion committee, and Kein, who is to tell of his plans to make the International Amphi-theater home base.

Klein has said his group "expects to lose $100,000 in the first two years" but would be squared after three years and ahead after that. Although Klein was unavailable for comment last night, Russell undoubtedly fits into his plans.

But the Detroit Pistons want Russell and have been trying to get the territorial draft of the NBA reinstated so they can pluck him.

In 1961, the Chicago team drafted the 6-foot-11 Bellamy much to the chagrin of the New York Knicks. The Knicks finally acquired him this season in a costly trade with Baltimore in which they gave up Johnny Green, Jim Barnes and Johnny Egan plus cash.

Sorry Seals Come Home For Weekend

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals play the Vancouver Canucks tomorrow night and Sunday at the Cow Palace and then go on the road for eight games in 13 days.

Right now as far as the Seals are concerned, the only thing good about the Western Hockey League is the Los Angeles Blades. And that's because the Blades are lower in the standings than the Seals.

San Francisco was in fifth place, seven points behind fourth-place Seattle and four points ahead of last-place Los Angeles. For a playoff berth, the Seals need to overcome Seattle and end up in fourth place or higher.

San Francisco lost yesterday's game with Portland 4-3. The Buckaroos have won six of seven games with the Seals. Chuck Holmes and Gerry Goyer broke up a nip-and-tuck game with two quick goals for the Bucks in the third period to give them the winning edge.

San Francisco got goals from Mike Harvey, John Gravel and Gerry Brisson.

Portland was only two points behind league-leading Victoria following the encounter.

Strampe Continues All-Star Pin Spree

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Qualifying leader Bob Strampe of Detroit hasn't slowed down any in the match play phase of the National All-Star Bowling Tournament .

Yesterday, first day of head-to-head competition for the 16 finalists, Strampe won 11 of 15 games against five opponents to take the early lead in the men's American Division. Roy Lown of El Paso, Tex., won 10 games to lead the National Division.

In the women's section, Joy Abel of Chicago and Jean Winsch of South Bend, Ind., were the early pace-setters. The 16 men finalists are split into two divisions, American and National, for the match play.

They bowl three-game matches, and standings are figured on total pin fall plus a 50-pin bonus for each game won. After next Saturday's 22nd match the two division leaders will bowl for the championship.

The women use the same format but bowl two-game matches.

Strampe won three games from Bob Materasso of New York City, and Virg Enger of Minneapolis; two from Les Schissler and Jerry McLary of Denver, and one from defending champion Dick Weber of St. Louis.

Wily Old Halas Knew When To Back Away From Sticky Issue

RANDOL

George Halas growled angrily before filing a breach of contract suit and petition for an injunction against George Allen who left the lair of the Bears to accept the head coaching job of the Rams when two years still remained on his Bear contract.

And the 70-year-old Papa Bear growled some more after staging a sudden and strategic retreat that ended the court proceedings before they got beyond the preliminary stage.

The judge no sooner had ruled that there was prima facie evidence of a valid contract between Allen and the Bears than Halas rose to stop the legal action. "Your honor," said Halas to the judge withdrawing his suit, "sanctity of the contract was the issue here and your ruling will prevent the breakdown of organized football and sports."

THUS, THERE was no necessity for a judicial ruling on the injunction phase of the suit. The injunction petition was the ticklish part of the suit. The judge, opposing attorneys and Halas himself were well aware of this.

To support his injunction petition, Halas would have had to testify that Allen was the irreplaceable and indispensable chief cub in Papa Bear's den. Halas would have had to convince the court that Allen was unique among all coaches and unless prevented from joining the Rams, the Bears would be irreparably damaged.

CAN ANYONE picture the grizzled pioneer of the National Football League so testifying? Yet, unless he did he wouldn't have had a chance of winning his injunction petition because courts, while awarding damages for breach of contract, are not inclined to issue injunctions except in unique situations.

FURTHERMORE, there was another possible barrier to any injunction. Allen said he sought and obtained verbal permission from Halas last Christmas to negotiate with Dan Reeves, owner of the Rams. Reeves acknowledged, following a telephone conversation with Halas, that Halas rescinded this permission. But having once given his permission did Halas bar himself from any successful try for an injunction?

HALAS, OF COURSE, stopped the action just when it was getting to the exciting stage. Maybe he is irascible, petluant, crotchety and all the other things said about him. But he still is a wily old Papa Bear who knows enough to back away from a sticky situation.

HOT STOVE SESSION IN MARIN TOMORROW

Knights of Columbus will sponsor its first Marin County Hot Stove League at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse. Part of the proceeds will be donated to the Mill Valley Community and Youth Center. There will be a smorgasbord dinner and draft beer will be served.

Among the guests will be former major leaguers Joe DeMaestri, Sam Chapman and Art Schallock, all graduates of Tamalpais High School. Also invited to attend, according to former Tam coach Jim Langdon, who is helping with arrangements, are Walter Mails, head of the San Francisco Giants' speakers bureau, and Matt Hazeltine, linebacker for the San Francisco 49ers.

The movie, "World Series Highlights of 1965," will be shown.

N.L. Schedule More Night Games In 1966

CINCINNATI (AP) — Baseball fans in National League cities will see an increased number of games under the lights this year.

The league's 1966 schedule shows 462 night games — compared with 433 last year. Chicago's Wrigley Field is the only ball park without lights so all Cub home games, as in the past, will be daytime affairs.

One of the season's first games under the lights will be the debut of the new Atlanta Braves, who take on Pittsburgh in a home game the night of April 12.

St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco also play their first home games April 12, one day after the season starts at Cincinnati's Crosley Field with a game between the Reds and the New York Mets.

Cincinnati starts a day before the rest of the league in alternating years. It always opens the season at home in recognition of the fact the first professional baseball team was formed here in 1869.

Philadelphia, which plays its first game at St. Louis, will open at home April 15 against the Reds. Houston and Chicago start play on the West Coast, at Los Angeles and San Francisco, respectively.

The Braves travel to New York for the Mets' home opener April 15, and the Cardinals face Pittsburgh the same day in the Pirates' first home game.

Chicago fans will be the last to see their team in action. The Cubs' home opener is April 19 against San Francisco. Houston plays its first home game April 18 against Los Angeles.

Houston and Philadelphia both have 61 scheduled night games, while Los Angeles fans will see 59 games under the lights and 57 night games are scheduled for St. Louis. Cincinnati's schedule calls for 55, Atlanta's 54, and Pittsburgh's for 51 games under the lights.

The Mets scheduled 42 night games and the Giants 22.

The fans also will see a total of 45 doubleheaders, six of them twi-nighters and six afternoon-night twin bills. The Mets' schedule calls for eight twin bills — one under the lights — and Atlanta and Cincinnati each play six doubleheaders.

Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh each scheduled three doubleheaders and the Cubs, Cardinals, Astros and Giants play four each.

This year's schedule is worked out as all the clubs have met every other club at home before the second "go-around" begins in June. The All-Star game breaks comes on July 11-12 and the St. Louis Cardinals will meet the Minnesota Twins July 25 in the Hall of Fame game at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Among the likely pennant contenders, both Cincinnati and St. Louis close the season at home. The Reds' last foes will be the Braves on Oct. 2 while the Cardinals entertain the Cubs on the same day.

Los Angeles and San Francisco winds up the season in the East, playing at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, respectively. Houston closes its season at New York.

Johnson Assumes Belvedere Sail Commodore's Job

Steve Johnson took over the helm as commodore for the Belvedere Sailing Society Monday night at the club's annual awards ceremonies at the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere.

Other 1966 officers installed were Ed Misuraca, vice commodore; Dr. Sam Mann, rear commodore; and directors George R. Whitney, Carolyn Saltzman, Jim Moran, Harvey Rogers, Neville Rich and Gerald Stratford.

In the awards ceremonies, Allen Steinau won the Commodore's Trophy for contributing most in time and effort to the club's success.

Season champions crowned included Cabell Gwathmey, Steve Johnson, Teddy Towne, Paul Law and Sally Mathews.

Good Guys Award To Mt. Rose

By ROSEMARY SEAL

Good Guys Award of the week goes to Mount Rose Ski Area, which celebrated the opening of new lifts and a warming house last weekend with a ski-for-free day on Saturday. Located above Incline Village, Mount Rose main lift rises to the top of what used to be called Northwest Passage from Slide Mountain. A smaller lift goes to a nice beginner area to the right.

The price was right, and the smaller lift had skiers lined up in droves, with testing still proceeding at the big lift in the morning.

THIS WAS in spite of gray skies, snow flurries, and temperatures below 20 degrees, which brought out face masks and fur parkas. Ski nuts are a hardy bunch.

The sandbag testing crew opened the big chair at 1 p.m., with a rush of skiers to the lift line. Something told us that it would be a good time to have lunch. This turned out to be the best idea of the day.

ABOUT HALF an hour later, when the chair lift was fully loaded, the electricity demand tripped the master switch, and suddenly, no power, no lights. No panic, however. Efficient crews fired up the sno-cats to slowly ease the chairs back down, and everyone was taken off safely, albeit a little cold.

TALKING ABOUT free rides, a season pass would be an appropriate prize for the winner of the "name the lift" contest at Sugar Bowl. The new chair lift will go up the mountain to the left of Lincoln, and a contest is planned to select a name. Construction is scheduled for this summer, with operation for next winter. The new chair will open up a great beginner and intermediate area, making the waiting lines shorter at the present three lifts.

WITH NEW powder snow and clear skies, skiing Sunday at Sugar Bowl was great. From Drake High School, four young men were trying out their ski legs on Disney and Crow's Nest. They were Jan Swaney, Roger Phelps and Dan Elliott, members of Explorer Scouts Post 25, who stayed at Marin Ski Club Lodge with Danl Shilinger; and Ken Chase, who came up with his family.

Hard Times For Sports Officials

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — This must be Get the Official Week in sports.

If the ref doesn't get a poke in the eye with a hockey stick, he may wind up with a Bruno Sammartino wrapped around his withers.

It all started Saturday afternoon in Boston. Reggie Fleming slashed linesman Brian Sopp with a stick in a National Hockey League game between New York and Boston.

Fleming, playing his first game for the Rangers against his old Bruin mates, went after Ted Green, who was in the penalty box. Reggie missed Green and struck Sopp.

From across the Pacific in Australia came the dulcet tones of Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, telling tennis umpire Norman Hirst to "shut up" after his Australian opponent hit a winner off his service.

Things got so sticky in the violent world of tennis at Sydney that the umpire didn't make the final call of the match, declaring Graebner the winner, until the referee told him he had to make a ruling.

Marty Reissen of Evanston, Ill., also managed to get into a jawing match with an official in a Tuesday match.

On the very shores of the Pacific in Pebble Beach, Calif., a most cooperative golf official, George Walsh, stumbled and fell into the briny while looking for one of two balls that Jack Nicklaus had hit out into the ocean.

To compound matters in that golf tournament Sunday, an Army sergeant, serving as a marshall, entered the chilly water, disappearing from time to time as a big gallery cheered and laughed.

The balls remained lost, the trousers wet.

Basketball got into the act, as usual. This time a referee didn't turn the other cheek. Carl Strom, the referee, charged Irv Gack, St. Louis business manager, as the final buzzer ended a Philadelphia-St. Louis game played at Memphis. Strom became angered at something Gack said after he called Richie Guerin of St. Louis for palming the ball.

Referees always get into all sorts of embarrassing situations in wrestling matches. It's part of the circus. But it seems Bruno Michele Scicluma of Malta overdid things Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

The Baron grabbed Bruno Sammartino of Italy with a hangman's hold and threw him at the referee, a former fighter named Danny Bartfield. The ref took exception to this dastardly deed and disqualified the Baron.

The worst — or best — is yet to come. Wait until Leo Durocher swings into action in the spring.

Rasco Undergoing Facelifting; Tax Service Now Is Expanding

A two-month facelifting and modernization job is already under way at the F. S. Rasco Co. department store, 1138 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

To be included in the remodeling program, says manager William G. Schendel, are a new facade, lowered ceilings, improved lighting, new counters, floor refinishing and a general refurbishing of the entire store from wall to wall. While all this is going on, business will continue as usual.

Well, almost as usual—there will be some interruptions.

Stocks Erase Advance As War Issues Falter

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today after erasing an early gain.

There wasn't much in the ay of group action. Even aerospace defense stocks faltered after an early show of strength.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9 million shares compared with 9.91 million yesterday.

Some additional stock splits brightened the atmosphere but the list lacked consistent leadership and many groups were thoroughly scrambled.

Even aerospace defense issues began to falter although Boeing kept a 3-point rise and Douglas Aircraft was up 1. United Aircraft slumped more than a point.

United Air Lines held only a 1-point gain despite its 2-for-1 stock split while profit taking overtook other members of its group. American Airlines lost 2 and KLM 5.

Standard Brands was up about 4 points following word of its 2-for-1 split.

IBM lost 5 of its recent rise on split news. Polaroid dropped 2. Freeport Sulphur was ahead over 3 in continued response to split news.

Calumet and Hecla, up more than 2, and Kennecott, showing a similar rise were standouts in a mostly higher copper group.

Commonwealth Oil looked like the day's volume leader, showing a fractional gain.

American Telephone traded unchanged, near its low for 1965-66.

Admiral lost 2, Purex 1, Crucible Steel and Ford fractions.

Up a point were Pennsylvania Railroad and Zenith.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also were mixed. Trading was heavy.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds sagged on news the Treasury will issue a new 5 per cent coupon note.

Airline Launches Half Fare Plan

NEW YORK — Approval of American Airlines' youth plan by the Civil Aeronautics Board today triggered one of the biggest sales campaigns in transportation history.

Ticket offices from coast to coast, a special mail order section in airline headquarters and representatives on hundreds of college campuses swung into action to sell the key to nationwide, half-fare airline travel for anyone between 12 and 22—the youth plan identification card.

The American youth plan becomes effective today. As of now, any holder of an identification card can purchase on a standby basis a ticket for travel anywhere on American Airlines' domestic system. Qualification for the card is simple—any document which offers legal proof of age and $3 are all that's needed.

Electronics Firm Sales Set Mark

PALO ALTO (AP) — Varian Associates, electronic and instrumentation firm has reported record sales and net income in the quarter ended Dec. 31.

Varian's order backlog is a record $48.85 million, up from $29.67 million a year earlier.

Utility Firm Has Record Earnings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Record earnings of $140,273,000 have been reported by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. on 1965 operating revenues of $851,399 million.

Earnings on a common share advanced from $1.83 in 1964 to $2.08 last year.

Construction spending in 1965 amounted to $287 million and will be about the same in 1966.

Big G Purchases Embee Market

The Embee Market at 5651 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, has been sold, it was announced yesterday.

The 17,000-square foot store, opened in July, 1961, has been purchased by Big G Super Market, Inc., Sausalito, headed by Guido Bisazza. The sale is effective Feb. 1.

John Blumlein, general manager of Embee Markets, said the 10-year old Embee store in the Boardwalk Shopping Center, Tiburon, is not included in the sale and will continue to operate under the present ownership.

Big G opened at 2500 Bridgeway, Sausalito, two years ago. Bisazza said purchase of the Corte Madera store is the first step in an expansion program in which the company expects to add other outlets in Marin.

Modernization

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — A $90 million program to rebuild and modernize the structural rolling mills and enlarge the shipping facilities of Bethlehem Steel Corporation's plant here has been announced by company officers.

Marin Coed Visited By Mexican Friends

Stephanie Pinson, a 17-year-old senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, will have every opportunity to practice her Spanish as she plays hostess for the next two weeks to three students from Cuautla, Mexico.

For Josefina, 13, Judy, 12, and Guadalupe, 11, who arrived in Marin Monday with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Figueroa, can speak no English.

They are paying a return visit to Stephanie, who was among a group of Drake students visiting Mexico last summer.

During their stay, the family of five will live with Stephanie and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pinson, at 108 Hilldale Drive, San Anselmo.

The Mexican girls attended Drake yesterday and intend to return home in time to resume school in Cuautla Feb. 6. Dr. Figueroa is on the staff of the health department in the Mexican city.

Trustee Meeting

Larkspur School District trustees, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today, will be asked to accept $2,624 in federal funds for school library books. They will also be asked to approve a policy for selecting these books and hear a report of the results of fifth and eighth grade achievement and ability tests given last year.

Span Meeting Slated

Two committees of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will meet tomorrow in the administration building at the bridge toll plaza. Meeting of the finance committee is scheduled at 10 a.m., and of the building and operating committee, at 10:15 a.m.

Discharged

Mrs. Elgenia Roy, 29, of 12 Josephine Street, Sausalito, was discharged from Marin General Hospital yesterday after being admitted the previous day for a reported overdose of drugs.

Forgery Complaint Is Dismissed

Forgery complaint against Alec Leon Webber, 47, of La-Verne, Los Angeles County, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court for insufficient evidence.

Webber, alias Dr. Joseph P. Cohen, was charged with forging two checks for $240 each last Oct. 12 to defraud Bank of Marin and Bank of America in San Rafael. Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest Zunino said lack of positive identification contributed to the dismissal request.

Demos Hear Two Likely Candidates

Both Assemblyman Pearce Young of Napa and Robert D. Carrow of Novato spoke like potential candidates for the State Senate last night, but neither committed himself.

They appeared at a dinner meeting of the Marin Council of Democratic Clubs at the home of council chairman Thomas A. Skornia in Ross. About 40 delegates from Democratic clubs in the county attended the meeting.

Young, an attorney, admitted he has considered running for the senate in the Fourth District (Marin, Napa and Solano), but said his decision will rest on whether the Democratic Party will be united behind him.

Carrow, an attorney and mayor of Novato, has announced he will not seek re-election to the city council. He indicated last night that he would have the time to campaign for the senate, but he has not decided on his 1966 plans.

William M. Bennett of Kentfield, who is seeking the nomination for attorney general, criticized incumbent Thomas Lynch for not doing all possible in civil rights.

Bennett said he is personally against the Marincello development in Southern Marin. He predicted the project can still be reversed if enough opposition can be generated.

He said the Northwestern Pacific Railroad's stalling on the reopening of Puerto Suello tunnel is scandalous. Bennett, a member of the State Public Utilities Commission, promised he would continue his efforts for the tunnel reopening.

Perfumes were first created, it is believed, when ancient priests burned aromatics as offerings.

There Was A Reason For That Sonic Boom

The low-level flight over San Rafael by a jet fighter last week caused a few tempers to flare momentarily.

But an immediate explanation from the Air Force made it clear that this was one of the rare emergencies where the low flight over residential areas was unavoidable.

We can be assured that it was certainly no show-off type of stunt flying that some residents at first suspected.

One question most often asked by those who heard and felt the jarring blast from the jet's afterburner was this:

If they have to change their course of flight, why can't they fly out toward the bay over open water instead of toward densely populated San Rafael?

Explanations from those who are more acquainted with Hamilton operations point out that this is not always possible.

For example, when two aircraft approach each other at Hamilton and are warned away from the field at the last moment, they peel off in different directions—one out over the bay and the other over Lucas Valley. If every aircraft were to veer off toward the bay, the danger of collision would be much greater.

In the case of the F-101 which flew low over San Rafael, the pilot changed course when told that a T-33 might have difficulty landing. But since it was low on fuel, the F-101 got instructions to land ahead of the T-33. That's what caused the pilot to make a quick turn over San Rafael and use the afterburner for a spurt into Hamilton.

It is always a bit easier for citizens to endure sonic booms over their homes when they realize that by so doing, they may have saved the life of a pilot or the costly jet aircraft.

Marin is learning to live with the booms, the whines and roars that accompany a military airfield. The public accepts these disturbances, even with a certain amount of gratitude because their presence is a sign of the nation's alert.

As far as we are concerned, any maneuver, if essential for the safety of the plane or the pilot, would be justified.

At the same time, we are confident that the military will not take advantage of the growing public tolerance for sonic booms by permitting flights of a disturbing nature unless safety factors dictate such action.

THE HOMEMAKER IS IRREPLACEABLE

One of the most challenging and complex tasks in the world is that of being a good homemaker.

In her book, "Sixpence In Her Shoe," Phyllis McGinley shares insights from her personal experience:

"We crave light and warmth in this century. Only the mother, the wife, can supply it for the home.

"To be a housewife is not easy. Ours is a difficult, a wrenching, sometimes an ungrateful job if it is looked on only as a job.

"Regarded as a profession, it is the noblest, as it is the most ancient of the catalog. Let none persuade us differently or the world is lost indeed."

Through and from the home woman can do much to change the world for the better. God has endowed her with special gifts that can benefit everyone.

In her own unique way she can renew, refresh, cheer and purify the whole of life.

She will do this if she faithfully and patiently fulfills the special mission assigned to her in the divine plan to bring joy, peace and order into the world.

"Like the sun rising in the Lord's heavens, the beauty of a virtuous wife is the radiance of her home." (Sirach 26:16)

Keep women reminded, O Holy Spirit, of the important service they can render as good homemakers.

Brown Tries To Revive Bureau Duplicating Local Chamber Jobs

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The first example of what tax-oppressed California can expect in the way of "economy" for a top-heavy state government came recently at a press conference held by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The Governor announced he will request in his 1966-67 budget the sum of $350,000 to restore life to the State Economics Development Agency.

This is the agency abolished by the 1965 legislature in a move to chop off useless and non-productive bureaucracies.

THE UNDERLYING purpose of the economic agency was to attract new business and industry to California. No one can quarrel with an objective of this type. But outside the printing of some expensive brochures the economic agency produced nothing in the way of concrete attractions to new business and industry, let alone actual establishment of the same in California.

The legislature no doubt had this in mind when it wiped out the agency.

Yet the Governor plans to ask the 1966 budget session for almost 50 per cent more of the taxpayers' dollars for re-establishment of the agency than was appropriated on an annual basis since it commenced business at the beginning of the Brown administration.

IT'S A FAIRLY well established fact that when a large concern seeks manufacturing facilities near new markets, its own representatives obtain the information necessary. Such concerns want to know about labor availability, transportation, supplies of raw materials, wages, taxes, and other items.

Such information is readily available from current state sources and in communities under consideration for plant locations.

FOR MANY YEARS, organizations supported by communities and the local business interests have done an excellent job of attracting new industry to California. This is the job of organizations like the Los Angeles and San Francisco chambers of commerce, as well as the many smaller chambers throughout the state.

Although the proposal for a state agency to do this work implies these private organizations have fallen down on the job, a trip around the industrial centers of California belies the implication.

Governor Brown says "we need an agency that business can go to for advice and assistance in various fields."

LOOKING AT the practical side of the situation, the thought comes that perhaps business needs an agency that government can go to for advice and assistance!

Supervisors Losing Control

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your recent editorial regarding the appointment of an economic developer I am sure will meet the approval of the majority of your readers. . . .

Mr. Leydecker's neighbor, Mr. Douglas was selected. It appears that Mrs. Douglas helped Mr. Leydecker in his campaign for supervisor. This could appear to be a political pay off. The Marin County merit system has been ignored. Now we are back to the spoils sytsem. . .

Bill Fusselman pointed out in the Jan. 21 edition of the I-J the cost of maintaining an administrator and his various assistants at a cost of $13,681.

The people of the county were sold on the idea that an administrator would save the taxpayers money, by the more efficient operation of the county business. It would be very interesting to know how much the present administrator, through his alleged efficiency, has reduced taxes. He is now proposing an increase in the county taxes of 21 cents. . .

Since we have very competent heads of the various county departments, an administrator is about as useless as a fifth wheel of a cart. He allegedly wrecked the personnel commission which had been doing a very good job and practically abolished the Marin County merit system.

On that commission there is a very competent and outstanding personnel consultant —Miss Margaret Lucas. Julius Selinger is an excellent legal adviser, and was responsible for drawing up the by-laws. . . for protecting the rights of county employees which were approved by the supervisors. Since we lost such outstanding supervisors as Bill Fusselman, Vera Schultz and the late Walter Castro, we now have a majority on the board who appeared to have turned over their responsibilities to the present county administrator.

Elderly Poor Need Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The president of the National Council of Senior Citizens, Mr. John W. Edelman. . .said in Washington recently:

"The impoverished citizen 65 years and over are the most neglected of the poor. Time holds very little for them. The young and the middle aged poor have the promise of the future, while the old grow poorer in health, and assets gone. There are thousands who will not survive the rigor of winter. The casualties among these oldsters would equal the loss of our brave fighting men in Viet Nam."

Mr. Edelman. . .went on to say that thousands are scattered about in dilapidated homes, outmoded hotels. Many live in old shacks in remote mining and railroad towns, alone and friendless. . .

This is an indictment against our rich, fat, ever expanding economy of surplus and plenty. We must not forget these unfortunate oldsters. They were the pioneers, the builders, who sacrificed their all, in war and in peace. . .

The plaintive voice of our senior citizens is not heard, in the modern scheme of things . . . We, the strong with a heart, must take up the challenge ahead, to defeat poverty—wipe it out forever. These senior citizens ask but very little, only a comfortable home, the dignity of being an American citizen, free from want, in their declining years. We have the wealth and the know how.

A politician who would dare ignore legislation for the betterment of the impoverished of this nation would commit a deed inexcusable.

It is up to us, the young and middle aged voters of this land, to deny these callous-hearted men, at the ballot box come next election time.

Nature Area Dumping Termed Unbelievable

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to call your attention to a dumping problem that has to be seen to be believed.

. . . My daughter and I went on a hike on trails leading off the county road which winds up the mountain behind Santa Venetia to the Nike missile base. This lovely area . . . is well on its way to becoming a full-fledged public dump . . . We saw almost every sort of discard that can be imagined, including a mattress, a trunk, a TV cabinet, a broken tricycle, and odds and ends of home furnishings . . .

I can't urge strong enough that your paper launch an all-out crusade . . . Please go and look. On foot. For an impact to make your blood run cold and set you teeth on edge, the area must be explored walking.

There are fines for dumping, as well as numerous "No Dumping" signs . . . Dumping goes on just the same. The threat of a fine printed on the "No Dumping" signs hasn't had the hoped for effect.

Knuckle-rapping of the same sort won't prevent the eventual ruin of Marin's wilderness areas by careless dumping. Some other approach is needed.

I suggest that teachers take school children on field trips through these areas . . . Movies ought to be made . . . and shown at school assemblies. Clean-up brigades of citizen-volunteers ought to be organized . . .

As for the usefulness of legal penalties, I give up. Surely a generation of "adults" who can produce a problem of this magnitude is completely beyond redemption—or at least a good-sized segment of it is. It would be comforting if we could revoke the county residence privilege of anyone caught dumping. Silly as it may sound, and useless as it is to dream, this method just might work. In the meantime, let's all of us forget our "rights," roll up our sleeves and pick up after these people. It has to be done.

PRESIDENT LYNDON Johnson tells of a day when his brilliant political career was just dawning and he was seeking to win favor with his rural Texas audience by emphasizing the beauties of its landscapes. He started with the beautiful piny woods of East Texas, moved lovingly through the bluebonnets and out to the plains and down the hill country to the Gulf Coast and back to the piny woods where he started all over again. When he got going on his third time around, an exasperated little cuss in the back of the hall hollered, "Say, Lyndon, the next time you pass through Lubbock, how about letting me off?"

Presidential Election System Always Has Presented Problems

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
(James Marlow is ill.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Founding Fathers were great men but, being human, they were not omniscient.

They thought up a system for selecting presidents which did not work. It had to be changed after only four presidential elections. Now it is up for proposed revision once more.

IN THE MINDS of many of the makers of the U.S. Constitution was the idea that there is a "natural aristocracy" — composed of men with such qualities as virtue, talent, public spirit, wealth, learning and so on.

Naturally the president should be selected from among the best of these men. But how to do it? The public at large was not considered equipped with enough information or sound judgment to make the selection.

So the Constitution makers hit upon the idea of electors. Each state would choose, by whatever methods it thought best, some of its wisest men to serve briefly as electors.

Each would vote for two men. The person who got the highest vote would be president.

THE SYSTEM worked in the first three elections, George Washington twice and John Adams once. But in 1800 it sort of broke down—the reason being that in their lack of omniscience the Founding Fathers had failed to foresee the rise of political parties.

For the election of 1800, the Republicans — now Democrats —organized to the hilt for the Jefferson-Burr ticket. Thomas Jefferson wrote innumerable letters rallying his supporters: Aaron Burr, Tammany Hall organizer, even used such modern devices as a card index file to elect Republicans to the New York Legislature, which in turn selected electors.

The national result was what Paul T. David and coauthors of the book "The Politics of National Party Conventions" call "the ultimate arithmetical absurdity of the system."

Each Republican elector voted for Jefferson and Burr and the result was a tie for president, 73 to 73. Under the Constitution, the election went to the House of Representatives.

BURR MIGHT have made it to the presidency, except for Federalist Alexander Hamilton. Though he called Jefferson a "contemptible hypocrite" he considered him better than Burr, and Jefferson was elected president after 36 ballots in the House.

So in 1804 the Constitution was amended to provide that electors, instead of just voting for two men, would vote separately for president and vice president.

Electors, beginning in 1800, became mostly rubber stamps, merely voting for their party nominees. But a few have not done so, leading to criticism that some day the popular will may be thwarted.

President Lyndon B. Johnson proposes to abolish the office of elector. The entire electoral vote of a state would automatically be credited to the ticket which won in the popular vote.

HIS IS NOT the only suggestion under debate. Others include:

Elect the president and vice president by nationwide popular vote; that is, a plurality of the popular vote cast in the nation at large.

Elect by a "district method." There would be one electoral vote for each congressional district and two at large for each state. A majority of electoral votes in the nation would be required for election.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Democrat Campaign Cupboard Too Bare

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
And PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Acting Democratic Treasurer Clifton Carter is glumly pondering a most disconcerting financial problem.

The Democratic National Committee is more than $2.5 million in the red.

That's what the long-time political lieutenant of President Lyndon B. Johnson is telling congressmen facing tough election battles this year. According to Carter, the National Committee not only is broke but deeply in debt.

WHILE NOT disputing this, the legislators are frankly baffled.

They are unable to understand why an administration that scored a landslide victory and big majorities in both branches of Congress only a little more than a year ago should be in such dire financial plight. Usually under such circumstances, by this time the election deficit has been paid off and the till again well filled.

Various accounts are afoot on the reason for this exceptional situation.

Some party leaders are attributing it largely to the President. They cite his cold-shouldering invitations to address fund-raising dinners and other gatherings, and his keeping Vice President Humphrey from doing so.

Some are pointing the finger at former Treasurer Richard Maguire, the Kennedy holdover who resigned last month to join a big law firm with offices in Boston and Washington. They are indicating he spent too much and collected too little.

BOBBY BAKER, recently indicted by a Washington grand jury on charges of income tax evasion, grand larceny and fraud, is uneasily waiting for the "other shoe to drop."

A Baltimore grand jury has been investigating the former Senate Democratic secretary for more than a year. His much-publicized motel is in Maryland.

Attorney General Katzenbach is trying to persuade President Johnson to publicly come out against capital punishment.

The President hasn't flatly rejected taking such a stand. But neither is he ready to make such a declaration—ardently advocated by Katzenbach.

BUT AFTER consulting FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and congressional leaders, the President decided against it. They pointed out the proposal would conflict with a number of federal laws, notably the Lindbergh kidnapping act, which have the death penalty.

Katzenbach did succeed in adding a line to the short paragraph dealing with crime in the streets. As expanded the paragraph reads:

"I recommend that you meet the growing menace of crime in the streets by building up law enforcement, and by revitalizing the entire federal system from prevention to probation."

Representative Paul Jones, D-Mo., is beginning the new session of Congress with a much-warranted appeal to his colleagues that is certain to go unheeded. Pointing out that publication of the Congressional Record last year cost around $3.5 million, due to immense verbosity, Jones urged "reasonableness and restraint."

SAID JONES, "The body of the Record has become the dumping ground for material once aptly described as 'trash, tripe and trivia'."

San Anselmo Citizens Tell What They Want For Progress

Mrs. Anne West of the San Anselmo Homes Assn. has been serving as publicity seeker for the San Anselmo Congress for Community Progress. The project committee for the congress has tabulated the results of its recent questionnaire, she said, and figures show that 296 San Anselmo residents took time out to indicate where they feel their city needs improvement.

"IT'S A PHENOMENAL figure," said Mrs. West. "Why that's almost 10 per cent of all the city's registered voters!"

The committee's tabulations, Mrs. West said, also show what community problems San Anselmo residents are most interested in. The problems and the number of citizens indicating interest are as follows:

Traffic and streets, 219; city beautification, 202; the downtown area, 192; city ordinances, 156; recreation facilities, 149; fire protection and water service, 135.

The committee has named panels to discuss these six topics when the one-day congress convenes March 5 at Sir Francis Drake High School. Program for the congress will consist of morning panel discussions which are supposed to produce suggestions for improvement in the six areas.

These suggestions will be considered by the full congress in the afternoon. A committee of the congress will follow up those recommendations adopted by the full congress and seek city council action.

LARKSPUR and Corte Madera city councilmen got together Monday night to realign their city and town boundaries and almost ended up meeting out in the cold. First to arrive were four members of the Larkspur council, who found their city manager, Ronald E. Piper, at the front door of city Hall, fumbling with a set of keys.

"This door has never been locked before," he said with an embarrassed smile. "I have a key to the door, but I've never needed it. I think it's in my desk, inside."

Someone suggested that the building has a back door and Piper scurried around the back, key ring in tow. Minutes later, the lights went on inside the building and the chagrined city manager appeared at the door to let the others in.

Federal Grants Are Approved For Schools

The state board of education has approved more than $59,000 in federal education grants to set up programs for children from low-income families in two Marin County school districts.

Largest part of the money, $43,711, will go to the Tamalpais High School District for remedial laboratories in science, mathematics and reading at Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake high schools.

The rest, $15,665, will go to the Mill Valley School District to set up portable classrooms as libraries and hire teacher-librarians at Marin Terrace, Tamalpais Valley and Homestead schools.

SCHOOL ELECTION HAS HIDDEN ISSUE

Lagunitas Site Controversy Expected To Affect Fate Of Building Bond Vote

When voters in the Lagunitas School District go to the polls Feb. 15, they may feel they are voting on the choice of a school site, even though there will be nothing about one written on the ballot.

The election is to determine whether the district will issue $200,000 worth of bonds and borrow another $400,000 from the state to build a second school. But the main battle in the election seems to stem from the objections of property owners whose homes would be torn down — or at least moved — if the school winds up where the district board has said it will.

Promoting passage of the bond issue and loan is the Committee for Neighborhood Schools in the Valley. Against it is the Committee for Sensible School Sites.

Chairman of the latter group is Donald A. Pederson, one of those whose homes in Woodacre are threatened by the board's decision and also, with his wife, one of the most vocal opponents to the choice.

The district board has not shied away from linking the election with the site controversy. In the official argument for passage of the bond issue and loan, signed by the board members, they committed the district, if voters make the funds available, to buying a site in central Woodacre, just north of the Woodacre Improvement Club, and another on Tamal Road in Forest Knolls.

Board members plan to start building first on the site in Woodacre.

"The district needs five additional classrooms immediately," says the official pro-bond argument.

"The decision to build the first new school site in Woodacre," it adds, "is based upon the fact that more than 50 per cent of the present enrollment in grades kindergarten through third grade live in Woodacre."

It goes on to say the choice "is predicated upon the board's commitment to the principle of a neighborhood school" and that "the central Woodacre site is the logical location for the new elementary school."

Members of the opposing group, however, pose five reasons why they find the site undesirable.

It would, they say, "force people and remove valuable property from the tax rolls," and would cost more than other sites. Too, they contend, "hundreds of acres of less expensive undeveloped land are within walking distance of the site selected." Further, access roads now used by Woodacre residents and the county fire department would be closed, they say. Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom has denied this.

Lastly, the anti-bond group says "proximity of the firehouse to a school is dangerous nuisance and distraction."

This group has contended in recent weeks that district officials have presented a distorted view of the facts to the public, and have exaggerated the element of crisis.

"A 'no' vote will not affect the educational program," they counter. "There are no double sessions or classroom shortages."

The voters' decision may hinge partly on how important they feel it is to do away with five portable classrooms which are preventing such shortages. Proponents of the bond issue say it is essential to get rid of them because they cost $8,000 per year with no state aid.

The opposing group, however, would rather see portable classrooms than a permanent site which it does not like.

A debate on the issue will be sponsored by the San Geronimo Valley Assn. at 8 p.m. Monday at Lagunitas School. The pro-bond committee will hold an open meeting at 8 p.m. Feb. 9 at the school. A representative of the state education department is expected to appear at that session.

Firm's Owners Sue Bookkeeper

A San Anselmo bookkeeper and secretary, Elsie N. Hiebert, is being sued in Marin Superior Court for $70,000 in a civil action alleging embezzlement and forgery.

Plaintiffs Robert S. and Lorraine Miller charge that the defendant, whom they employed about two years ago to work for the Robert S. Miller Construction Co., 24 H Street, San Rafael, and the Marin Style House, Northgate Shopping Center, forged their names on company checks for over $20,000.

They ask recovery of that amount, and an additional $50,000 punitive damages from the defendant, of 18 Crest Road.

No criminal action has been filed.

Prep's Not Too Impressed With Challenges Of Cal

By BOB KING
Terra Linda High School

Suspicious of the course descriptions found in college catalogs, I recently visited the University of California at Berkeley to see the students in action during schooltime.

The results were somewhat disappointing. Being only a junior at Terra Linda High, I expected to be intellectually lost at the lectures. Actually, the lectures were almost self-explanatory, needing little pre-class preparation.

Moreover, the large lecture classes met in small sections two or three times a week. In these smaller groups, a graduate student correlated lecture and outside reading material.

Ironically, one of the worst lectures I heard was in a small Spanish literature class. Admittedly, the books were in Spanish but the teacher discussed the novels in English. Moreover, he repeated the meaning of a symbol in one novel five times. Meanwhile, the students were staring at the floor or scribbling on their notebooks.

Many of the lectures in psychology and the sciences were mere exercises in memorizing terms and concepts.

I visited six classes in fields ranging from Civil War history to elementary physics, and none of the classroom material was beyond my comprehension as a high school junior. Seemingly, the difficult part of college is applying oneself to read the multitude to outside reading books and to study for the finals.

The college students themselves confirmed my hypothesis. They must and do use time between classes for reading and library work. They can even read in the noisy cafeteria. Moreover, during the slow, insignificant parts of the lectures, they scan the daily university newspaper. Of course, at an immense knowledge factory like UC, the students do not know each other, thereby creating a "big city" atmosphere instead of the "small town" friendliness of the small colleges.

Possibly the most interesting part of the Cal trip was Sproul Hall Plaza at noon. The Viet Nam Day Committee and other radical groups fought for the crowd's attention. A graduate student in the VDC doubted the sincerity of President Johnson's peace offerings. Nearby some speaker wearing a green, fluorescent vest and a Royal Canadian Mounty hat surrounded himself with signs warning the Americans about the Nazi threat. His assistant held a whirling disc designed to induce hypnosis.

At the end of the Sproul Hall Plaza, a red-faced Irishman with three front teeth missing shouted about how the world is basically evil and Christ came to save us. Significantly, none of these radicals looked dangerous or sinister. A bearded VDC funds solicitor argued with another student and produced the inane remark, "In capitalist countries the poor always get poorer."

At any rate, the visit did provide me with some insights to college life. Every student should visit one or more campuses for himself, not on "Open house" days but during regular class hours. The proximity of so many colleges and universities makes trips not only enlightening, but extremely simple to arrange.

A fish can feel sounds, says the National Geographic.

LBJ Refuses To Hike Wage Guidelines

Economic Message Cautions Against 'Overheating'

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — President Johnson served notice on business and labor today that he might have to request higher taxes to curb inflation unless they keep the lid on prices and wages.

He told Congress in his annual economic message that keeping the economy from overheating in the face of the Viet Nam buildup and the business boom is the "most serious economic challenge" facing the nation.

RECORD OUTPUT

Johnson predicted that unemployment will fall below 4 per cent this year, the lowest since 1953, while the value of the nation's output of goods and services will soar to a record $722 billion.

The unprecedented five-year economic boom has brought Americans prosperity "far beyond the dreams of any people, anywhere, any time," the President said. But he cautioned that the ominous threat of a spreading conflict in Viet Nam makes economic restraint vital.

WAGE GUIDELINE

It was the specter of inflation that prompted the President to abandon the administration's "sliding scale" method of setting guideposts for wage and price increases, a move that brought stiff criticism from organized labor, which played big part in his 1964 election victory.

He said in his economic message to Congress that it is "vitally important" that both unions and industry hew to the line of White House guideposts limiting wage raises to 3.2 per cent with no price hikes.

GUIDEPOST FIGURE

A blow to labor leaders' hopes in Johnson's message, accompanied by a report of his Council of Economic Advisers, was the failure to boost the guidepost figure to 3.6 per cent in line with latest national production figures.

"I'm sure it has been and will be described as changing the rules in the middle of the game," said council Chairman Gardner Ackley in defending the administration for sticking to the 3.2 per cent figure.

"We don't regard it that way at all," he said at a briefing on the President's economic report.

The guideposts are based on the increase of productivity per man hour, which averaged 3.2 per cent the past five years.

WAGES BOOST

The guideposts state that wages can be raised 3.2 per cent without price increases or larger profit margins for industry.

While conceding that the wage guidepost would be 3.6 per cent if 1965 figures were added and 1960 figures dropped, Ackley said, "We have never been wedded to the five-year rolling average."

Here are the major facts and figures in President Johnson's economic report sent to Congress today:

ROBERT G. THOMPSON
Center of controversy

Ex-Communist Burial Denied At Arlington

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department today refused to permit the burial in Arlington National Cemetery of the remains of Robert G. Thompson, a World War II medal winner who later turned Communist.

The Defense Department acted after a review of facts and laws covering the case. The matter had stirred up nationwide controversy and brought a caustic Moscow comment that refusing burial would be a mockery of an American patriot and Communist."

WON DSC

Thompson, who won the Distinguished Service Cross in New Guinea in 1943 was convicted in New York state under the Smith Act in 1949, along with 10 other Communist party leaders.

He was sentenced to three years for "conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the government of the United States." He later jumped bail, was caught in 1953 and sentenced to an additional four years.

He served five years and one month of the seven-year term.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas de B. Katzenbach said in a letter to Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus R. Vance that it was clear the Defense Department "can properly refuse to permit the interment of Thompson's remains in the Arlington National Cemetery."

ARMY ASSUMPTION

The Pentagon requested the Justice Department opinion after the Army had agreed to a request from Thompson's widow, Silvia, that his ashes be buried in Arlington.

Army lawyers had acted on the assumption that a veteran was entitled to burial in a national cemetery if survivors requested it.

Thompson died last Oct. 16 and his wife requested Arlington interment early this month. Before the Defense Department intervened, the Army had authorized the burial to take place next Monday.

The controversy over the burial spread from the Kremlin to Capitol Hill Wednesday, adding to the furor started by veterans groups protesting the request by Thompson's widow.

Thompson died at the age of 50. His remains were cremated.

Grand Jury Vows Full-Scale Probe Of Douglas Hiring

A full-scale investigation into hiring of John M. Douglas as county director of economic development was scheduled yesterday for next Wednesday by the entire 1965 Marin County Grand Jury.

George R. Scott, foreman, said the probe will start at 9 a.m. and is a consequence of a report yesterday by a special jury committee which has been studying the appointment.

The committee, composed of Harry M. Williams, Mrs. Ethyle M. Reindollar, and Scott, found "nothing wrong as far as Douglas, himself, is concerned," but wants to know why the county personnel commission was not consulted by the board of supervisors before selection was made.

Also sought, Scott declared, is explanation why Douglas, the sixth person on a recommended list of candidates, was selected, rather than one of the first five. Scott said his panel likewise is puzzled about a so-called "oral group" which he understands was appointed by Counnty Administer Alan Bruce to make recommendations for the job appointment. It was this group that submitted the list of recommendations on candidates.

THREE MEN

Scott said the committee, composed of three men, used county personnel commission stationary, but that Julius H. Selinger, commission chairman, appeared before the jury committee yesterday and said the commission had no part in the recommendations.

Members of the oral board were Rex T. Silvernale of San Rafael, manager of Hutchinson Co. at Greenbrae and president of the Marin County Development Assn.; Thomas Potter, vice president of Coldwell Banker and Co., San Francisco, and Henry Bostwick, general manager of the Santa Clara County Development Assn.

STORER APPROVES

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer also appeared before the panel yesterday, Scott said, and reported he had not seen the oral committee report, nor did he know who made it.

Scott said all supervisors will be asked to appear before the full jury at Wednesday's all-day session, as will Silvernale, Bostwick, Bruce, and Martin E. Nelson, personnel analyst in Bruce's office.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, who is on vacation, is expected back by then.

ROOSTER TOGETHERNESS JUST TOO NEIGHBORLY

Out of the night, two cocks together crow,
Cleaving the darkness with a silver bow.
—Edward Thomas

Mrs. C. R. Woodhouse of 337 Hazel Avenue, Mill Valley, told police yesterday she wished her neighbors' roosters would quit cleaving the darkness every 4 a.m.

Mrs. Woodhouse told police that two families on Rose Avenue have chickens, and some crow at 4 a.m. each day.

Some also fly into trees on the Woodhouse property, she said.

She asked police to do something about those chickens.

Russ Link Razor To U.S. Embassy

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow Radio charged today that American Newcomb Mott slashed his throat with a razor blade he received in a gift parcel from the U.S. embassy. The embassy said it still has no official notification from Soviet authorities on the "instrument of death," and said the radio account was "rather distorted."

The Moscow Radio broadcast said Mott, 27, "behaved violently" before he committed suicide aboard a train taking him to a Soviet labor camp as punishment for crossing the border into Russia accidentally.

An embassy spokesman said razor blades were delivered to Mott in a gift package from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott of Sheffield, Mass., and said the package contained medicines, toiletries and other items.

"But the package was forwarded to prison authorities who must have known what was in the package," the spokesman said.

The embassy, meanwhile, took possession of the body of Mott, a book company salesman arrested last Sept. 4. The body will be shipped home by plane tomorrow night.

(In Sheffield the elder Mott said earlier he and his wife packed a package for their son while they were in the U.S. Embassy after Mott was convicted of crossing the border illegally and sentenced to 18 months in prison.

(The father said it contained mostly warm clothing and that he honestly could not remember whether there were any razor blades but he was positive there was no straight razor. He said Soviet officials had allowed Newcomb to shave with a razor since the day he was arrested.

(Mott said they were not permitted to give Newcomb the package. Instead they handed the package to Russian guards in Newcomb's presence.)

A U.S. spokesman said until the official Soviet report on Mott's death is studied the United States will not accept or reject the Soviet account of Mott's suicide."

Candidates Popping Up In April Vote

Four candidates for city councils in three cities took out nomination papers today as the period for filing for city offices in April 12 elections opened.

In Novato, papers were taken out for Harley J. McAskill and Wayne Hathaway, who will seek council positions now held by Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Mrs. Lucile Cannon, both of whom have announced they will not run again.

In Larkspur, Mayor Neil R. Brixon announced he has reversed an earlier decision not to seek another term, and took out a petition of candidacy.

In Corte Madera, papers were taken out by Holmes S. Norville, president of the Marin Estates Home Owners Assn.

Johnson Presents Program To Halt Nuclear Spread

COMBINED AP & UPI

GENEVA—President Johnson called on the 17-nation disarmament conference today to negotiate a sweeping seven-point program designed to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons, halt the nuclear arms race and reduce nuclear stockpiles.

Johnson's message was read to the conference as Pope Paul VI, in an unprecedented move, appealed directly to the group to achieve "positive and concrete results" for the sake of peace so money now spent on arms could be spent for the benefit of humanity.

The conference resumed today after a four-month recess.

First item in President Johnson's program was a treaty to prevent the further proliferation of nuclear weapons, an appeal also voiced today by United Nations Secretary General Thant in a message to the conference.

Johnson's seven-point program calls for a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons to non-nuclear countries, demands international safeguards over peaceful nuclear activities, calls for the strengthening of international security organization and the establishment of a system of inspections.

The Johnson proposal also seeks an international agreement "not to increase, and indeed to reduce, nuclear materials in weapons stockpiles."

It calls for a freeze "on offensive and defensive strategic bombers and missiles designed to carry nuclear weapons.

Finally, it suggests exploration of ways for nations "to limit competition among themselves for costly weapons often sought for reasons of illusory prestige."

Bay Area's Gales Go To Southland Instead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The major storm front that unexpectedly bypassed Northern California yesterday was moving south along the coast and expected to veer inland near San Diego by nightfall, the Weather Bureau said today.

The bureau said yesterday heavy rains and high winds would hit Northern California later in the day. However, the storm failed to materialize, moving southward instead.

Kentucky Adopts Civil Rights Law

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — In the shadow of a towering bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln, Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt today signed into law the first civil rights bill to be enacted by a state of the traditional Old South.

The bill will take effect July 1. It bans discrimination in public places and in businesses with eight or more employees.

Viet War Steps Up With Cong Captures

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Allied forces reported today 91 Viet Cong were killed and at least 123 captured in their first sizable clashes since the end of the lunar New Year truce four days ago.

The South Vietnamese army's 9th Division struck the hardest single blow in a surprise attack on a Viet Cong training camp in the upper reaches of the Mekong Delta near the Cambodian border.

A government spokesman said 14 guerrillas were killed and 114 captured, including a training chief. The government troops also seized 117 suspects, many of them thought to be new recruits, and a batch of weapons and ammunition.

The 9th Division carried off the strike yesterday morning by sending a regiment of infantrymen into the camp 80 miles southwest of Saigon while another regiment in armored personnel carriers blocked the enemy retreat. Government casualties were reported light.

A South Korean platoon patroling Route 1, the main north-south highway, bumped into a force of about 70 Reds last night near Bong Son, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. In the fight 35 Viet Cong were killed and two captured while the Koreans had only light casualties, a spokesman said.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, operating in the same coastal plains as the Koreans, reported 27 Viet Cong killed and 78 suspects and eight tons of Communist rice stores seized.

The South Vietnamese government's official press agency reported that an armed Viet Cong platoon of 14 men, 18 to 30 years old, defected to the government at Phuoc Binh, 75 miles northwest of Saigon, last Thursday.

Hanoi Radio announced that the Viet Cong had released 15 South Vietnamese officers captured last year.

The broadcast said the men carried anti-American signs and shouted Viet Cong slogans on their way back to Quang Ngai, a provincial capital 30 miles south of Chu Lai.

Bond Vote Called

The West Marin School District board last night quickly and unanimously called for a bond election April 19 seeking voter approval of $246,000 worth of bonds for construction of an additional to the West Marin School in Point Reyes Station.

Senate Democrats Urge Brown To Run

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Twenty-two of the Senate's 23 Democrats today urged Gov. Edmund G. Brown to seek a third term and said his administration had the greatest record of accomplishment in history.

Brown, now winding up his second term, is expected to announce next Tuesday that he will be a candidate for re-election.

THINK OF THE COMMISSION!

Perhaps This Salesman Finally Saw Light Like Aurora Borealis

SVOLVAR, Norway (UPI)—the car dealer in this northern Norwegian town looked askance when the young man entered yesterday and asked the price of one of the autos on display.

The customer wore oilskins, rubber boots and dungarees and had a week's beard. His hands were dirty.

"How much?" he asked.

"About $2,500," the salesman said.

"Let me have 16 of them," the young man responded.

The salesman drew himself up. "Get out of here," he snapped. "This is no place for jokes."

Whereupon the young man left the shop, went to another car dealer across the street and paid in cash for 16 automobiles.

It turned out he was a crewmember aboard a Norwegian trawler having a successful season this year.

Recently the crew received $10,000 apiece as part of their pay and delegated the young man to buy a car for each of them.

Proposition 14 Appeal Scheduled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Supreme Court decided yesterday to look again at Proposition 14 which voided the state's anti-discriminating housing laws.

The proposition, approved by voters in 1964, is now Section 26 of Article 1 of the State Constitution.

Further arguments are to be heard in Sacramento March 21 through March 23.

In ruling, the court consolidated seven appeals.

In its present form, the proposition is holding up more than $21 million in urban redevelopment projects because of conflict with federal regulations.

Reopening was based on a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Jan. 17 that Macon, Ga., could not void constitutional restrictions on racial discrimination in a park by turning it over to private trustees.

Two Policemen Cleared In Kidnap Deaths

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police officers who fatally shot two alleged kidnappers at the Beverly Hills home of rubber millionaire Leonard Firestone have been cleared by a coroner's inquest jury.

The jury ruled yesterday that the death of William Calvin Bailey, 44, was justifiable homicide.

The death of George Henry Skalla, 25, was ruled accidental on the part of the officers.

Officers, tipped by Skalla, shot the two men near the front door of Firestone's home Jan. 13.

Bailey, struck by two shotgun blasts, died at the scene. Skalla, hit by a pair of ricocheting 38-caliber bullets, died a few hours later in a hospital.

Beverly Hills Det. Lt. B. L. Cork and Det. Sgt. Jack Mourning testified at the two-day hearing that they were waiting inside the house when Bailey came through the front door, a gun in his hand. They said they fired simultaneous shotgun blasts.

Dr. Charles Cade, who performed the autopsy on Bailey, testified he found 19 pellets in the body. He said the cause of death was perforation of the lungs and heart causing massive hemorrhaging.

Beverly Hills Det. Sgt. John L. Egger testifed that he fired three slugs from his 38-caliber revolver, and Dr. Cade said the autopsy on Skalla's body showed 38-caliber gunshot wounds of the neck and abdomen and resulting massive hemorrhaging.

Brown Fiscal Plan Held Smoke Screen

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Partisan strife enveloped the Democratic administration's fiscal plans today, a week and a half before the legislature convenes.

Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R - Tracy, charged Gov. Brown with throwing up "another fiscal smoke screen."

He referred to an administration plan, disclosed yesterday, to reduce by $100 million the amount of new taxes needed to balance Brown's 1966-67 budget.

Facing an election-year deficit of up to $300 million in the more than $4.5 billion spending program, the governor had this proposal for one-year relief for the state's money problems:

Eliminate the present accounting system of counting only the cash on hand when figuring how much money is available.

Instead, count tax revenue that will be received after the end of the fiscal year, too.

More than $100 million in revenue from the cigarette, sales and other taxes will not be received by the state until shortly after the end of the 1966-67 fiscal year. Now, it can't be counted when preparing the new budget, even though it was levied on sales made during that fiscal period.

The new proposal won't bring any more money, but will permit the administration to count the expected taxes when searching for revenues for the 1966-67 budget.

"No matter where you write the figures in the books, if the money isn't there you can't use it," said Monagan.

He said the "administration is spending a great deal more than they are taking in. That is a fact and no accounting system can hide that fact."

"This newest bid for re-election is just another in a long series of fiscal gimmicks," he said.

Roy Bell, assistant finance director, conceded the plan is "basically a one-shot deal," providing money to ease this year's taxload but no funds for future years.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, the legislature's nonpartisan fiscal adviser, said the state already is borrowing money to pay day - to - day expenses because of delayed tax collections. The General Fund repays the loans—made from special state funds — when the tax money comes in, but must pay interest for borrowing the money.

Post said the new plan "will increase the borrowing from special funds and if the special funds can't carry it, we will have to go to outside sources."

Brown To Name Two To Courts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today he will appoint Assemblymen Burt Henson, D-Ventura, and Richard J. Donovan, R-Chula Vista, to municipal judgeships after the 1966 budget session.

The governor said he made his announcement in advance of the appointments at the request of Henson and Donovan.

Both men would have had to file notices of intent to run for re-election by Feb. 23.

Knight Decides Not To Battle For Governor

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Goodwin J. Knight, governor of California from 1953 to 1958, refuses to seek a new term.

Knight, 69, said yesterday after meeting with supporters that there was great need for a united Republican party and "I sincerely feel I can best contribute to that vital Republican unity by not becoming a candidate."

"I will not take an active part in the primary election," Knight said. "But I shall endorse and support all Republican nominees in the final election."

Three men so far have announced they will enter the GOP primary: Former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, manufacturer William P. Patrick, of Tiburon, and actor Ronald Reagan.

Up For Senate

He also pledged to support state laws to protect San Francisco Bay from pollution and filling.

WINS BATTLE OF BULGE—Merrill W. Plaskow II of Indianapolis, Ind., uses a tape measure to illustrate the girth he lost in order to be accepted by the Army. Plaskow, 19, dieted down to 185 pounds from the 322 pounds he weighed a year ago so that he could enlist.

OPERATION A SUCCESS—Ronald Olliges, 20, is a Marine now. He's working at his father's tree surgery at Roselle, Ill., prior to starting basic training. He underwent hernia surgery so he could qualify for the Marine Corps. He wants to fight in Viet Nam. (AP Wirephotos)

THEY WANT TO FIGHT

Burning Of Draft Cards Leads To Enlist Efforts

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Angered by the draft card burnings and anti-Viet Nam demonstrations last October, two young Americans made remarkable efforts to try to get into the armed forces. One took off 130 pounds; the other underwent surgery. The following stories tell what has happened to them.)

By PATRICK E. O'KEEFE

ROSELLE, Ill. (AP) — A husky young landscaper who underwent a hernia operation so he could pass a Marine Corps physical examination is looking ahead to starting two years of active duty in March.

Ronald Olliges, 20, said he won't mind if he is sent to Viet Nam, and if the Marines put the choice to him, he'll volunteer for duty there. He was sworn into the Marines Jan. 6.

Olliges underwent the hernia operation Oct. 19 after the Marines told him he needed it to qualify.

If the United States wins in Viet Nam, he said, "it will stop them (the Communists) from trying it other places. Otherwise this thing will just keep on going and we'll have to fight them some place else."

The 6 - foot - 1 youth, who dropped from 220 to 205 pounds after the operation, said his first month of recuperation was quite painful. Even now, he said, "I get a shot of pain every once in awhile."

Joseph Olliges Sr., operator of a tree nursery in Roselle, a suburb of Chicago, said he and his wife approved of both the operation and the Marines for their son.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Merrill W. Plaskow II, who got into the Army by losing 130 pounds, is fighting the second biggest battle of his life.

Army chow.

Plaskow, who grew fat on his family's Philadelphia chain of luncheonettes, is beginning to feel renewed tugs at his belt.

"Army food is really very good," says Plaskow, trying to hold the line at a svelte 185.

"But the other day I got up to 188," he said.

Plaskow, 19, admits a three-pound gain is small potatoes for a confirmed chow hound who ballooned to 322 pounds a year ago.

"I was miserable," he said.

Today hs is a private studying journalism at the sprawling Defense Department Information School at Fort Benjamin Harrison. He hopes to specialize in Army radio and television, and perhaps someday become an actor.

Plaskow tried to enlist in the Army last February but was classified 4-F. A recruiting sergeant told him to come back when he weighed 196 pounds.

Plaskow told him, "I'll see you in October."

The youth wanted to join because he wanted to do something to counteract the draft card burning and other student demonstrations in protest of U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Plaskow showed up at the Philadelphia Army recruiting office eight months later, minus 130 pounds. He was inducted.

The trend in free calendars, sent out at year's end by American firms, is toward modern design and fine art.

He also has been a director of the Kiwanis Club and elder-trustee of the Novato Presbyterian Church.

He is assistant vice president of Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and has worked for First Bank and Central Valley National Bank.

Hathaway is a native of Rome, N.Y., and was graduated from University of Washington in Seattle. He and his wife, Ruby, and their three children, Lynn, Claire and Lois, live at 75 Crescent Lane.

Warrant Charges Indecent Exposure

Charles Edward Koontz, 45, of 1393 Donna Street, Novato, was arrested by Novato police and booked into Marin County Jail last night with bail set at $2,000 on a Solano County warrant charging indecent exposure.

Koontz, who has a record of previous arrests for indecent exposure in southern California, exposed himself nude on Grant Avenue in Novato in August, 1961, according to Police Chief Robert Di Grazia. In 1962, he was found guilty of failure to register as a sex deviate, according to Novato police records.

Low Income Group To Get Free Counsel

The county-wide advisory committee on the "war on poverty" last night approved an agreement with the Marin County Legal Aid Society whereby free legal services will be provided low-income families.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who is also president of the legal aid society, said the federal program will provide $70,000 a year for support of attorneys and staff.

Part-time offices will be maintained in Marin City, Novato, San Rafael and West Marin. The staff will include one attorney at $12,000 a year, two at $10,000 each, two legal secretaries at $5,000 each, and an executive secretary at $6,000.

The proposal is still to be approved by the Marin City Action Committee, Maloney said.

Innocent Verdict In Attack Trial

Four Marin City youths, ages 14 to 17, were found innocent yesterday in Marin County Juvenile Court of statutory rape of a 15-year-old Tamalpais High School student last Dec. 8.

Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said conflicting prosecution testimony during the two-day hearing was the basis for his decision. The girl, an acquaintance of the quartet, told sheriff's officers she was kidnapped in the school parking lot, then taken to a Daly City home and raped.

Deputies said the girl's mother learned of the alleged assault and notified them. A physician's examination, however, showed no evidence of force or shock, they added.

Navy Officers See Net Depot

One hundred and eight Navy reserve officers toured the Bureau of Mines' marine mineral technology center facilities at the old naval set depot in Tiburon yesterday afternoon.

The group, part of the 13th annual two-week reserve research seminar held at Treasure Island, earlier viewed the Army Corps of Engineers' bay model in Sausalito.

J. Leslie Goodier, chief of the systems development division at the Tiburon center, will speak to the group on marine mineral mining at Treasure Island on Tuesday.

Bernice H. Kelley, 52, of 55 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, has filed a $100,000 suit in Marin Superior Court for injuries allegedly suffered in a two-car collision last Dec. 12 on Highway 101.

Mrs. Kelley charges negligent driving by Barbara Jean Kovacs 24, of 2466 Center Road, Novato, resulted in the Kovacs' vehicle colliding with the car driven by Mrs. Kelley near the Corte Madera overpass.

She suffered head, neck and shoulder injuries, the suit alleges.

'SPUDNIK' PLANNED — Don Foster, Space Defense Corp. scientist in Birmingham, Mich., today holds a circular piece of sprouting potato, similar to slices the firm and NASA hope will solve a biological mystery. The instrument shown will measure the amount of carbon dioxide exhaled and oxygen consumed by potato in orbit. (AP Wirephoto)

Space-Traveling Potato May Unravel Puzzle

DETROIT (AP) — A common potato that sells for pennies a pound is going to be carried into space soon by a multimillion-dollar rocket to search for what scientists hope will be a key to a biological mystery.

Hoping to discover that key, Space Defense Corp. in suburban Birmingham, Mich., in conjunction with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, plans to orbit the potato within the next two years.

The high-flying potato project has been christened "Spudnik."

Bruce Pinc, a biologist with Space Defense Corp., says "the possibilities of this thing are enormous. If Spudnik accomplishes what we expect, its potential in the study of the entire area of biological science is staggering."

Spudnik is designed to probe what Pinc calls the "riddle of biorythmicity, one of the five most important questions in biological science".

Pinc said biorythmicity describes the tendency of living organisms to become active at regular, predictable intervals.

Pinc said one school of thought contends clock-like mechanisms inside the cell control activity and that no outside forces influence stimulation of cells.

Another view says outside forces such as the sun, moon and gravity dictate variations in organic activity. The greatest problem in attempting to prove the theory has been the near impossibility of eliminating such outside forces in experimentation.

"By taking advantage of space we get away from the exertion of all earth-bound forces," Pinc said. "We have a virtually empty environment, and if standard biorythmicity occurs we can be relatively sure the cause is inside the cell."

But why a potato?

Pinc says, "What's more simple than a potato? It is one of the most homogeneous masses existent."

Pinc and Dan Foster, another scientist, says results of their tests so far tend to back up the theory of outside influence on cellular activity. But they're not drawing any conclusions yet.

Homeowners Decry Dearth Of Hub Council Candidates

San Anselmo Homes Assn. members last night commented on a dearth of candidates for election to the San Anselmo city council, then appointed a committee to seek out candidates and interview them on city issues.

The committee will report to the association's board of directors before the closing date for filing of candidates, reported Mrs. Anne West, association vice president.

The homes association also decided to hold another membership meeting seven days after the candidacy filings close, so candidates may appear and give their views.

Association members also voted to ask two members of the San Anselmo library board to appear before them and give pro and con arguments on the city joining the county library system. The city council this month vetoed a library board proposal for the city to join the system.

Everett Farley announced that the association and the Fairfax Citizens Advisory Committee will hold a panel discussion on proposed routes for the east-west highway Feb. 17 at 8 p.m. at Isabel Cook School.

Blood Donated To Aid Child In Operation

Firemen from all over the county and a Fairfax policeman joined this week to donate blood for 15-month-old Juliana Wedemeyer, the daughter of Larkspur fireman Bud Wedemeyer.

Juliana needed nine pints of blood for an open heart operation which was successfully performed Monday at Presbyterian Medical Center in San Francisco.

Learning of Juliana's need, firemen from the Sausalito, Kentfield, Fairfax, Larkspur and Treasure Island fire departments, and the policeman donated a total of 36 pints of blood.

"It was just great the way they all responded to her need," said Wedemeyer today. "We're going to donate the blood which Juliana doesn't need to another pediatric heart patient."

Warrant Is Issued For Forgery Suspect

Warrant for arrest of Norene Creighton, 24, also known as Evelyn Isabel McCormick, was issued yesterday by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court following her failure to appear for plea entry.

She is charged with two counts of forgery and one of passing a worthless check. New bail for the suspect, of 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Sausalito, was set at $2,750.

Exchange Plan Shows Students There Are Other Ways Of Living

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"It ain't necessarily so.

"That is, it's not necessarily so the way you think and what you have always been used to. Your school system is not the only one. Your political system is not the only one — your newspapers neither."

This explains in part the feelings of Ulrich Zahlten and Karin Reinke, two German participants in the Youth for Understanding conference being held this week at the Ralston L. White Memorial Retreat in Mill Valley.

Representatives from 14 countries are holding workshops and hearing reports on work of the volunteer organization which promotes study abroad for students of high school age.

The first such conference to include leaders from all over the world, it will close with a reception at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Broadmoor Congregational Church, San Leandro.

Zahlten and Miss Reinke represent a romantic aspect of Youth for Understanding. Zahlten was an exchange student 12 years ago and Miss Reinke, eight years ago, both studying in Michigan. Zahlten was on the selection committee that selected Miss Reinke to go abroad. They plan to marry.

They reside in Hamburg, where they operate the Youth for Understanding office, handling selections and placing American students who go to Germany. Their work is volunteer. Zahlten is studying law and Miss Reinke to be a teacher.

"We realize," Miss Reinke said, "that you can't become aware of other countries' ways just by reading about them. You have to live there. But even this doesn't always work, because you tend to apply your own patterns to the new environment."

"You've got to be sufficiently mature to be able to perceive these things and evaluate them," Zahlten continued. "And you must still be sufficiently young and open-minded to become a part of the foreign environment, which is the value of the teenager. His mind isn't made up." (Students who participate range in age from 15 to 18.)

"Today you have to live internationally," Zahlten added.

Mrs. Rachel Andresen of Ann Arbor, Mich., home office of Youth for Understanding, is director of the conference. She said the organization has been in operation since 1951 and has in the last two years been reaching into the northern California area.

The board decided Jan. 15, she said, to concentrate for the next few years on Latin America. The choice was made because of a great deal of interest in Latin America, because of the general policy of the government, and partly because of a request from the U.S. State Department, with which Youth for Understanding cooperates.

Funds to support the program, which this year had 66 foreign students in northern California, come primarily from families and community organizations, Mrs. Andresen said.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter S. Press of San Rafael, participants at the meeting, were active in securing the retreat, Mrs. Andresen explained. "We like to get out and away and have some privacy. This is a beautiful location."

Also participating from Marin County are Dr. and Mrs. Henry Kuizenga of San Anselmo and Rev. and Mrs. James P. Sherman of Fairfax.

Sewer Project

Directors of Las Gallinas Sanitary District, in an adjourned meeting last night, accepted completion of the sewer works expansion project done by Arntz Construction Co. of San Francisco for $402,547.23.

School Volunteer Conference Set

More than 30 local school administrators, teachers, and volunteers will be discussion leaders in Saturday's conference on "The School, the Teacher, and the Volunteer," sponsored by the Volunteer Bureau of Marin.

Topics for discussion in the workshop to be held at the College of Marin are methods of organizing volunteer programs, and the responsibilities of school boards, school staffs and citizen groups in the volunteer programs.

Among educators who will help lead the conference, which will run from 8:45 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., are: Dr. Bert C. Corona, superintendent of San Rafael School District; Mrs. D. F. Deedy, president of College of Marin Board of Trustees; and Mrs. Betty Goerke of the Sausalito pre-school volunteer program.

By 1915, there were more than two million automobiles, trucks and buses in use in the United States.

Airport Information Session Is Set

A workshop session of the Marin County Aviation Commission will be held at the Civic Center at 8 p.m. today to prepare supplemental information for supervisors.

Commission chairman Benjamin R. Ostlind called the session after supervisors Tuesday requested backup information of the commission's recommendation to proceed with development of the county airport at Novato under Federal Aviation Agency standards.

ORPHANS AWAIT DASH TO SAFETY

A Vietnamese nun holds a small orphan as they wait for a helicopter to evacuate them from the village of Mang Bang in Phu Yen province, after it was reported that the Viet Cong were planning to attack. Inmate Eating, Not Beating Is Testimony

The first of a trio of San Quentin defendants to testify in their assault trial in Marin Superior Court yesterday afternoon declared they were all calmly eating lunch in the prison's north dining hall when the beating and stabbing occurred.

James Schreckengost, who with his brother, John, and Russell Dillard is accused of assault on another inmate while serving life sentences, testified they left the institution's paint shop at 11:45 a.m. several minutes before the attack occurred.

He said they walked down an alley to the dining hall, had their meal, and were back out into a main yard at 12:05 p.m. when he first learned the inmate, Myford G. Duncan, 24, had been attacked in the paint shop and saw prison personnel carrying Duncan out.

The other two defendants were with him throughout the luncheon, he testified.

Duncan was severely beaten, then allegedly stabbed in the neck with a screwdriver and dumped in a paint rag barrel on Jan. 21, 1965. He survived.

The lengthy trial, which started Dec. 27, is expected to conclude next week, with 15 defense witnesses yet to testify.

If convicted, the defendants then face a penalty phase trial.

Mill Valley Chamber Plan Annual Event

Theme of the annual Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce installation dinner to be held Feb. 9 at Sabella's restaurant is "business promotion in southern Marin," board President Charles J. Francis said today.

Details for the dinner and program, starting at 7:30 p.m., were discussed by the board yesterday at its noon meeting. Speaker, yet to be selected, is to be an expert on business promotion and marketing, Francis said.

Many Schools To Close For Day

Pupils in many Marin County public schools will get the day off tomorrow while their teachers attend annual teaching institutes.

San Rafael schools, declaring a special work afternoon for teachers, will send pupils home for the afternoon. Dismissal hours will range from 12:25 to 1:20 p.m.

Only schools which will hold classes as usual tomorrow will be those in the Dixie, Lagunnitas, Novato, Tomales Bay, Tomales High School and West Marin districts.

Mouse Bites Child

Roger Ralsten, 9, of 93 Granada Drive, Corte Madera, was bitten by a pet field mouse yesterday. Police advised his mother, Mary Ann Ralsten, to have the mouse checked for rabies.

Diplomat Says Kashmir Crisis Looks Brighter

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Selection of Mrs. Indira Gandhi as prime minister of India offers hope for a solution of the Kashmir dispute between that country and Pakistan, a veteran diplomat told a Marin group today in Terra Linda.

Henry W. Spielman, 54, a foreign service officer just returned from Pakistan, addressed the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club's weekly meeting at the Oakview Club in San Rafael.

With the foreign service since 1942, Spielman has spent all but four years of his time in Asia. The four years were spent in Washington, D.C., where he continued to specialize in Asian affairs.

His remarks made it clear that no discussion of Pakistan is possible without frequent references to India, which sets squarely between the two halves of Pakistan.

Among these references was a discussion of how it felt to be awakened by Indian bombs when the United States Embassy branch in Rawalpindi, Pakistan, was bombed during the brief but hot war over Kashmir last fall.

"We only got gombed once, in the first night of the fighting," recalled Spielman. "I can't say exactly how many bombs they dropped, but I personally know of five. One knocked me out of bed."

Spielman, in charge of the branch embassy, cabled Indian officials in Delhi, asking them to leave the embassy out of their target areas in future raids. It was not bombed again.

Pakistan's 100 million people are divided between West Pakistan, about the size of California and Nevada, which has 48 million, and East Pakistan, about the size of Louisiana. They are 1,000 miles apart.

Formally called "the Islamic Republic of Pakistan," the land has its minority of Hindus, just as India has a relatively small population of Moslems. The Hindus in Pakistan, Spielman said, are "almost a hostage in some respects."

He traced the history of U.S. aid to Pakistan, which started with President Harry S. Truman's Point Four program in 1959 and reached a turning point when this country found its military aid supporting both sides of last fall's India-Pakistan fighting.

American aid, except for food, was quickly cut off, which brought the fighting to a halt.

With three official languages (Bengali in the east, Urdu in the west and English for official documents) and more dialects than anyone has tried to count, Pakistan is at least 50 years from solving its language problems, Spielman predicted.

As for a lasting peace with India, the diplomat said friction will continue until there is a lasting settlement of the Kashmir question.

Choice of Mrs. Gandhi may speed this, he said.

"She is probably the strongest leader India could have selected," he said. "It took an Asian country to pick a woman for its leader."

Mrs. Gandhi, he added, is more likely than any other Indian leader to guide the ruling Congress Party into Kashmir solution.

"It will probably be settled within the next 18 months—I hope," he said guardedly.

Asked if residents of both India and Pakistan see the Chinese as "just waiting on the border," Spielman said Pakistanis are less fearful than Indians because a high plateau protects them from mainland China.

But he agreed that China's policy has been one of "stirring up troubled waters" between India and Pakistan.

Auto Yards Face Ouster Hearings In San Rafael

Acting on city council directions, the San Rafael Planning Commission Tuesday night set a Feb. 8 hearing in whether to revoke the permits of two auto wrecking yards on Jordan Street.

Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr., however, insisted that it be done right.

Warning his fellow commissioners that they would be "acting in a quasi-judicial capacity that night, making findings of fact," Robbins said he wanted a court reporter and the power to swear witnesses. He was assured that City Atty. David Menary would attend.

The permits were issued in August to Richard Isi and in September to R. L. Thompson and L. P. Aquilino. Each was issued by the council on an appeal of the commission's denial.

Councilmen asked for the hearing on revoking the permits after a Jordan Street property owner complained that the lots were not complying with conditions imposed by the council.

Alexander Graham Bell experimented with rocket propulsion, built giant man-carrying kites and headed a group that designed and flew pioneering airplanes.

She Divorces, All Hope Gone

CHICAGO (AP) — Julia Michuda, 60, has given up hope that her husband would come back. She got a divorce. Her husband, Stephen, 63, a retired bridge engineer of Chicago, lives in Las Vegas, Nev.

"Why did you wait so long to sue?" asked Circuit Judge Robert L. Massey.

"I had always hoped he would return, but after 28 years I guess he won't," Mrs. Michuda said. They married June 6, 1926, and he left March 1, 1937.

Chamber Plans Fireworks In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce yesterday approved a contract under which it will sponsor the city's July 4 fireworks display this year. The program was previously sponsored by the now-defunct Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Commission.

Chamber president Beverly A. Sill said the program will be paid for with chamber funds, along with a $350 donation from the town of Corte Madera.

The chamber also adopted a $3,700 budget and approved bylaws for the county Chamber of Commerce. The bylaws state the county chamber's board of directors will be composed of two representatives from each local Chamber of Commerce and the Marin visitors bureau and 15 other businessmen.

Sill reported that when remodeling of the Corte Madera town hall is complete, the Corte Madera Sanitary District will move to that building and the town will give the chamber the present sanitary district office rent-free.

Bel Marin Channel Delays Criticized

By FRANK FARRARA

Bel Marin Keys home owners made it clear last night they would be a lot happier if they had a deep water channel to San Pablo Bay.

More than 60 residents crowded the former sales office at Bel Marin Keys Boulevard and Montego Key in Ignacio for election of officers of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Assn.

Gerry Kroneberger of 61 Montego Key was elected president in a runoff after the first balloting resulted in an 18-to-18 tie with Roger A. Hicks, outgoing secretary. A third candidate, Stanley C. Rakeman, received 10 votes on the first ballot. In the runoff, Kroneberber won 24 to 21.

Carl Boivie was elected vice president; Mrs. Lee Hudson, secretary, and Howard Bean, treasurer. Elected to the executive committee were Anthony Sarganis, William C. Fries and Raymond Hosking.

But it wasn't long until the conversation got to the number one topic in the area: lack of a deep water channel, which prevents residents from using their boats.

Comments came from Samual L. Wright, vice president of Fox and Carskadon, announced that firm is now the exclusive real estate agent for Bel Marin Keys.

Fries, of 308 Montego Key, said when he moved into the development, he expected to be able to get his boat "in and out," but took it out once and got grounded.

Wright asked how many persons purchased their homes "with deep water access as their motivation." Practically everyone raised a hand.

Anthony Ricci, outgoing president, said when he purchased his home he was told there would be six foot of water "at all times, even at low water," and dredging was promised last July.

Ricci charged that developer Jack H. West was supposed "to come up with a dredging plan, but he's stalling."

Wright said there are 140 families living in Bel Marin Keys, 170 unsold homes, and 130 developed lots without buildings.

There were comments that some effort has been made to complete dredging of the channel and that the sale of more homes would provide money to complete the dredging job.

Hicks said that "for $20,000, we could get a deep water channel to the Petaluma Creek channel."

Hicks warned, "If we're not careful, we'll end up with the community services district paying for the dredging, and we'll all get a whopping assessment."

The permit issued to M. P. Finley Co. to dredge to Petaluma Creek channel is valid until the end of next year, Hicks reported.

The homeowners association reported that a petition with 36 signatures has been sent to the State Public Utilities Commission urging toll-free calls between Ignacio and San Rafael.

Another letter, to the Marin County sheriff's office, protesting drag racing between Bel Marin Keys and Highway 101, and a letter to the county public works department asking for street lights along that stretch of county road.

The association voted to join the Marin County Federation of Improvement Club at a cost of $12.50 for annual dues.

A Candidate Shows Up For Bel Marin District

Roger A. Hicks of 40 Montego Key, Ignacio, announced last night he plans to be a candidate for director of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District, but he's in the dark as to how to go about it.

Jack H. West, his wife, Leona West, and son Jack H. West Jr., developers of Bel Marin Keys, have been directors since the district was formed in 1961.

Hicks, outgoing secretary of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Assn., said he wrote the directors asking the date of the next district election, the date of the last election, the date nominations are open, and the time and date of the next CSD meeting.

"I haven't heard a thing," Hicks said last night at a meeting of the association.

Hicks urged other residents to consider running for CSD directors, pointing out that the district has more authority than a homeowners association, and can undertake such projects as recreational facilities and street lighting.

Hicks also said he wants to know when, where, how and why community services district funds have been spent.

During the last fiscal year the tax rate was nine cents per $100 assessed valuation. It was boosted to 67 cents this fiscal year.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the district, reported Tuesday that the election has been set for April 12, when Mrs. West's term will expire. "I doubt if she will run again and I believe the other directors will resign," Jordan said.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said filing for an April 12 election would open today. However, the board could vote to consolidate the district election with the June 7 primary, he said.

Policeman Faces Robbery Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal grand jury charged an Oakland policeman yesterday with attempting to rob a branch of the Bank of America.

Arnold Bray, 25, a plainclothes officer, also was charged with endangering the life of teller Suki Bullock by using a loaded .22-caliber derringer in the Jan. 20 holdup attempt.

The indictment came after police said Bray changed a $20 bill at Mrs. Bullock's counter, pulled the pistol and then demanded more money. He left without getting it when Mrs. Bullock declared she was short of funds.

Hot And Cold

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U. S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 34 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn. The highest reported yesterday was 80 degrees at Homestead and Coral Gables, Fla.

Civic Council To Send Annexation Observer

Members of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs agreed last night to send an observer to the meeting of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission next Thursday when annexation of 54 acres to San Rafael will be discussed.

The property is at the southwest corner of Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road, and is within the Terra Linda Community Services District and Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District.

Chairman Naphtali H. Knox of the civic affairs council, said the districts are worried over loss of assessed value, but there appeared to be little that could be done to prevent annexation to the city when owners of the land wish it.

The council does not take stands on local issues, Knox said, but members agreed to observe the hearing, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Civic Center.

Council members last night also agreed that taxes and the county budget should be topics for discussion at the annual meeting on Feb. 23.

Month's Living Cost Rise Largest Since Korean War

WASHINGTON (AP)— Living costs jumped four-tenths of 1 per cent ast month, the largest December rise since the Korean War year of 1950.

The new figures made 1965 the fastest paced, in terms of the annual increase, in seven years.

Commissioner Arthur Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the kind of inflationary pressures that built up during the Korean War are not expected in 1966 unless the Viet Nam fighting is sharply escalated.

"Nevertheless, we should not minimize the dangers of price inflation nor the precautions which will be necessary to avoid it," he said.

Higher food costs were mainly responsible for the increase in the bureau's consumer price index to 111.0.

This means it took $11.10 to purchase typical consumer items such as food, clothing, housing, transportation and medical care that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

Headache Interrupts Triangle Killing Trial

MIAMI (UPI) —Candace (Candy) Mossler was led out of the courtroom where she is being tried for murder today, suffering nausea and a migraine headache like the one she had the night her millionaire husband was slain.

Candace and her handsome nephew and alleged lover Melvin Lane Powers, are on trial for the June 30, 1964 murder of Jacques Mossler. Mossler was slain in the middle of the night while, according to testimony at previous hearing, Mrs. Mossler and her children were out mailing letters and going to a hospital to get treatment for one of Candy's migraine headaches.

ICE CREAM TIME — The weather makes no difference to a youngster when he has a chance for an ice cream cone. Just because it was 13 degrees at Madison, Wis., didn't mean Greg Thompson, 6, would forego the treat—besides it doesn't melt as fast in winter. (UPI Telephoto)

Marin City Youths Face Burglary Charge

Two Marin City juveniles, one 15 and one 16, were booked at juvenile hall yesterday on burglary charges after they reportedly were found tampering with a coin box in the self service laundry of an apartment house at 5 Rodeo Avenue.

A resident of the area called Sausalito police at 12:03 p.m. saying she noticed the youths loitering around the apartment. Officers found extensive damage to the coin box, where efforts had been made to pull it from the wall. The coin box had not been opened.

Newly Named Commissioner Is Fire Board Secretary

Henry V. Alvernaz, appointed to the three-man Novato Fire District Board last week by Marin County supervisors, last night was named secretary of the board at its meeting in Fire Station 1 on Grant Avenue.

He fills the vacancy created by resignation of Robert E. Campbell, who quit to go to work for the district as a fireman Jan. 12.

Fire Chief George Cavallero reported the county counsel had advised him that the district cannot consolidate its April 19 election with that of the City of Novato on April 12.

He also reported that filings for the position on the board now held by Peter J. Ferrarese, chairman, would open on Feb. 3 and close at noon on Feb. 24. Ferrarese will seek re-election.

The board authorized purchase of a $93 tape recorder to record the meetings.

Tree Uprooted

Mrs. Louise Burnham reported to Mill Valley police yesterday afternoon that someone pulled a "very valuable" maple tree out by the roots at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club, apparently Friday night, and that people are dumping debris, including beer cans and liquor bottles, on club property. Mrs. Burnham, who lives at 11 Blithedale Terrace, is club president.

Each fall, small land birds of more than 200 species fly southward from the United States and Canada, says the National Geographic Society.

Mayor Brixon Says He'll Be Candidate

NEIL R. BRIXON
Reverses decision

Larkspur Mayor Neil R. Brixon, 44, announced today he will seek election to another term on the city council.

Brixon, who lives at 320 North Almanor in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur, said he changed his mind last night and decided to make the race because:

"I think I might be some help to the city in the transition period when first we will be without a city manager and when we will have a new city manager.

OWN BUSINESS

Brixon, who owns Elite Rug Cleaners in Larkspur, was appointed to the council in September, 1960. He was elected to a four-year term in 1962.

Brixon said he had decided not to seek re-election before Larkspur City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper announced his resignation, effective Feb. 28. The mayor said the city will be without a manager for at least 60 days during March and April.

"I live and work in Larkspur and have been in and out of the city offices each day, working with the manager," he said. "I feel that now I may be of more help to the city, because of this experience, than ever before."

Brixon said he would like to be in office when the new manager is chosen, then be there to help him work into the job.

LISTS TASKS

Brixon also listed these other tasks he said will be important for the city council in the coming term:

1. To continue to work for acquisition of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way to replace Magnolia Avenue as the major north-south route through town.

2. To put into effect the boundary adjustment agreement reached this week between Larkspur and Corte Madera and explain it to the people first hand.

3. To move sensibly and systematically toward added fire protection in the Greenbrae section of the city.

4. To get approval and participation of property owners on industrial land east of the highway in a drainage system for that area.

5. To implement some major construction work on city streets.

Silverthorne Denies Keeping Banking Fees

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former banker Don Silverthorne, accused of pocketing $270,000 in loan fees, has testified that he in fact received at least $750,000 in loan fees.

But these loan fees, he said yesterday, although deposited in his personal bank account, a went for the good of the bank.

He estimated that he paid more than $262,000 to money brokers for new deposits in the bank, and put another $182,000 directy into the bank's earning account.

The rest went for employe gifts and "pubic relations," including $500 that Silverthorne claimed he gave San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley for liquor. The mayor, however, denied that he ever received the $500, which Silverthorne called a "political contribution."

Asked if he ever kept any money for himself, Silverthorne said "no."

Asked if he ever intended to defraud the bank, he asked "Why would I defraud my own bank? I was only interested in building it up."

The banker made general denials of wrongdoing to each of the 14 counts against him in the indictment, but was hazy about specific details of some of the transactions.

He said that the closing of the bank had cost him "everything I had."

Silverthorne and William S. Bennett are being tried before a federal jury of seven women and five men.

Official Takes Responsibility For Book Action

The recommendation to drop Jack Kerouac's novel "On the Road" from an honors English class at Terra Linda High School was made by Asst. Supt. Mitchell L. Voydat, not the five-member committee which reviewed the book.

Voydat said his recommendation was "decidedly influenced by the committee," but was his own.

After complaints were filed by parents against the book, a committee consisting of Voydat and four other staff members reviewed it. However, there was "no attempt" at reaching a consensus of the committee, Voydat said.

At a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education Tuesday, Voydat said, "I do not find sufficient literary and human values to counterbalance the objectionable qualities" of the novel.

The Independent-Journal yesterday erroneously attributed this to Voydat's report of the committee review.

Parks Portion Of Plan Approved

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved the parks and recreation element of the Novato master plan as recommended by the parks and recreation commission.

Walter Horschler, Marin County senior planner, presented the plan to the commission.

This phase of the master plan will be presented to the Novato City Council at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Monday.

The commission approved a general plan by Wilsey, Ham and Blair, consultants, for the Anderson-Rowe property of 360 acres between Entrada Drive, Highway 101 and South Novato Boulevard.

Meeting Cancelled

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission meeting scheduled for last night was cancelled for lack of a quorum. Commissioners Robert W. Riboli, Merritt J. Wieder and William Ford were sbsent.

Senators Belabored On Labor Filibuster

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate was chided today for wasting time on "right to work" repeal legislation while solutions to labor problems such as New York's crippling transit strike are allowed to languish in committee.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., complained about the situation in a prepared speech. He said, "Congress is made to look ridiculous" when such a bill gets attention and more important labor-management problems "go unnoticed."

The "right to work" repealer, a top-priority measure for organized labor, is now mired in a filibuster aimed at blocking its consideration by the Senate.

President Johnson has given his backing to the proposal, which would remove section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act. The section gives states authority to ban labor contracts providing for compulsory union membership. Nineteen states have done so.

The House passed the bill last year, but Senate opponents under the leadership of GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen blocked it. Dirksen is leading the anti-repeal forces again this year.

Water Board Told Of Tam Rail Foes

William R. Seeger, Marin Municipal Water District general manager, told the district board yesterday that letters received by the district have been 19 to 3 against the proposed railroad and restaurant on Mount Tamalpais.

Seeger said railroad promoter Frank Allen of San Anselmo had said he would appear at yesterday's meeting to make a formal request that district directors set a date for a public hearing on the railroad proposal.

Allen did not appear. Board president William A. Marcus suggested that perhaps the board "should assume that the gentlemen have given up on their plan." Directors decided not to set a public hearing, "at least at this time."

Asked later if his group has abandoned plans for the railroad, Chester F. Gilbert of Kent Woodlands, Allen's partner, said: "Absolutely not. As for the letters, I personally have received mail running 19-1 in favor of the railroad. We certainly intend to ask for a public hearing, but we're not ready yet."

One letter in opposition to the revival of the railroad was from the board of directors of the Marin Conservation League, Seeger said.

The letter said that on Jan. 17, league directors voted unanimously that a railroad and restaurant on the mountain were "incompatible with the pre-eminent values of Mount Tamalpais as a natural area. It asked that the project not be approved "under any conditions."

The water board denied a request of San Anselmo School District that it not be charged $700 in water storage fees for service to Red Hill School, which will open in September.

School trustee Robert W. Corlett argued there will be no additional drain on the water system as pupils at the new school will be transferring out of Isabel Cook School so there will be a drop in water use there.

The water board offered to study water use when the new school opens and refund the money if school district predictions are correct.

The Marin Municipal Water Dist. Board Also:

1. Accepted construction of the district's new Corte Madera yard as complete and agreed to purchase furniture and hire a custodial service for the offices there. The district will move into the new yard the weekend of Feb. 12, Seeger said.

2. Agreed to purchase 19,000 square feet of property for the Alto water tank site from Mannel Gomez of Mill Valley for $7,500.

3. Heard from Seeger that the district is inaugurating a beautification program by landscaping areas around its water tanks and pumping stations.

4. Agreed to call for bids on three pickup trucks and a car and on roofing of the Ross reservoir.

5. Agreed to a contract with the A. J. Bresnan Co. for foundation pads for four new water tanks.

6. Agreed to apply to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for natural gas service at the district water treatment plant in the San Geronimo Valley.

7. Agreed to send Seeger to a seminar on federal legislation with the American Water Works Assn. in Washington in March.

8. Agreed to pay $12 for each employee Seeger names to take a management training course through the mail.

9. Agreed to purchase service saddles from Smith-Blair Inc. for $1,248, and tapping sleeves from Rich Manufacturing Co. for $2,850.70.

Narcotics Agent Slaps At Lynch

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The director of the Federal Narcotics Bureau in California says Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch was unfair in stating that the bureau is not doing its share to curb mounting dope traffic in the state.

Agent Fred Dick contends that state narcotics officers have hindered federal authorities in not turning over information on narcotics sources in Mexico.

"As it was, federal agents turned over for Mexican prosecution last year 22 cases involving 48 defendants and 986 grams of heroin," Dick said Wednesday. "These were not pushers. These were prime suppliers."

Boy Cut When Bike Hits Pickup Truck

Six-year-old Alec M. Giddings of Resaca Way, Forest Knolls, was cut on the left leg when the bicycle he was riding hit the side of a pickup truck at Montezuma and Juarez avenues, Forest Knolls, at 4:25 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said the truck was driven by Robert F. Shaw, 38, of Montezuma Avenue, Forest Knolls. The Giddings boy was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Football Shoulders Make Big Yoke In Parisian Showings

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — The football influence took over the Paris spring fashion parade today.

Shoulders worthy of any halfback jutted out 2½ inches on either side of the willowy mannequins showing the latest styles of designer J. F. Crahay at the house of Jeanne Lanvin.

The House of Dior tried football shoulders three seasons ago but they died on the vine: Women just didn't buy them.

Today, Crahay decided to try to depose the narrow silhouette that has been in power for years by adding wide shoulders, not through padding but via a "horseshoe" cut, to his clothes.

The shoulders appeared even wider through the use of yokes of different colors or beading that extended across half of that squared-off shoulder.

A BLACK MINK coat for summer (well, it can be pretty chilly in Paris in July) had a white canvas yoke from the bustline up, extending nearly to the end of the shoulder.

A white linen suit had a dark green yoke inset across the top, while the edge of the shoulder and the arm remained white. Even his sheath sleeveless daytime dresses in black linen or print had a square of fabric on the shoulder for the wide effect.

WHITE NUBBY silk afternoon dresses with long sleeves had the football shoulders. So did coats, with the sleeves and shoulder sometimes stitched vertically or even divided, half one color and half another.

Evening capes looked like "sentry capes" with that broad shoulder, especially one in white mohair with rows of wool fringe and silver spangles.

Some of Lanvin's wealthy private clients at the showing appeared to like Crahay's football shoulders. But whether store buyers will whisk them up for the mass market remains to be seen.

The growing suspicion that faces are going out of style gained impetus with the collection shown at the House of Jeanne Lanvin.

AT LANVIN'S, the broad-shouldered misses tied chiffon hoods under their chins, hoods that fitted close to the noses, with sunglasses over them. Wide-brimmed hats dipped down over the forehead.

On the other hand, what remained to be seen of the face was sometimes eulogized by crisp white halos that framed them.

Brawny broad shoulders were emphasized and re-emphasized in suits built square and padded there, and even sleeveless dresses.

HIDDEN BEAUTY

Designer Jules Crahay of the Paris house of Jeanne Lanvin hid the model's face behind a hood fitted close to the nose and topped by sun glasses and clothed her in a broad shouldered, brawny appearing two-piece dress topped by a tie scarf at the spring showing in Paris yesterday. The dress is white with a contrasting black yoke. (AP Wirephoto sketch)

Marin Mardi Gras Candidate Plans Movie Matinee Benefit

By MOLLY MARIN

Now that Mardi Gras Queen candidate Mrs. Stevens Manning of Belvedere has things all set she announces that the benefit for her candidacy will take the form of a movie matinee for children at the Tiburon Playhouse on Feb. 5, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The film will be the David O. Selznick color production of "Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Appropriately enough Isabelle Manning, the mother of five children, has had all the posters done by her son's kindergarten class. Others assisting the candidate with her campaign, which aids the Children's Hospital of San Francisco, are Mrs. Sheila Ashley of Mill Valley and Mrs. Charles Lansill of Ross.

DR. AND MRS. John Flint and family of Belvedere will be at Heavenly Valley for a weekend of skiing.

MRS. IRVIN C. TIPTON of San Rafael returned recently from a three months' tour around the world which she traveled by air but describes her additional methods of transportation. "I rode an elephant up the hill to the Amber Palace in India, a camel to the pyramids and Sphinx of Giza, a horse-drawn buggy from Luxor to Karnak, the great temple of Anoun, Egypt, and horseback to the ancient city of Petra in Jordan." Boat trips included a canoe on the rapids in a gorge in the Philippines, sampans and motor launch in Hong Kong, boat rides on the Klongs in Bangkok, a sunrise trip on the River Ganges and also the River Nile. No Bubbles A Quality In Diamonds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clarity in a diamond refers to the absence of carbon spots, bubbles or other natural imperfections, according to gem experts.

Only diamonds that show no "bubbles" to an expert using a glass that magnifies 10 times can be rated flawless. Most imperfections are so small that the naked eye cannot see them. The beauty of a diamond may not be affected, but the price of the gem is lowered by the imperfection.

Feeding Wildlife Unusual Hobby Of New Golf Captain

Mrs. Herbert Prodger, a member of the Women's Golf Assn. of the Marin Country Club Estates, has been elected captain of the Nineholer Women's Golf Club at the Marin Country Club.

The Nineholers are new golfers who must graduate from the club before they are eligible for the 18 hole group.

Mrs. Prodger and her husband, a furniture salesman in San Rafael, were the first residents at the Marin Country Club Estates. They are charter members of the Marin Country Club and are now honorary members.

Ann Prodger has a most unusual hobby—feeding the wild animals and birds that come to her door. A family of three raccoons stops by each evening after dark for their daily handout, and if Ann has forgotten to put out feed the precocious animals knock at her door. Six cats also come for their twice a day feeding and hundreds of quail pay an early morning call. Mrs. Prodger buys bird seed by the 100 pound sack and cat food by the case.

Ann was graduated from Lowell High School in San Francisco and was graduated from Gallagher-March Business College.

The new captain has been a bookkeeper for many years and teaches operation all types of business accounting machines.

Mrs. Prodger is a past secretary of Laurel Heights Home Owners Assn. in San Francisco and has served as secretary of the Marin Homeowners Assn.

The Prodgers have two sons, Herbert Prodger Jr. of Belmont and David Prodger Tilles of Millbrae.

Serving with Mrs. Prodger during the year will be Mrs. Charles Hancock, as assistant captain, who was captain of the Nineholers last year and Mrs. Armand Cueva, publicity.

"We witnessed an earthquake and typhoon in Japan, the eruption of Taal Volcano in the Philippines and our party was the first to enter India after their 17-day war," but Mrs. Tipton reported her most enjoyable experiences involved personal contacts with the people whom she discribed as "courteous and anxious to please, willing to go out of their way to be helpful." She returned from the tour with the National Retired Teachers' Assn. this month to rejoin her husband in San Rafael and Caruthers where he will soon retire as pastor of the Methodist Church.

Knee-Baring Skirts Remain On Italian Fashion Scene

ROME (UPI) —Italian high fashion shows ended here Saturday with the message that knee-baring skirts are here to stay—at least for the spring-summer season.

A trio of newer houses, di Lazzaro, Brugnoli and Barons, brought the curtain down on nine days of Italian fashion showings for international buyers and press.

The shows have confirmed that the short skirt is a fixture on the local fashion scene. Italian designers—with rare past shown the enthusiasm for the hoisted hemline demonstrated by their Paris or London colleagues.

But this season skirts were cut to uncover the knee and, in some cases, part of the thigh, even by some of the more traditional Roman houses.

The rest of the fashion picture here was made up of checks, colors, and a fundamentally geometric line.

Whimsical Jewelry

The Jewelry Industry Council reports that in costume and fine jewelry, popular designs for spring and summer include whimsical birds, animal motifs and flower pins. In costume, there is new emphasis on coral, no longer coral in color, but white.

Their Parents Should Provide Tots A Variety OF Experience

By DAVID NYDICK

What is the five to seven-year-old like?

The characteristics, needs and interests of children change with their age. Although each of these varies with the individual, there are some needs which are typical of children in a particular age range.

Children do develop at different rates. Parents should always remember this so that they do not become upset and place undesirable pressure upon their children. Comparisons with other children are always made. This is dangerous if the parents expect all children of the same age to be at the same level of ability and achievement.

WHAT ARE SOME of the typical needs of children in the kindergarten through second-grade years? They generally need 10-12 hours of sleep. They usually resist taking a bath. They grow 2-3 inches and gain 3-6 pounds each year. They like large servings of food but usually can't finish everything.

They are especially active in the area of running, jumping, climbing and other major physical movements. Speed, control and accuracy improve rapidly. Girls like to play house and boys like rough games.

Children of this age group are actually frightened of imaginary creatures such as witches and dragons. They don't like being alone. Girls seem to show more fear than boys.

BOYS TEND TO QUARREL and use more physical force than girls. They all seem to have poor table manners. There is an attempt to show independence by using bad language and being untidy.

There is a great deal of interest in being "one of the gang." There is a need for gaining prestige and for opportunity to make contributions to the group.

PARENTS SHOULD provide children of this age range with many experiences. The children learn by doing. They like to take things apart and put them together again. Although they can pay attention to some activities for increasing periods of time, they will need activities which are generally short-lived.

There is much value in play acting. Humiliation and shame should be carefully avoided. There is a need to develop respect for things which belong to others. The child should not be constantly nagged. He needs to feel somewhat independent.

ALL CHILDREN need love and affection. Parents sometimes hesitate to show affection with this age group because the child seems to have become so independent. Remember that this is only a way of declaring his freedom. He is still a young child and needs much love and attention from adults.

In working with their children, parents should be relaxed. Tense parents cause tense children. Act naturally. Use common sense. Don't be so dedicated to all the advice which you read that you are afraid to act.

CHILDREN AND PARENTS have a natural understanding of each other. If parents can avoid structuring every minute of the child's present and future life, they will have a much more relaxed and pleasant relationship with the child.

Just like every child doesn't start walking on his first birthday, every child won't start reading on his sixth birthday.

Boiled Oil Finish

Authentic boiled-oil finishes should be washed periodically with mineral spirits and then treated with an application of boiled linseed oil. Use a pad, rub vigorously and wipe clean of oil. If wax has been applied, remove with a cloth dampened with mineral spirits before applying more oil.

Polish Low-Gloss

Low-gloss finishes should be polished with low-luster polish or cleaning wax that will clean the surface and protect the finish without increasing the luster. If it is desired to raise the luster of such finishes, use a paste wax. If wax is used, apply sparingly between two layers of cloth so that only a thin layer comes through to coat surface. Wax a small area at a time, buffing immediately with a soft cloth until wax is hard and dry. Under-buffed wax collects dust.

MAESTRO AND MARINITES — A matter of great pride to maestro Josef Krips, musical director and conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, (center) is the high caliber of his orchestra principals. Among them are Rolf Persinger of Tiburon (left), principal of the viola section, and Charles Meacham of Mill Valley, principal of the second violin section.

Josef Krips Lauds Marin Artists Among San Francisco Symphony

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin concertgoers may look forward to hearing some of the top musicians in the country when the College of Marin brings Josef Krips and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra to the county on Feb. 5.

The concert will be at 8:30 p.m. in the college gymnasium, with a program consisting of Beethoven's Symphony No. 7, Richard Strauss' symphonic poem "Don Juan," and Robert Schumann's Symphony No. 1.

In an interview last week, the maestro, renowned as the last representative of the great Vienna school of conductors, spoke of his musicians, his plans for the orchestra and its community relationships involving the entire Bay Area.

A matter of great pride to him is having some players, who, he says, rank as the best in their field, some of whom are Marin residents.

"Rolf Persinger," he said, "is the top violinist in this country, and Ronald Bishop is the best tuba player. Others of our leading players who are among the best are Charles Meacham, second violin principal; Donald Reinberg, trumpet principal, and Philip Fath, clarinet principal."

(Persinger lives in Tiburon; Bishop in Corte Madera; and Meacham, Reinberg and Fath in Mill Valley.)

Jacob Krachmalnick, concertmaster, who formerly lived in Marin, he considers one of the outstanding violinists in the world.

Besides these principals, Marin has 14 other members of the orchestra, most of whom live in Mill Valley. These are violinists Linda Ashworth and Michael Gerling; violinists David Smiley and Lucien Mitchell; cellist Jean Maguire; tympanist Roland Kohloff, and trumpeter Chris Bogios.

Other Marinites are violinists Ezequiel Amador of Sausalito; cellist Eugene Winkler and French horn player Jeremy Merrill of Larkspur; and flautist Merrill Jordan and bassoonist Raymond Ojeda, Kentfield.

Krips went on to discuss "orchestra sound," and particularly what he is striving for with the San Francisco Symphony.

"The conductor makes the sound," he declared. "A particular orchestra has no general 'sound'—it has a different sound under each director.

"What I want is to have my players produce as many overtones and harmonics as possible, because the beauty of sound is the sum of produced harmonics. Every instrumentalist must have the feeling that he is singing his part. Mere mechanical perfection is not good enough. It is necessary to sing or breathe the music into the instrument."

The San Francisco orchestra, he believes, is rapidly approaching his ideal, and he foresees the time soon when it will be one of the best.

The kind of sound he described has a great deal to do with romantic music. Asked if he believes, as many do, that there is a revival of interest in the romantic music of the 19th Century, he agreed that there is.

"In a sense, all great music is romantic," he stressed. "The backbone of programs will always be classic and romantic. Bach, Beethoven, Mozart and Brahms—all were romantic."

This does not mean he is cold to contemporary composers, for he pointed out that he has been trying to do one new work a week, and he is known for his mastery of works of Hindemith, Bartok and Stravinsky.

"I just will not do the avant garde at present," he said vehemently. "I am sure there will come one day a genius of this kind, and this genius I will perform."

The maestro is also proud of the number of Bay Area artists he has been able to use as guest soloists — including this year musicians such as concert pianist Istvan Nadas, formerly of Mill Valley, and soprano Carole Bogard, who is well known in the county for her appearances with the Bach to Mozart chamber players.

In the last 10 years, he noted, 33 local artists, not counting orchestra musicians, have appeared on the subscription series of the San Francisco Symphony.

Keenly aware of the importance of reciprocal relationships between the San Francisco orchestra and music organizations in the surrounding counties, Krips discussed some of them.

Asked for his opinion of community orchestras (such as the Marin Symphony Orchestra conducted by Sandor Salgo, he said: "Thank God there are community orchestras. They educate the public about the need for and value of great music, and then they will come to our concerts. The more good music they hear, the more they will want to hear both from our orchestra and their own groups.

"This is especially important for young people. A boy who can appreciate a Schubert symphony will never become a delinquent.

"Instead of a government giving two or three hundred thousand dollars to make up a deficit or just giving it to the arts for no particular purpose, I would like to see such an amount invested in making sure every child 15 years of age and older gets to hear at least the nine Beethoven symphonies, the four of Brahms, and some good modern works."

Eventually Krips hopes to schedule six concerts each season in Marin.

White House Opens Year's Social Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — An early - departing President, a vice - presidential slip of the tongue and a borrowed chef were all part of the launching of the 1966 White House social season.

Here's how it went as the President and Mrs. Johnson entertained 180 tuxedoed and elegantly gowned guests last night to honor Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Johnson retired to his private quarters almost immediately following after-dinner entertainment by Broadway luminary Tammy Grimes, who belted out a half dozen show tunes that drew some attention away from her clinging gold lame gown. Johnson went to his living quarters with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Humphrey, responding to a toast in which the President described him and Warren as representing "the finest traditions of public service and of private integrity," got his titles mixed up and addressed Johnson as "Mr. Vice President."

The Johnsons, whose new chef reports for duty Feb. 1, borrowed William H. Dallas from the staff of neighboring Blair House to prepare the meal which, perhaps by design, lacked any of the French touches favored by the old chef, Rene Verdon, who quit with a blast at White House menus.

Johnson's early departure never was explained. Mrs. Johnson, gowned in sunshine yellow silk, mingled and danced with the guests for about another hour before retiring shortly after midnight.

Humphrey and his wife Muriel stayed until the departure of the First Lady.

Community Orchestra Sets Concert

The College of Marin Community Orchestra, directed by John H. Myers, will present its winter concert on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the college's gymnasium. Admission is free.

Marilyn Covell, guest artist, will perform Haydn's D Major Piano Concerto with the orchestra. She is a graduate of the Music and Arts Institute of San Francisco, and has studied at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. Marilyn has also been a student of Adolph Baller.

The 60-piece orchestra will perform a varied program of works from the orchestral repertoire. The program will open with Eugene Ormandy's arrangement of Handel's Concerto for Orchestra in D Major. An unusual item will be Norman Dello Joio's transcription for orchestra of 3 songs by Chopin. These are from a set of "17 Polish Songs" for voice and piano, and are virtually unknown compositions of Chopin.

Contemporary composition will be represented by "Epilogue," a short work by Ernst Toch, renowned 20th Century composer. The concert will close with the "L'Arlesienne Suite No. II" by Georges Bizet. The famous flute and harp passages in the minuet movement will be played by Dollie Eger and Melony Rogers. The Bizet work, written in 1872, is one of the earliest orchestral compositions to employ the saxophone, and this important part will be played by Susan Ernst.

Parks, Information Not To Be In Budget

RICHMOND (AP) — Gov. Brown says he will request that $55 million be set aside for new park projects and $570,000 for an information network in his 1966-67 budget.

The governor declared that last night in remarks prepared for a dinner given in his honor at Richmond, but he did not elaborate verbally as much as he did in his prepared text. His actual remarks were mainly jovial comments to dinner guests.

Park money, he said in his text would come from a $150 million bond program approved by voters in 1964.

Included in the program for 1966-67 would be 25 state park acquisitions and 39 local grants. The governor said he considers the park program by far the most important in state plans to conserve resources and natural beauty.

The first allocation for an information net, he continued, would "create the skeleton structure of what one day will be a statewide information network."

Such a net, he added, would "tie into local data systems to provide local governments with information for planning, criminal data, and to introduce new efficiencies in welfare administration."

College Orchestra, Band Set Auditions

The band and orchestra begin their spring semester rehearsals the week of Feb. 7. The orchestra rehearses on Monday evenings and the band on Wednesday evenings. They are directed by John H. Myers, head of the music department.

Birth Defects Rank High As Destroyer

(The following article was supplied by the Marin Chapter of the National Foundation, March of Dimes.)

By GABRIEL STICKLE, M.A.
Medical Statistician, the National Foundation

Contrary to popular belief, birth defects are our nation's second greatest destroyer of human life.

Recent studies indicate that at least 500,000 miscarriages, stillbirths and spontaneous abortions are caused by defects in the embryo or fetus before birth. To this must be added the more than 60,000 deaths caused every year by birth defects among infants, children and adults. Thus the annual toll mounts to 560,000.

This means that birth defects are responsible for the loss of more lives than some of the so-called "major killers," such as cancer and stroke. It also means that birth defects are second only to heart disease as a cause of death in this country.

To express this appalling toll in another way, it may be said that birth defects take nearly twice as many lives as cancer, 2.8 times as many lives as stroke, and 74,000 more lives than cancer and stroke combined.

The annual national death toll from heart disease is approximately 708,000. Cancer of all kinds takes 285,000 lives a year, and strokes account for 201,000 deaths.

What is even more important than their being "major killers" is that birth defects claim their victims primarily before birth or in the early years of life. In contrast to these losses early in life, disorders such as heart disease, cancer or stroke are predominantly causes of death among much older individuals.

This disparity brings us inevitably to consider a meaurement known as "life years." This refers to the future years of life as a result of death from a specific cause - that is, how many additional years the victims of a certain disease could have been expected to live had they not died from that illness. "Life years" are calculated from official records of the sex and specific ages of persons who die from given causes and of the life expectancy of all males and females at these ages.

GABRIEL STICKLE
Appalling statistics

After the number of these "life years" has been computed, statisticians can estimate the future income lost as a result of deaths from each cause. Here we use the results of surveys of consumer income conducted by the Bureau of the Census, covering expected income by both sex and age group.

The summation of all these values indicates that the 560,000 deaths caused by birth defects are responsible for the loss each year of an estimated 37.4 million "life years" and an estimated $79.7 billion in future lifetime earnings.

These totals are nearly twice as large as the corresponding losses due to the so-called "major killers" - heart disease, cancer, stroke and accidents - all lumped together.

New Radar Spies Out Deadly Peril To Jets

By GENE BYLINSKY
Advance News Writer

WASHINGTON—Clear air turbulence—or CAT—an invisible menace to jetliners—apparently can be detected by laser radar.

The research advance holds some promise of developing into an instrument that would enable pilots to steer around the hazard.

Clear air turbulence is caused by the collision of large air masses. It can rip apart airplanes or abruptly plunge them thousands of feet through the air, injuring passengers and crew. Pilots generally have very little warning.

The phenomenon can occur at low altitudes above hilly countryside, over mountains, and near jet streams—the swift "rivers" of air which flow high in the atmosphere.

Some encounters with CAT by jets and propeller-driven planes have been as brief as five seconds, but still resulted in injuries. Turbulence is a more serious hazard to jet planes because of their speed.

The possible effects on the proposed faster-than-a-bullet supersonic transport are still a matter of guesswork. But it could be the same as a bullet hitting a wall—with similar damaging results to the superplane, some experts believe.

Conventional radar can't locate the stealthy CAT. Weathermen have tried to predict its presence by measuring upper air temperatures, but without much success.

Now, the first tangible evidence that CAT can be detected is being reported by University of Michigan researchers.

The researchers equipped a small twin-engine plane with optical, or laser radar, and flew hundreds of CAT-tracking missions in the midwest. The laser radar generates brief pulses of light, which bounced off the aerosols, or tiny particles of matter present in CAT areas, much as conventional radar beams are bounced off solid objects.

The researchers caution that there's probably only a 50 per cent chance of detecting CAT with laser pulses. More research is needed before a workable CAT detector emerges.

They are now designing a laser radar which would provide a two-dimensional map of turbulent air areas to help differentiate them from quiet pickets of air, which also reflect laser pulses.

The University of Michigan work is an outgrowth of pioneering research by Stanford Research Institute scientists who demonstrated a few years ago that distinct signals can occasionally be reflected from a normally clear atmosphere.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, in a recent study of accidents caused by in-flight turbulence, found that passengers who are injured usually failed to fasten seat belts despite instructions by the pilot. In some cases, the agency has blamed injuries on pilot failure to warn passengers of approaching turbulence.

The most dramatic recent example of what CAT can do involved a passenger jet which plunged 13,000 feet over Texas and lost an engine before pilots regained control. Other planes are believed to have crashed after they ran into CAT.

Counterfeiters Looting County

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The county treasurer reports that counterfeiters have passed more than $10,000 in bogus county warrants in the last three weeks.

Harold J. Ostly said yesterday that electronic canceling machines have picked out about 60 of the bad checks. He said most of them were cashed by Los Angeles area merchants—who will have to stand the loss.

Ostly said the phony warrants are perfect lithograph copies of good county checks, and that the paper they were printed on is of better quality than used by the county.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hiatal Hernia Often Undetected Unless Discomfort Is Extreme

VAN DELLEN

The diaphragm is an umbrella-shaped muscle that separates the chest and abdominal cavities. Its weakest spot is the hiatus where it is pierced by certain nerves, blood vessels, and the tube (esophagus) that connects the mouth and stomach. When this aperture relaxes or tears, a part of the stomach protrudes into the chest cavity. When the opening is large, virtually all the intestinal contents slip into the thorax and encroach on the heart and lungs.

THE MOST COMMON hiatal hernia is the sliding type in which a small portion of the upper stomach moves upwards into the chest when the individual is reclining and returns to its normal position when sitting or standing. The latter is more likely to occur when the stomach is full and is drawn downward by gravity. Many of the victims are not bothered by the condition or have symptoms that are so slight nothing need be done. The lesion is detected by chance when X-rays are taken for some other reason.

On the other hand, hiatal hernia may lead to discomfort or a burning sensation over the lower part of the breastbone. The distress may be brought on by eating, especially when the food distends the stomach opening. Gas, belching, heartburn, and other signs of indigestion usually are present, especially after lying down. When pain resembles angina pectoris, heart disease is suspected unless X-rays disclose the real cause.

Eating smaller meals is helpful. Food should be bland and not gas-forming. By remaining in an upright position for at least an hour after the meal, the weight of the food will hold down the stomach and prevent distention of the opening. Antispasmodic and antacid products also are beneficial, especially when the lower part of the esophagus is irritated.

SURGICAL correction of the hernia is done when discomfort persists. There have been many improvements in the procedure and, as a result, it is safer and more likely to be successful.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request).

MUCUS PRODUCTION

A. E. writes: Is the mucus secreted during a cold a protective mechanism?

REPLY

I presume it is. Dryness of the membranes during an infection of the respiratory tract adds to the discomfort of the cold. A cough that brings up mucus is easier and less irritating than dry hacking.

LOW THYROID

Mrs. L. writes: Can a person have a lazy thyroid gland and not know it? I feel all right but tests show this is what I have.

REPLY

Yes: the condition often is detected only on routine examination. Others have mild symptoms such as dry skin and brittle hair and nails.

BROKEN DOWN HERNIA

A. C. writes: Can a hernia that has given way three times be repaired?

REPLY

This question must be answered by a surgeon. Modern surgeons have many tricks up their sleeves, and it is possible that something can be done in this case.

IT RECOILS

P. A. writes: Does the stomach shrink after a person has been on a reducing diet for some time?

REPLY

No. Like a balloon, it stretches after eating but returns to normal after it empties.

SLOW GROWING CANCER

B. C. writes: What is meant by a low grade malignancy?

REPLY

A cancer that grows slowly.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Bad Planning May Be Liable

The county decided that an earthen drainage canal running through one area was inadequate. It built an elaborate flood control system and diverted many canals to drain off storm waters. Completed in 1941, the system worked well for years. During that time, however, many canals became clogged with debris which hindered drainage.

Jones owned land near the canal. Before the new system, water would sometimes flood Jones' land during a storm. But he had suffered no flood damage since then and he therefore invested heavily to develop his land.

In four days during 1964 it rained more than eight inches. The canals could not take away all the water. The unremoved debris added to the trouble. Jones' land was flooded and his crop and home suffered great damage.

Jones successfully sued the county for his loss. He showed that the county should have built a better system to drain off the water. When the county builds a drainage system to prevent flooding, nearby landowners that invest money in reliance on the canals can hold the county responsible if it fails in its assumed duty.

When property is damaged as a result of planned governmental action, the law offers protection. The government drainage project that fails and floods one's land, become "inverse condemnation," as the law calls it. It is a taking of property for which the owner is entitled to payment.

Other inverse condemnation cases are the government's lowering the street, thus destroying your access, closing off one end of your street and greatly restricting your movement, or building a smoky sewage disposal plant whose fumes destroy your plants.

STARKE, Fla. (AP)—A donation he made 43 years ago is coming back to Rev. J. T. Quigley, an 85-year-old retired minister. In 1922, residents of the city provided the money to put street lights on Call Street. These eight-foot lights with globes on top are now being replaced by the city. Rev. Quigley, the only survivor of those who purchased the lamps, is being given six of the street lights for his antique collection as a sentimental gesture of the city council.

Officer Cleared In Killing Case

SALINAS (AP)—After 10 hours of deliberation, a jury yesterday acquitted a suspended California Highway Patrolman of a murder charge.

Found innocent was William Brennan, 33, of Fresno, who had been accused in the killing of Roland Strange, 30, of Salinas, in a hotel parking lot Oct. 16.

James Boccardo, defense attorney from San Jose, contended Strange had attacked Brennan and been killed during a struggle for the patrolman's gun. Brennan was off duty at the time.

A heavy snowstorm, termed by the Weather Bureau the biggest in years in the Middle Atlantic region, choked much of the region with wind-piled drifts today.

Virginia and the Carolinas were hard hit, and accumulations ranged up to 15 inches at Roanoke. Richmond was staggered with 14 inches of new snow and Washington, D.C., caught 3 inches during the night to find a 7-inch mantle today.

SHIP ADRIFT

The Coast Guard at Portsmouth, Va., said the SS Sea Train New Jersey, carrying 39 crewmen and a cargo of truck trailers and railroad cars, was drifting in the choppy Atlantic off Cape Hatteras, N.C. The ship was located near the center of the Atlantic seaboard storm. The Coast Guard reported the 483-foot vessel said she was in no immediate danger.

At least two persons died in the third wintry assault on Virginia in less than two weeks — and the first to hit every area of the state.

As the snow began to taper off, state police and the Weather Bureau reported depths ranged to more than 16 inches and some drifts of 3 feet.

State police said chains or snow tires were required for auto travel anywhere in Virginia.

COASTAL GALES

There was some snow over a 14-state area from northern Georgia to southern New England and the big disturbance brought Weather Bureau warnings of gales and high tides along the coast.

St. Mary's City, Md., on western Chesapeake Bay had 14 inches of snow. In North Carolina, Greensboro had 10 inches of cover.

In Washington, D.C., government offices closed early yesterday and sent employees home.

A half hour's light snow fell in Fort Walton Beach, Fla., the first such precipitation in 10 years. There was no accumulation, however, in the northwestern Florida city, and it was 66 degrees in the southern part of the state where Key West had warm rain.

In Georgia, where snows ended and skies were clearing, temperatures dropped into the 20s during the early morning. The state had snow cover ranging from about one inch in Atlanta to a foot at Hogpen Gap in the northeast mountain area.

Bowie race track in southern Maryland canceled Wednesday's program because of snow, and in eastern Tennessee, where temperatures were in the teens, schools remained closed in about 30 counties.

The Midwest was cold, with some readings lower than -20 in the Dakotas and Minnesota, and the Great Lakes section braced for a new frigid air surge.

Temperatures sank below freezing in the semitropical Lower Rio Grande Valley, forcing citrus growers to light orchard heaters and burn blocks of solid fuel. The mercury dived to unofficial readings of 29 degrees around Harlingen and Edinburg, Tex.

A storm in the Far West pressed across California and rains were expected to spread over the Southwest during the day.

Deputy Apprehends Runaway Youth

A 17-year-old runaway from Family Rehabilitation Center in Lucas Valley, was apprehended yesterday by a sheriff's deputy on Highway 101 near Rafael Meadows.

Deputy James L. Current saw the fugitive, missing since 11 p.m. Tuesday, at about 1:30 a.m. He said the youth, returned to the center, had a metal throwing knife and heavy-link dog collar chain in his possession when arrested. He told officers he was heading for San Francisco.

Circulation's critically healthy!

Since September, almost 4,000 new I-J subscribers—and still coming

Diagnosis by number

Red-blooded rush of I-J circulation shows newspaper has exceptional vitality and reader interest. Now more than 41,000 Marin County families—daily net paid circulation. Amazing!

Seldom ever see a case like this: I-J circulation growing FASTER than population. Must have a lot of editorial protein! Obvious when the I-J flexes its local news that this is something few newspapers can match—anywhere! Equally obvious that's what Marin families want—41,000 of them!

What a circulatory system—covers the entire county! What that 41,000 can do for an advertiser . . . families who buy the I-J to read and who read to buy. Highest-income families, too, in Marin County.

Growing circulation like this keeps lowering the cost per thousand circulation for all I-J advertisers. More readers, more response. Good health is highly infectious!

Diagnosis by quality

I-J circulation has the numbers . . . but it also has something which no other newspaper in Marin County may claim: AUDITED, PAID CIRCULATION. For only the I-J in Marin takes a "physical" from the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Only the I-J can present an advertiser with certified FACTS about circulation.

ABC is the doctor, both for the I-J and for YOU, the advertiser. ABC accepts and audits only PAID circulation—no other. What a protection for you! You know exactly what you're paying for . . . not throw-a-way circulation but every copy of the I-J PAID FOR by people who pay to read!

Quality like this should concern you. It guarantees readership of your sales message. It means our editors are putting out a newspaper WORTH reading and worth the money. It gives your store entree to the families who read most, buy most in Marin County. You get the numbers, you get the quality . . . ABC audited circulation of Marin's Best-seller.

AND NOW

a little understatement

I-J daily circulation is now more than 41,000. However, as an even more conservative base, we present a 3 months' average paid circulation figure as reported to ABC:

PAID CIRCULATION

Airport Linked To Industry, Marin Taxes

It will take the successful development of airport facilities attractive to private industry to shoot down the high flying Marin tax rate, according to County Supervisor William A. Gnoss.

Speaking on radio station KTIM's discussion program, "Marin Sounding Board," Gnoss today defended a proposed $382,123 program of improvement for the present Marin County Airport at Novato.

TAX DROP

"My interest in the development of airport facilities," Gnoss said, "is to bring down our taxes by bringing in new industry." Gnoss claimed the McGraw-Hill Book Co. decided to build its new distribution center near the Novato airport site because airshipping facilities to and from the center are essential.

"I know of at least one other industry which is waiting to decide on locating in Marin to see what happens with our airport plans," he said. "I travel around and see airports everywhere and I begin to wonder why we've been so lax in developing our own."

Appearing with Gnoss on the program, conducted by Kitty Oppenheimer, were Arthur T. Knutson, assistant director of the county public works department, and Joseph W. Wright and Richard Nave of the county airport commission. The program will be rebroadcast from a recording Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

INDUSTRY DRAW

Asked by a radio listener how much industry the expanded airport facilities would draw, Nave answered:

"We can't say how much industry we'll get from it, but if we spend only $250,000 to get, with federal aid, a $600,000 airport, we're taking a good risk. The flowers which will decorate the new Hall of Justice will cost $250,000 and that won't bring any industry at all."

Several listeners who telephoned comments charged that plans for the airport expansion were being promoted by a "minority" of pleasure flyers, who they said, would be the only ones to gain from the work.

"When I first heard about this project I thought only a small group stood to benefit from it, but I've since seen enough statistics and other information to convince me of the great potential of such an airport," said Wright.

The county board of supervisors will discuss the airport comission's recommendation in favor of the proposed expansion on Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Dixie District Asks 90-Cent Tax Increase

Trustees of Dixie School District last night agreed to ask for a 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation increase in the maximum general purpose operating tax rate.

Voters in the district will decide April 19 if the increase should be allowed.

The total tax rate in Dixie, with over-rides and bond retirement is $3.125, with $2.45 of this being the present maximum for the general operating tax. If voters approve the request, the maximum on that portion of the tax rate would go to $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation.

Trustees of Dixie School District last night also:

1. Accepted certificate of completion of Dixie School.
2. Authorized district participation as plaintiff in a price fixing suit against suppliers of resilient flooring, initiated by the state attorney general's office.
3. Accepted the resignations of Mrs. Dorothy Seita, teacher of a third and fourth grade combination class at Dixie School; Mrs. Mary Lou Krusic, teacher of a combination second and third grade class at Dixie, and Mrs. Louise Soules, second grade teacher at Mary Silveira School.
4. Authorized hiring of Mrs. Marian Stolesson at $2,620 for the remainder of the year, Margaret Ann Thompson at $2,379 for the remainder of the year, and Mrs. Jacqueline J. Booth at $2,689 for the remainder of the year, to replace the three teachers who resigned.

C. D. Lee Townsel, owner, told deputies entry was by forcing a front door hasp. The drink machine also was pried open.

Un-American Probe Gets More Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today gave a ringing reendorsement of its Committee on Un-American Activities. It voted to give the panel $425,000 for its investigations during 1966.

The total, which covers a current investigation of the Ku Klux Klan, was $5,000 more than the House provided in 1965.

CITY HALL TAKING SHAPE

San Rafael's new million-dollar city hall on Fifth Avenue, which was started last summer, shows signs of progress by contractors Wright and Oretsky of Santa Rosa, in this aerial view from a Commodore helicopter. The walls are up and the west wing, nearest the city library, has roof completed. The city hall lies between Fifth Avenue in foreground and Mission Avenue, between the library and C Street. Trees along Fifth remain, but trees on east end (right) of the hall were removed during site preparation.

BEAUTIFICATION

State Spending $450,000 In Marin

Marin highways have been beautified with $450,000 worth of state-financing landscaping, and several more landscape projects are in the works for Tiburon Boulevard, and Highway 101 near Lucas Valley and Ignacio.

This is the resort submitted to the California Highway Commission by J. C. Womack, state highway engineer.

Already completed are landscaping, paving, and rest room facilities at Vista Point, and landscaping along Highway 101 near Terra Linda, Corte Madera Creek to Richardson Bay Bridge, and several other spots between the Waldo and Miller Creek Road.

Under contract are landscaping jobs at the Spencer Avenue overcrossing ($8,130) and a mile stretch both north and south of Corte Madera Creek ($12,866).

A project report has been prepared for a $15,000 job on Tiburon Boulevard from Blackfield Drive to a point west of San Rafael Avenue in Tiburon.

Future landscaping projects include a $10,000 job at the Ignacio interchange and a tree planting program along a four-mile stretch between Miller Creek Road to north of Ignacio interchange. This project will include planting at the two interchanges near Hamilton Air Force Base.

No major planting is planned north of the Ignacio interchange and through the City of Novato. Engineer Womack gave this explanation:

"There are frequent crossovers. These average closer than one-quarter mile. The median is 20 feet wide and there is room for planting but it would be of short intermittent stretches because of the need to ensure adequate vision at the crossovers . . .

"Studies have been made to convert this section to a six-lane and ultimate eight-lane freeway. These plans are developed to save a row of existing trees on the west side of the present highway. Because of this, any planting done in the present median would be lost in the near future."

The engineer noted that the state and Novato entered into a joint improvement of curbed medians in the center of the city. The city installed a sprinkling system and agreed to assume maintenance. The state planted shrubs and ice plant and assisted in weed control.

Jack Theft Referred To Juvenile Court

Case of David Philip Peoples, 18, charged with theft of a hydraulic jack, was referred to the juvenile court yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Trial had been scheduled today. Peoples, of 7 Renate Court, Novato, allegedly took the jack from the Standard service station at Corte Madera Shopping Center on Dec. 5.

Junior Horsemen Elect In Novato

Corinne Bouaird has been elected president of the Novato Junior Horsemen for this year.

Jane Fairweather is the new vice president and Sandy Bouaird, secretary-treasurer. Sandi Phillips is in charge of the parade unit. Gladys Brough, Betty Cullins and Dick Du Fault are the junior advisers.

Marin Civic Fathers Shun Viet Nam Policy Statement

An attempt to put the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen on record regarding U.S. foreign policy and anti-Viet Nam war demonstrators was ruled out of order last night by chairman Charles W. Aby of San Rafael.

City Councilman George Pagni of Fairfax sought to have the council adopt a resolution originally adopted by the San Mateo City Council.

It expressed support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam and American men fighting there, and condemnation of anti-Viet Nam demonstrations.

City Councilman John R. Moore of Belvedere, whose council unanimously adopted the resolution, seconded Pagni's motion.

Mayor Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, however, objected that the motion was out of order. "I certainly support the U.S. Army," said Wornum, "but I equally oppose the fact that this resolution indicates we cannot criticize what the government does that we think is wrong. . . . And I don't think I can speak for the citizens of Mill Valley on U.S. foreign policy."

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk of Sausalito agreed, declaring, "The United States is committed in Viet Nam. . . . But I have been elected for city affairs."

Dr. Aby, San Rafael city councilman and chairman of the mayor's council, said it was policy of the council not to enter into affairs which do not directly concern the member cities. He ruled the motion out of order and asked for a vote on his ruling. The voice vote approved his ruling overwhelmingly.

In matters on its agenda, the mayors' council, meeting at the Meadow Club with Mayor Frank L. Lawrence of Fairfax as host, heard discussions of a hotel-motel tax, county ordinance on health and sanitation, county services districts for unincorporated urban areas, and revision of by-laws of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments. No action was taken on any of them.

Town Councilman Charles F. Pendleton of Corte Madera said his town was the first in Marin County to enact a tax on hotel and motel rooms. "The returns have far surpassed our fondest expectations," he said. First year's revenues from the tax had been expected to be about $4,800 but will total between $8,000 and $10,000, he reported.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the county has adopted an ordinance charging fees for health and sanitation inspections of restaurants, food handlers, etc., and suggested the cities might do likewise.

Dr. Aby asked whether charging fees would mean the county would provide more inspection. Barrows said it would not.

City Administrator Douglas E. Flautt of San Anselmo said the county is required by state law to make the inspections, and suggested city councils check with their attorneys before enacting any fee ordinance.

City Councilman J. Wayne Womack of Novato urged that other cities join his in urging the county board of supervisors to require county services areas for Marincello or other urban developments which require public services beyond those furnished in rural areas. This would prevent additional tax load falling on city residents.

City Councilman Vaughn M. Marker of Larkspur asked whether the board of supervisors has considered this. Supervisor Peter H. Behr, only member present, said it has not.

At suggestion of City Councilman Earl Grady of Larkspur, the council's representative to ABAG, the organization took no action on a proposal by Contra Costa County to make all actions of ABAG's board of directors subject to ratification by the membership.

All cities were represented at the meeting.

Next meeting of the council will be Feb. 23, with Larkspur as host city.

Viet Nam Veteran Gives Personal View Of U.S. Buildup, Problems

The escalation of the United States' war in Viet Nam was made graphic last night by a statistic cited by Maj. John Brennan of Sixth Army Headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco in a talk to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

The statistic was not of manpower committed nor of ammunition fired.

Major Brennan said that when he arrived in Viet Nam in 1960, fresh from what was the Army Language School at Monterey, he was the first American officer in Viet Nam able to speak the native language.

Today, he said, there are more than 160 instructors in Vietnamese at what has become the Armed Forces Language Institute at Monterey.

The major said at the opening of his talk at the public meeting at the Meadow Club that "my discussion will be off the record." He recited the history of the Viet Namese conflict as it concerns the United States. He described the organizational setup of U.S. forces there.

The Viet Cong, he emphasized, is no bush-league foe, though it fights in the bushes. "At the time they defeated the French," he declared, "the French had 720,000 troops in Viet Nam."

Many wonder why the United States does not simply knock out the Ho Chi Minh trail, by which troops and supplies are transported from North to South Viet Nam, he said. The answer is that the trail "is a network of thousands and thousands of trails" through the mountainous area of what used to be French Indo-China.

Major Brennan, who returned recently from Viet Nam, said that since he first went there in 1960, "I've gone through about seven different governments."

South Viet Nam now has "really a military government," he said.

About one-third of its area is "surely controlled" by the American and South Vietnamese forces—with assists from small units of Koreans, Australians and New Zealanders, he reported.

In this area, popular elections have recently been held at the hamlet and village level, but "it will be at least 10 years" before the people are ready for popular elections nationwide, he said.

Cautious in describing the fighting itself, Brennan carefully referred to tear gas as "riot control agent."

City Councilman Sally Matthews of Belvedere asked if the people of South Viet Nam "understand what this war's all about."

"Quite honestly, they don't," said Major Brennan.

Tiburon Peninsula Club Elects New Officer Slate

Joseph W. Royer of 27 West Shore Boulevard, Belvedere, is new president of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Royer was chosen by the board of directors to succeed J. Donald McCune of Tiburon following election of three new board members Tuesday night.

David Kilmer was elected vice president; William Asiano, treasurer, and Mrs. Joseph Keller, secretary.

New members of the board of directors are Asiano, Mrs. George Cleland, and Arthur Gensler. Holdover directors are McCune, Kilmer, Mrs. Keller, Lowell Airola, Thomas Price, Robert Knapp, and Mrs. Jim James. Directors are elected for three-year terms.

The new board was authorized to conduct a membership drive to try to bring the membership, now about 480, up to 500. Outgoing president McCune predicted this would be easily done as the club is soon to open a second swimming pool and new tennis courts for use of members and guests.

Dredge Requests To Go Before Bay Commission

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will decide next Thursday on two requests for permits to dredge in Marin waters.

Before the commission will be an application by Marin County to dredge in Gallinas Creek northeast of the county fairgrounds site, and one by Clipper Yacht Co. to dredge property next to Marinship Yacht Harbor in Sausalito to create a small boat harbor.

The Gallinas Creek project, estimated by the Marin County Public Works Department to cost $150,000, would make the creek navigable up to the county fairgrounds. The proposed channel would be six feet deep and 75 feet wide, and would require dredging of 510,000 cubic yards of material.

Disposition of the spoils would be in already diked areas, both public and private, according to James Wiese of the county department.

Weapon Charge Plea Scheduled

Oris Williams, 29, arrested by sheriff's officers last Friday following an altercation with his wife, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of carrying a concealed weapon while having a prior felony conviction.

Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled plea entry for 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Williams was jailed after allegedly striking Mary Alice Williams, 34, in the face at the family home, 103 Drake Avenue, Marin City, then taking her to Marin General Hospital for treatment. She declined to file charges.

Williams was convicted in Marin County on Oct. 23, 1961, of assault with a deadly weapon. He is free on his own recognizance.

Sight Tests Planned For Novato Pupils

Pupils of the North Marin Nursery School at 1370 South Novato Boulevard, Novato, will receive voluntary vision screening tests during school hours from 9 a.m. to noon, starting Monday.

The Novato volunteers of the Marin County chapter of the Northern California Society for the Prevention of Blindness will conduct the tests on the 60 preschool children enrolled there.

Poem, Harp 'Thing' Slated At Store

Sea poems of James Broughton of Mill Valley will be read by Broughton, with harp accompaniment by Joel Andrews, also of Mill Valley, at 8:30 p.m., Sunday at the Tides, 749 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

Called "A Bard and Harp Thing," the event will also include refreshments and divertisements, according to book store owner Herbert Beckman.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Opponent's Frailty Pays Off In Three Out Of Four Cases

In some situations most players either take the wrong finesse or don't finesse at all.

The correct play depends on the fact that your opponents are made of flesh and blood.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

If you had only eight trumps in the combined hands, the book play would be to lead a low trump from dummy for a finesse.

If that lost to the jack, you would return to dummy for another finesse.

STILL CAN LOSE

With nine trumps in the combined hands, most players believe in leading out the ace and then leading a low trump toward dummy.

This loses when West started with the singleton 3 or 2, and also when either opponent has all four trumps.

You can get better results if you begin the trumps by leading the six from your hand.

Iw West plays low (or shows out), you plan to let the six ride as a finesse.

If you lose to the jack, you plan to return to dummy with a club and lead the queen through for a finesse.

USUALLY WORKS

This play works when West started with a singleton, as in today's hand. It works equally well when West has started with K-J-x or if either opponent has all four trumps.

It works for any 2-2 break, but loses when East has started with the singleton jack.

The play does not lose when West holds K-3 or K-2 of trumps because West will play his king for fear of losing it.

West might have nerve enough to play low if you led the ten because he might guess your plan, but he assumes you are going to put up dummy's queen when you lead the six.

To sum up, the recommended line of play loses in only one case. Leading the ace out first would lose in four cases.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K J 3
♥ K 9 8 4 3
♦ J 9 4
♣ 8 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

The hand is not quite strong enough for a response of two hearts.

If partner can rebid after your simple raise, you will accept any invitation to game.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Jan. 27, the 27th day of 1966 with 338 to follow.

The moon is between new and first quarter; there is no morning star; the evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

Austrian composer Wolfgang Mozart was born on this day in 1756.

In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued general war order No. 1, instructing Northern Army and Navy forces to move forward not later than Feb. 25.

In 1880, Thomas Edison was granted a patent for an electric incadescent lamp.

In 1943, the 8th U.S. Air Force staged World War Two's first all-American air raid on Germany, bombing Wilhelmshaven in broad daylight.

In 1964, Republican Sen. Margaret Chase Smith became the first woman to challenge for a presidential nomination in a major party. She lost.

A thought for the day — American President Abraham Lincoln said: "Let us have faith that right makes right, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

Mark Hopkins Suit Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Judge Joseph Karesh dismissed a 30-year-old suit yesterday which contended that railroad pioneer Mark Hopkins' estate was distributed fraudulently.

He said there was no triable issue in Mrs. Estelle Latta's contention.

Mrs. Latta, who lives in Durham, N.C., claims there were were two men named Mark Hopkins, one from New York and one from North Carolina.

Mark Hopkins, from North Carolina, was one of the builders of the Central Pacific Railroad, now known as the Southern Pacific.

Mrs. Latta contended the widow of the poorer Mark Hopkins, the one she says came from New York, became a housekeeper for the rich Mark Hopkins and channeled the wealth in his estate to descendants of the New York Hopkins.

Reader Funds Scheduled For Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today his 1966 - 67 budget will include $9 million to launch special reading programs aimed at reaching 250,000 poor readers in the first three grades of public schools.

The funds would finance a program approved last year by the legislature.

The governor said the money would be provided as matching funds to school districts that provide pecial reading teachers and professional librarians. The program also would provide scholarships to encourage development of teachers competetent to help slow learners.

"This investment can help break the pattern in which the poor reader so often becomes an early school dropout and becomes an expensive burden on the unemployment and welfare rolls," the governor said.

Suspect Bombs At Substations

MARYSVILLE (AP) — The FBI is investigating a number of small black boxes, marked explosives, which were found near Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substations.

Authorities would not say what was in the boxes but the FBI was quoted as saying the situation was serious since utility firms are part of national defense.

The Yuba County sheriff's office said yesterday the boxes were found at substations near Marysville, Browns Valley, East Nicolaus and Smartsville.

106 Seeking Employees Assn. Job

There were 106 applicants for the job of manager of Marin County Employees Assn., a newly created position with a salary starting at $829 a month.

Members of the association agreed last fall to increase dues from 50 cents a month to $3 in order to hire a manager. Applications closed Tuesday.

County Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell, who has been receiving the applications, said they would be screened down to 10 to be interviewed by an oral board. The association hopes to be able to fill the position by its annual meeting Feb. 21.

Synanon Closing Not Felt In West

Closing of the Westport, Conn., house of Synanon will not increase the number of former addicts at the house near Marshall, the supervisor of the Marin house said yesterday.

Synanon has decided to close the Westport house because of a ruling by the Connecticut Supreme Court that the house violated a Westport zoning regulation restricting houses in the neighborhood to single-family use.

John Maher, agent for Synanon in Marshall, said residents of the Westport house will move to a recently acquired building near Central Park in New York City. Eventually, he said, Synanon hopes to set up a rural facility near New York which will be modeled after that in Marshall.

Judge Orders Braves To Stay In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Circuit Judge Elmer .W Roller, acting upon petition of Wisconsin's attorney general, ordered the Braves today to prepare to play their home National League games in Milwaukee this year and until league expansion takes place with the city gaining a replacement franchise.

Judge Roller, who held earlier this week that his court has jurisdiction in the state's antitrust suit against baseball, said that "the threatened injury to the public (in the Braves' proposed move to Atlanta) outweighs possible inconvenience to the defendant."

The court added that it had ordered the suit to trial Feb. 1, but now was faced by a request from defense counsel for a delay of two to six months for preparation.

"From the nature of this action," the court said, "time and the status quo are elements of record before this court, it appears that there is a serious question whether there can be any effective relief under the complaint unless there be a final determination of the action on the merits prior to the opening of the 1966 season."

The Braves already have transferred nearly all of their baseball operations from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

The Braves, who originally had planned to move the franchise from Milwaukee a year ago, played the 1965 season in Milwaukee under a similar injunction.

However, that was based upon fulfillment of a contract with Milwaukee County for use of the stadium. That contract expired Dec. 31.

Today's preliminary injunction came in a suit filed last August by Atty. Gen. Bronson C. Lafollette, charging the National League and its individual members with violation of Wisconsin's Little Sherman antitrust statutes.

In a 73-page decision Tuesday, Judge Roller found that cause for such a suit existed, and that jurisdiction was properly in his court.

The order today set forth three major points.

One restrained the Braves from entering any contractural or other obligations for the 1966 season in Atlanta.

A second ordered the Braves to make all necessary preliminary arrangements to enable them to play home baseball games in Milwaukee "during the 1966 baseball season and thereafter" if so ordered by the court.

The third directed that the defendants "shall make a plan or plans for expansion of the defendant league so as to permit major league baseball to be played in Milwaukee, in time for the 1966 season...to include within their scope the location of a franchise in Milwaukee . . . (and to) make available National League baseball of competitive quality in Milwaukee on an after the opening of the 1966 season."

Ashe Sweeps Into Australian Tennis Semi-Finals

3 Aussies Advance With Yank

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., swept into the semifinals of the Australian National Tennis Championships today with a 14-12, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Tony Roche, Australia's young Davis Cup prospect.

Ashe was joined in the semifinals by three Australians, defending champion Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle and John Newcombe. Newcombe ousted the other remaining American contender, Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, 7-5.

Clark's wife, Carole, and Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., gained the women's semifinals with easy triumphs, joining defending champion Margaret Smith and unranked Kerry Melville of Australia.

Carole Graebner defeated Judy Tegart of Australia 6-3, 6-3 while Miss Richey, the United States' top-ranked player in 1964, won over Helen Amos of Australia 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Richey plays Miss Melville and Mrs. Graebner will meet Miss Smith, seeking her third straight national women's title. Miss Smith ousted Madonna Schacht of Australia 6-1, 6-3.

PLAY SATURDAY

The semifinals are scheduled Saturday. Tomorrow's matches will be confined to doubles with Miss Richey and Mrs. Graebner the lone U.S. survivors.

Ashe's foe Saturday will be Stolle, the Australian stylist who has been runner-up at Wimbledon the past two years. Stolle defeated New Zealand's Lew Gerrard 6-2, 7-5, 7-5.

Emerson, the Wimbledon titleholder who has won the Australian crown the last two years and three times in the last four, continued to look off his game as he battled for a 9-7, 4-7, 4-6, 7-5, 9-7 triumph over fellow countryman Bill Bowrey. The match could have gone either way.

Emerson will play Newcombe in the semifinals.

Of the seminflists, Ashe was by far the most impressive. He played well within himself in beating Roche, regarded as possible heir apparent to Emerson's throne.

The American was devastating with his service and he dominated the match with aggressive net play.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Bare Bear, Booze And Caribous; This Column Has Everything

SPORTS IN SHORTS . . .

EVEN THOUGH he dropped his suit in court last week I refuse to call George Halas "Papa Bare."

SPEAKING OF such, I hear where 49er "tight end" Monte Stickles wants his position to be called something else because of the alcoholic implications. Every time he passes a gin mill some wisenheimer giggles, "Hey, look at the tight end."

Monte should squawk; how does he think John David "Old" Crow feels about running out of a tight backfield formation?

In fact, there's only one sobering thought about the entire 49er squad and that's defensive end Dan Colchico. His nickname's "Coke."

IN ONE of those recent literary classics I told you that Don Hanson was one of only two "foreigners" on the otherwise all-local bred College of Marin cage squad. Wrong again, Shamus. Don has lived in Marin for 15 years and learned his cage fundamentals under Coach Lou Freitas in the St. Raphael's CYO program, but attended Bellarmine High down the Peninsula, which led me to believe he was furriner.

Thus, Ron LaRuffa, a Cupertino High grad, is the only non-localite on the Marin roster. I think.

SAN QUENTIN correctional officer D. A. McCarthy read in the paper recently that a Sacramento high school track star was badly injured in an accident and in need of blood.

Though McCarthy didn't know the lad, or even hear of him before, he rushed right down to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Rafael to donate a pint in the lad's account.

Why, for a complete stranger? "Well," replied McCarthy, "I used to run the mile on my high school track team many years ago and I felt something special for this boy."

Athletes are like that.

LUCKY GOLF

Palmer Zips Off To A Fast Start

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golf's leading money winner of all time Arnold Palmer, opened play today in the $55,000 Lucky International Open after starting 1966 faster than any other year in his remarkable pro career.

Arnie won low pro honors in the pro-amateur prelude over the Harding Park municipal course to push his January earnings to $20,750

Not a bad start for a fellow whom many thought on the down grade when he placed only 10th on the money list in 1965 with $57,770 in official winnings and $82,989 over-all.

Today Palmer left the tee among the late starters for this first round of San Francisco's 72-hole event with its $7,500 top prize.

He had whipped around Harding in 65 yesterday followed by a big gallery and playing with three amateur partners who helped him to a 56 in the team play, tied for second with a group headed by George Bayer, who individually had a 70.

Don Massengale, who hung on to beat Arnie by a stroke last Sunday at the Crosby, also found Harding to his liking in the pro-am and posted a 67. So did Randy Glover and Billy Maxwell.

The latter and his team of Californians won the team honors with a best-ball 55. With Maxwell were Erick Engman of San Francisco, Lloyd F. Fritzell of Red Buff and Lou Spiro of Stockton.

Most of the interest centered on the big guns. Defending champion George Archer shot a 68, Ken Venturi a 69, Billy Casper a 70 and Tony Lema a 71.

Venturi, sidelined much of last year with a circulatory ailment, carried a hand warmer and wore two gloves in windy, chilly weather. He's playing over a course where he played as a youngster and where his father still operates the pro shop.

Palmer showed the throngs both power and putting in carding seven birdies against a single bogey on his pro-am round.

Palmer started this year the same as he did 1963 with a victory at Los Angeles, but three years ago he was disqualified in the Crosby. In 1961, Arnie won at San Diego but didn't make the cut at Los Angeles after carding a 12 on one hole and he placed only fourth at the Crosby.

So this year has been the best of all.

Gloves Fly In Novato Ring Finals

Chuck Ashworth, fullback on Novato High School's championship football team, added the school's intra-mural heavyweight boxing title to his laurels last night by scoring a three-round decision over fellow gridder Randy King.

A capacity crowd of more than 1,000 cheered as the two heavies started out with a fast and furious pace, but soon ran out of steam and slowed to a waltz for the last two rounds, the 185-pound junior Ashworth getting the nod over the 190-pound senior King.

In the 10-bout, action-packed card sponsored by the Novato High Lettermen's Club, there was only one knockout with freshman Ron Pederson kayoing sophomore Merrill Larsen in the first round of their lightweight-class bout.

There were two technical knockouts: Middleweight Robin Means stopped Paul Coletti in the third round and light-heavyweight Lowell Mason stopped Jim Bribbon in the first round.

A freshman, Rich Johnson, 154, stole the show as he was voted the outstanding boxer after he decisioned senior Dennis Fay, 152, in the junior middleweight finals.

Hayward St. Cager Dies During Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Hayward State College basketball player, Roosevelt Dunn, died last night of a heart seizure during the halftime of a Far Western Conference game with San Francisco State.

Dunn, who had played most of the first half, was taken out shortly before the halftime break by Hayward Coach Glen Albaugh. He crumpled over on the bench and efforts to revice him were unsuccessful.

Dunn, a 6-foot-2 forward, was a junior and a transfer student from Monterey Peninsula College. He was 20 years old.

The score at halftime was 36-26 in favor of the San Francisco Gators, but because of Dunn's death the game was called.

Dunn had collected five rebounds and missed four free throws and three field goals during the first half.

Joseph Visalli, a doctor with the athletic department at San Francisco State, gave emergency treatment. He said Dunn apparently died of a heart attack

'Agent 007' Sneaks Into Atlanta To Get Coaching Job

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The new head coach of the Atlanta Falcons sometimes goes by the name of J. Jones.

By now, those interested in National Football League affairs know that the Falcons' man is Norb Hecker.

He used the name 'J. Jones" to keep secret Falcon owner Rankin Smith's selection of a new head coach.

"I felt like agent 007 coming into Atlanta," said Hecker, 38, who for the past six years has been assistant coach with the Green Bay Packers. "I thought the game was up on an airplane when a stewardess recognized me and said 'hello, Mr. Hecker.' But no one else found out."

Hecker wasted little time getting to work. He started calling friends yesterday afternoon in a search for five assistant coaches.

He said he doesn't plan to move his wife and five children to Atlanta until school is out "because I'm going to be so busy I wouldn't have time to spend with them anyway."

Hecker was first contacted by the Falcons last Saturday, and was told Tuesday to fly to Atlanta so he could be introduced at a news conference Wednesday.

WHIRL-WIND

"It was a whirl-wind five days for me," Hecker said. "I still have to go back to Green Bay and clean out my office."

Hecker said that he feels Atlanta has some top college players on its roster, "and with the 42 players we will get from the other teams I believe we will have pretty good talent."

The former Baldwin-Wallace College star, who played halfback for the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins before a knee injury ended his NFL career in 1957, said he will first build a strong defense with the Falcons.

"You can't win in the NFL without a good defense," said Hecker, who has been defensive backfield coach for the Packers. "And it is easier to build a defense than an offense.

"Our biggest problem will be to instill a desire to win among our players," Hecker said. "I hope we can get some players from championship teams that will have that desire."

Hecker was never mentioned as a candidate for the Falcon post, and Smith said he was the only one "of about 10 prospects" interviewed for the job that had not applied.

HICKEY BYPASSED

Hecker apparently was suggested for the post by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who visited with Smith at length in Atlanta last Friday, when Red Hickey, former head coach of the San Francisco 49ers, was considered the top candidate.

Smith's first contact with Hecker came a day after the meeting with Rozelle.

Hecker has been considered one of Packer Coach Vince Lombardi's top aides. But he lacks Lombardi's brooding intensity and is slow to anger.

"Norb has all the quaifications of a paragon," Lombardi said. "He is a very fine young gentleman, highly intelligent and with a fine personality. He is extremely loyal and one of the finest workers I have ever seen on my staff."

Wily Old Halas Knew When To Back Away From Sticky Issue

RANDOL

George Halas growled angrily before filing a breach of contract suit and petition for an injunction against George Allen who left the lair of the Bears to accept the head coaching job of the Rams when two years still remained on his Bear contract.

And the 70-year-old Papa Bear growled some more after staging a sudden and strategic retreat that ended the court proceedings before they got beyond the preliminary stage.

The judge no sooner had ruled that there was prima facie evidence of a valid contract between Allen and the Bears than Halas rose to stop the legal action. "Your honor," said Halas to the judge withdrawing his suit, "sanctity of the contract was the issue here and your ruling will prevent the breakdown of organized football and sports."

THUS, THERE was no necessity for a judicial ruling on the injunction phase of the suit. The injunction petition was the ticklish part of the suit. The judge, opposing attorneys and Halas himself were well aware of this.

To support his injunction petition, Halas would have had to testify that Allen was the irreplaceable and indispensable chief cub in Papa Bear's den. Halas would have had to convince the court that Allen was unique among all coaches and unless prevented from joining the Rams, the Bears would be irreparably damaged.

CAN ANYONE picture the grizzled pioneer of the National Football League so testifying? Yet, unless he did he wouldn't have had a chance of winning his injunction petition because courts, while awarding damages for breach of contract, are not inclined to issue injunctions except in unique situations.

FURTHERMORE, there was another possible barrier to any injunction. Allen said he sought and obtained verbal permission from Halas last Christmas to negotiate with Dan Reeves, owner of the Rams. Reeves acknowledged, following a telephone conversation with Halas, that Halas rescinded this permission. But having once given his permission did Halas bar himself from any successful try for an injunction?

HALAS, OF COURSE, stopped the action just when it was getting to the exciting stage. Maybe he is irascible, petluant, crotchety and all the other things said about him. But he still is a wily old Papa Bear who knows enough to back away from a sticky situation.

Sorry Seals Come Home For Weekend

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals play the Vancouver Canucks tomorrow night and Sunday at the Cow Palace and then go on the road for eight games in 13 days.

Right now as far as the Seals are concerned, the only thing good about the Western Hockey League is the Los Angeles Blades. And that's because the Blades are lower in the standings than the Seals.

San Francisco was in fifth place, seven points behind fourth-place Seattle and four points ahead of last-place Los Angeles. For a playoff berth, the Seals need to overcome Seattle and end up in fourth place or higher.

San Francisco lost yesterday's game with Portland 4-3. The Buckaroos have won six of seven games with the Seals. Chuck Holmes and Gerry Goyer broke up a nip-and-tuck game with two quick goals for the Bucks in the third period to give them the winning edge.

San Francisco got goals from Mike Harvey, John Gravel and Gerry Brisson.

Portland was only two points behind league-leading Victoria following the encounter.

Strampe Continues All-Star Pin Spree

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Qualifying leader Bob Strampe of Detroit hasn't slowed down any in the match play phase of the National All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Yesterday, first day of head-to-head competition for the 16 finalists, Strampe won 11 of 15 games against five opponents to take the early lead in the men's American Division. Roy Lown of El Paso, Tex., won 10 games to lead the National Division.

In the women's section, Joy Abel of Chicago and Jean Winsch of South Bend, Ind., were the early pace-setters. The 16 men finalists are split into two divisions, American and National, for the match play.

They bowl three-game matches, and standings are figured on total pin fall plus a 50-pin bonus for each game won. After next Saturday's 22nd match the two division leaders will bowl for the championship.

The women use the same format but bowl two-game matches.

Strampe won three games from Bob Materasso of New York City, and Virg Enger of Minneapolis; two from Les Schissler and Jerry McLary of Denver, and one from defending champion Dick Weber of St. Louis.

Strampe has 3394 pins plus a bonus of 550 for 3944 points. Weber is second in the same division with 3370 plus 425 bonus for 3795.

Lown swept three games from Bob Crawford of Detroit and Bill Johnson of New Orleans; won two from Gary Curry of Pasco, Wash., and one each from Billy Welu of St. Louis and Bill Allen of Orlando, Fla.

Lown has 3208 pins plus 500 bonus for 3708 points. Allen is second with 3203 plus 450 for 3653.

Miss Abel holds a seven-point lead over Jere Price of Fort Worth, Tex., in the women's American Division. Miss Abel won six of 10 games and had 2020 pins pus a 300 bonus. Mrs. Price won eight games but has ony 1913 pins. She has a 400 bonus.

Mrs. Winsch won six on 1905 pins in the National Division. She has a 360 bonus. Helen Duvall of Berkeley, Calif., is second with 1949 pins plus a 250 bonus.

The bowlers all roll five more matches today.

Chicago Gets Third Chance In Pro Cage

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — The hopes of Chicago's entry in the National Basketball Assn. for next season undoubtedly rest with the possible acquisition of home-towner Cazzie Russell, the All-America at Michigan.

Chicago twice before has failed to make a go in the NBA, but yesterday it was given another chance by the league's board of governors in New York.

They voted to expand to 10 teams with the new franchise awarded to a Chicago group headed by Dick Klein, former basketball player at Northwestern and with the old Chicago Gears pro team of the 1940s, and now head of his own sales promotion company.

Russell could become the hub of the team and kingpin of its promotion.

Cazzie reportedly said in Ann Arbor, Mich., last night:

"Several people interested in a franchise for Chicago have talked to me. I am inquisitive about what the outcome will be. It will be a tougher decision about me playing in Chicago than a lot of people think."

The last time Chicago made a run for it in the NBA was 1961. The team was first called the Packers and then the Zephyrs and moved to Baltimore in 1963. Prior to that were the Stags who lasted from 1946 to 1950.

When Chicago got a franchise in 1961, it received from the NBA the No. 1 draft choice and five choices on the second round. Walt Bellamy of Indiana was a top pick and some NBA owners are said still to be sour about it. They may not be that generous again with a new team.

Whether they are may be disclosed today at a news conference in Chicago attended by Water Kennedy, NBA president; Ben Kerner, owner of the St. Louis Hawks and chairman of the expansion committee, and Kein, who is to tell of his plans to make the International Amphi-theater home base.

Klein has said his group "expects to lose $100,000 in the first two years" but would be squared after three years and ahead after that. Although Klein was unavailable for comment last night, Russell undoubtedly fits into his plans.

But the Detroit Pistons want Russell and have been trying to get the territorial draft of the NBA reinstated so they can pluck him.

In 1961, the Chicago team drafted the 6-foot-11 Bellamy much to the chagrin of the New York Knicks. The Knicks finally acquired him this season in a costly trade with Baltimore in which they gave up Johnny Green, Jim Barnes and Johnny Egan plus cash.

The movie, "World Series Highlights of 1965," will be shown.

N.L. Schedule More Night Games In 1966

CINCINNATI (AP) — Baseball fans in National League cities will see an increased number of games under the lights this year.

The league's 1966 schedule shows 462 night games — compared with 433 last year. Chicago's Wrigley Field is the only ball park without lights so all Cub home games, as in the past, will be daytime affairs.

One of the season's first games under the lights will be the debut of the new Atlanta Braves, who take on Pittsburgh in a home game the night of April 12.

St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco also play their first home games April 12, one day after the season starts at Cincinnati's Crosley Field with a game between the Reds and the New York Mets.

Cincinnati starts a day before the rest of the league in alternating years. It always opens the season at home in recognition of the fact the first professional baseball team was formed here in 1869.

Philadelphia, which plays its first game at St. Louis, will open at home April 15 against the Reds. Houston and Chicago start play on the West Coast, at Los Angeles and San Francisco, respectively.

The Braves travel to New York for the Mets' home opener April 15, and the Cardinals face Pittsburgh the same day in the Pirates' first home game.

Chicago fans will be the last to see their team in action. The Cubs' home opener is April 19 against San Francisco. Houston plays its first home game April 18 against Los Angeles.

Houston and Philadelphia both have 61 scheduled night games, while Los Angeles fans will see 59 games under the lights and 57 night games are scheduled for St. Louis. Cincinnati's schedule calls for 55, Atlanta's 54, and Pittsburgh's for 51 games under the lights.

The Mets scheduled 42 night games and the Giants 22.

The fans also will see a total of 45 doubleheaders, six of them twi-nighters and six afternoon-night twin bills. The Mets' schedule calls for eight twin bills — one under the lights — and Atlanta and Cincinnati each play six doubleheaders.

Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh each scheduled three doubleheaders and the Cubs, Cardinals, Astros and Giants play four each.

This year's schedule is worked out as all the clubs have met every other club at home before the second "go-around" begins in June. The All-Star game breaks comes on July 11-12 and the St. Louis Cardinals will meet the Minnesota Twins July 25 in the Hall of Fame game at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Among the likely pennant contenders, both Cincinnati and St. Louis close the season at home. The Reds' last foes will be the Braves on Oct. 2 while the Cardinals entertain the Cubs on the same day.

Los Angeles and San Francisco winds up the season in the East, playing at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, respectively. Houston closes its season at New York.

Good Guys Award To Mt. Rose

By ROSEMARY SEAL

Good Guys Award of the week goes to Mount Rose Ski Area, which celebrated the opening of new lifts and a warming house last weekend with a ski-for-free day on Saturday. Located above Incline Village, Mount Rose main lift rises to the top of what used to be called Northwest Passage from Slide Mountain. A smaller lift goes to a nice beginner area to the right.

The price was right, and the smaller lift had skiers lined up in droves, with testing still proceeding at the big lift in the morning.

THIS WAS in spite of gray skies, snow flurries, and temperatures below 20 degrees, which brought out face masks and fur parkas. Ski nuts are a hardy bunch.

The sandbag testing crew opened the big chair at 1 p.m., with a rush of skiers to the lift line. Something told us that it would be a good time to have lunch. This turned out to be the best idea of the day.

ABOUT HALF an hour later, when the chair lift was fully loaded, the electricity demand tripped the master switch, and suddenly, no power, no lights. No panic, however. Efficient crews fired up the sno-cats to slowly ease the chairs back down, and everyone was taken off safely, albeit a little cold.

TALKING ABOUT free rides, a season pass would be an appropriate prize for the winner of the "name the lift" contest at Sugar Bowl. The new chair lift will go up the mountain to the left of Lincoln, and a contest is planned to select a name. Construction is scheduled for this summer, with operation for next winter. The new chair will open up a great beginner and intermediate area, making the waiting lines shorter at the present three lifts.

WITH NEW powder snow and clear skies, skiing Sunday at Sugar Bowl was great. From Drake High School, four young men were trying out their ski legs on Disney and Crow's Nest. They were Jan Swaney, Roger Phelps and Dan Elliott, members of Explorer Scouts Post 25, who stayed at Marin Ski Club Lodge with Danl Shilinger; and Ken Chase, who came up with his family.

Hard Times For Sports Officials

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — This must be Get the Official Week in sports.

If the ref doesn't get a poke in the eye with a hockey stick, he may wind up with a Bruno Sammartino wrapped around his withers.

It all started Saturday afternoon in Boston. Reggie Fleming slashed linesman Brian Sopp with a stick in a National Hockey League game between New York and Boston.

Fleming, playing his first game for the Rangers against his old Bruin mates, went after Ted Green, who was in the penalty box. Reggie missed Green and struck Sopp.

From across the Pacific in Australia came the dulcet tones of Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, telling tennis umpire Norman Hirst to "shut up" after his Australian opponent hit a winner off his service.

Things got so sticky in the violent world of tennis at Sydney that the umpire didn't make the final call of the match, declaring Graebner the winner, until the referee told him he had to make a ruling.

Marty Reissen of Evanston, Ill., also managed to get into a jawing match with an official in a Tuesday match.

On the very shores of the Pacific in Pebble Beach, Calif., a most cooperative golf official, George Walsh, stumbled and fell into the briny while looking for one of two balls that Jack Nicklaus had hit out into the ocean.

To compound matters in that golf tournament Sunday, an Army sergeant, serving as a marshall, entered the chilly water, disappearing from time to time as a big gallery cheered and laughed.

The balls remained lost, the trousers wet.

Basketball got into the act, as usual. This time a referee didn't turn the other cheek. Carl Strom, the referee, charged Irv Gack, St. Louis business manager, as the final buzzer ended a Philadelphia-St. Louis game played at Memphis. Strom became angered at something Gack said after he called Richie Guerin of St. Louis for palming the ball.

Referees always get into all sorts of embarrassing situations in wrestling matches. It's part of the circus. But it seems Bruno Michele Scicluma of Malta overdid things Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

The Baron grabbed Bruno Sammartino of Italy with a hangman's hold and threw him at the referee, a former fighter named Danny Bartfield. The ref took exception to this dastardly deed and disqualified the Baron.

The worst — or best — is yet to come. Wait until Leo Durocher swings into action in the spring.

Rasco Undergoing Facelifting; Tax Service Now Is Expanding

A two-month facelifting and modernization job is already under way at the F. S. Rasco Co. department store, 1138 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

To be included in the remodeling program, says manager William G. Schendel, are a new facade, lowered ceilings, improved lighting, new counters, floor refinishing and a general refurbishing of the entire store from wall to wall. While all this is going on, business will continue as usual.

Well, almost as usual—there will be some interruptions.

H AND R BLOCK CO., nation-wide tax service that opened in Marin a little more than a year ago, has had a considerable amount of expansion recently.

Main office in the San Rafael Miracle Mile Plaza has been doubled in size and now occupies premises at 2054 and 2056 Fourth Street. And a new office has been opened in Mill Valley at 188 Blithedale Avenue. Leases were handled by Herman Deitch, Realtor.

Other offices are also being opened at 101 Highway and Grant Avenue, Novato and at 650 South Petaluma Boulevard in Petaluma. There are over 1,000 Block offices in the United States.

HERMAN (AL) ALBACHTEN of Mill Valley, 30 years in the automobile business in Marin, has joined Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet's used car department in Corte Madera. For the past five years he has been with Larry Brink Motors. For 25 years preceding that he had his own business in Mill Valley.

Since December, 1964, he has been assistant manager in the Berkeley office.

AN EXPANSION of the employee training program at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies has added several new staff members to the education department in San Francisco. Among them, Jerome B. Smith, a new Marin resident at 125 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, has been made director of claims training. He was previously claims supervisor in Dallas for Fireman's Fund American and has been in claims work since 1959. He was claims supervisor in St. Louis, Mo., in 1962 and was transferred to Dallas in 1961.

MRS. VIRGINIA ONDERDONK of Novato has joined Francis and Murray, Inc. as a representative selling stocks, bonds and mutual funds. She is the wife of Stanley Onderdonk, vice principal of Novato High School.

MANPOWER, INC., nation-wide firm supplying temporary office help, now has an affiliated organization as Salespower, Inc., supplying sales personnel. The San Rafael office of both entities continues to be under the management of Marcia Pettijohn.

NEW ARCHITECTURAL firm currently engaged in work on Sunset-Marin's 3,000-unit residential development in Novato is Crosby Thornton Hill Associates which has recently opened offices at 529 Commercial Street, San Francisco.

IN ANTICIPATION of extra work involved in Medicare, the Social Security Administration has leased for its district office the remaining ground floor space in the Kaehler-Farrar Building, San Rafael. The new lease, giving it 3,000 square feet, was handled by Edward P. Sabo of Redwood Realtors.

AN INVESTMENT COURSE by Bache and Co., will be held on four consecutive evenings starting Feb. 2 in the Livermore Room, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. Michael L. For the past five years Mejia has managed Marks Piano Co. in Stockton. He and his wife, Marian, and their baby boy, Richard, recently moved to 29 Leafwood Circle, San Rafael. Mejia majored in music at Fresno State College and has also taught school. He will offer beginners' classes in piano and organ during evening hours.

Airline Launches Half Fare Plan

NEW YORK — Approval of American Airlines' youth plan by the Civil Aeronautics Board today triggered one of the biggest sales campaigns in transportation history.

Ticket offices from coast to coast, a special mail order section in airline headquarters and representatives on hundreds of college campuses swung into action to sell the key to nationwide, half-fare airline travel for anyone between 12 and 22—the youth plan identification card.

The American youth plan becomes effective today. As of now, any holder of an identification card can purchase on a standby basis a ticket for travel anywhere on American Airlines' domestic system. Qualification for the card is simple—any document which offers legal proof of age and $3 are all that's needed.

Electronics Firm Sales Set Mark

PALO ALTO (AP) — Varian Associates, electronic and instrumentation firm has reported record sales and net income in the quarter ended Dec. 31.

Net income amounted to $1,544,000 on $28.13 million in sales. Earnings were 28 cents a common share.

In the comparable 1964 quarter, share earnings were 9 cents with net income of $520,000 on sales of $22.94 million.

Varian's order backlog is a record $48.85 million, up from $29.67 million a year earlier.

Utility Firm Has Record Earnings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Record earnings of $140,273,000 have been reported by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. on 1965 operating revenues of $851,399 million.

Earnings on a common share advanced from $1.83 in 1964 to $2.08 last year.

Construction spending in 1965 amounted to $287 million and will be about the same in 1966.

Stocks Erase Advance As War Issues Falter

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today after erasing an early gain.

There wasn't much in the ay of group action. Even aerospace defense stocks faltered after an early show of strength.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9 million shares compared with 9.91 million yesterday.

Some additional stock splits brightened the atmosphere but the list lacked consistent leadership and many groups were thoroughly scrambled.

Even aerospace defense issues began to falter although Boeing kept a 3-point rise and Douglas Aircraft was up 1. United Aircraft slumped more than a point.

United Air Lines held only a 1-point gain despite its 2-for-1 stock split while profit taking overtook other members of its group. American Airlines lost 2 and KLM 5.

Standard Brands was up about 4 points following word of its 2-for-1 split.

IBM lost 5 of its recent rise on split news. Polaroid dropped 2. Freeport Sulphur was ahead over 3 in continued response to split news.

Calumet and Hecla, up more than 2, and Kennecott, showing a similar rise were standouts in a mostly higher copper group.

Commonwealth Oil looked like the day's volume leader, showing a fractional gain.

American Telephone traded unchanged, near its low for 1965-66.

Admiral lost 2, Purex 1, Crucible Steel and Ford fractions.

Up a point were Pennsylvania Railroad and Zenith.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also were mixed. Trading was heavy.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds sagged on news the Treasury will issue a new 5 per cent coupon note.

Big G Purchases Embee Market

The Embee Market at 5651 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, has been sold, it was announced yesterday.

The 17,000-square foot store, opened in July, 1961, has been purchased by Big G Super Market, Inc., Sausalito, headed by Guido Bisazza. The sale is effective Feb. 1.

John Blumlein, general manager of Embee Markets, said the 10-year old Embee store in the Boardwalk Shopping Center, Tiburon, is not included in the sale and will continue to operate under the present ownership.

Big G opened at 2500 Bridgeway, Sausalito, two years ago. Bisazza said purchase of the Corte Madera store is the first step in an expansion program in which the company expects to add other outlets in Marin.

Modernization

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — A $90 million program to rebuild and modernize the structural rolling mills and enlarge the shipping facilities of Bethlehem Steel Corporation's plant here has been announced by company officers.

Marin Coed Visited By Mexican Friends

Stephanie Pinson, a 17-year-old senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, will have every opportunity to practice her Spanish as she plays hostess for the next two weeks to three students from Cuautla, Mexico.

For Josefina, 13, Judy, 12, and Guadalupe, 11, who arrived in Marin Monday with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Figueroa, can speak no English.

They are paying a return visit to Stephanie, who was among a group of Drake students visiting Mexico last summer.

During their stay, the family of five will live with Stephanie and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pinson, at 108 Hilldale Drive, San Anselmo.

The Mexican girls attended Drake yesterday and intend to return home in time to resume school in Cuautla Feb. 6. Dr. Figueroa is on the staff of the health department in the Mexican city.

Trustee Meeting

Larkspur School District trustees, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today, will be asked to accept $2,624 in federal funds for school library books. They will also be asked to approve a policy for selecting these books and hear a report of the results of fifth and eighth grade achievement and ability tests given last year.

Span Meeting Slated

Two committees of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will meet tomorrow in the administration building at the bridge toll plaza. Meeting of the finance committee is scheduled at 10 a.m., and of the building and operating committee, at 10:15 a.m.

Discharged

Mrs. Elgenia Roy, 29, of 12 Josephine Street, Sausalito, was discharged from Marin General Hospital yesterday after being admitted the previous day for a reported overdose of drugs.

Forgery Complaint Is Dismissed

Forgery complaint against Alec Leon Webber, 47, of La-Verne, Los Angeles County, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court for insufficient evidence.

Webber, alias Dr. Joseph P. Cohen, was charged with forging two checks for $240 each last Oct. 12 to defraud Bank of Marin and Bank of America in San Rafael. Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest Zunino said lack of positive identification contributed to the dismissal request.

Demos Hear Two Likely Candidates

Both Assemblyman Pearce Young of Napa and Robert D. Carrow of Novato spoke like potential candidates for the State Senate last night, but neither committed himself.

They appeared at a dinner meeting of the Marin Council of Democratic Clubs at the home of council chairman Thomas A. Skornia in Ross. About 40 delegates from Democratic clubs in the county attended the meeting.

Young, an attorney, admitted he has considered running for the senate in the Fourth District (Marin, Napa and Solano), but said his decision will rest on whether the Democratic Party will be united behind him.

Carrow, an attorney and mayor of Novato, has announced he will not seek re-election to the city council. He indicated last night that he would have the time to campaign for the senate, but he has not decided on his 1966 plans.

William M. Bennett of Kentfield, who is seeking the nomination for attorney general, criticized incumbent Thomas Lynch for not doing all possible in civil rights.

Bennett said he is personally against the Marincello development in Southern Marin. He predicted the project can still be reversed if enough opposition can be generated.

He said the Northwestern Pacific Railroad's stalling on the reopening of Puerto Suello tunnel is scandalous. Bennett, a member of the State Public Utilities Commission, promised he would continue his efforts for the tunnel reopening.

Perfumes were first created, it is believed, when ancient priests burned aromatics as offerings.

There Was A Reason For That Sonic Boom

The low-level flight over San Rafael by a jet fighter last week caused a few tempers to flare momentarily.

But an immediate explanation from the Air Force made it clear that this was one of the rare emergencies where the low flight over residential areas was unavoidable.

We can be assured that it was certainly no show-off type of stunt flying that some residents at first suspected.

One question most often asked by those who heard and felt the jarring blast from the jet's afterburner was this:

If they have to change their course of flight, why can't they fly out toward the bay over open water instead of toward densely populated San Rafael?

Explanations from those who are more acquainted with Hamilton operations point out that this is not always possible.

For example, when two aircraft approach each other at Hamilton and are warned away from the field at the last moment, they peel off in different directions—one out over the bay and the other over Lucas Valley. If every aircraft were to veer off toward the bay, the danger of collision would be much greater.

In the case of the F-101 which flew low over San Rafael, the pilot changed course when told that a T-33 might have difficulty landing. But since it was low on fuel, the F-101 got instructions to land ahead of the T-33. That's what caused the pilot to make a quick turn over San Rafael and use the afterburner for a spurt into Hamilton.

It is always a bit easier for citizens to endure sonic booms over their homes when they realize that by so doing, they may have saved the life of a pilot or the costly jet aircraft.

Marin is learning to live with the booms, the whines and roars that accompany a military airfield. The public accepts these disturbances, even with a certain amount of gratitude because their presence is a sign of the nation's alert.

As far as we are concerned, any maneuver, if essential for the safety of the plane or the pilot, would be justified.

At the same time, we are confident that the military will not take advantage of the growing public tolerance for sonic booms by permitting flights of a disturbing nature unless safety factors dictate such action.

"Telephoning from San Rafael to Novato may be much faster than driving, but it sure isn't much cheaper."

THE HOMEMAKER IS IRREPLACEABLE

One of the most challenging and complex tasks in the world is that of being a good homemaker.

In her book, "Sixpence In Her Shoe," Phyllis McGinley shares insights from her personal experience:

"We crave light and warmth in this century. Only the mother, the wife, can supply it for the home.

"To be a housewife is not easy. Ours is a difficult, a wrenching, sometimes an ungrateful job if it is looked on only as a job.

"Regarded as a profession, it is the noblest, as it is the most ancient of the catalog. Let none persuade us differently or the world is lost indeed."

Through and from the home woman can do much to change the world for the better. God has endowed her with special gifts that can benefit everyone.

In her own unique way she can renew, refresh, cheer and purify the whole of life.

She will do this if she faithfully and patiently fulfills the special mission assigned to her in the divine plan to bring joy, peace and order into the world.

"Like the sun rising in the Lord's heavens, the beauty of a virtuous wife is the radiance of her home." (Sirach 26:16)

Keep women reminded, O Holy Spirit, of the important service they can render as good homemakers.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Brown Tries To Revive Bureau Duplicating Local Chamber Jobs

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The first example of what tax-oppressed California can expect in the way of "economy" for a top-heavy state government came recently at a press conference held by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The Governor announced he will request in his 1966-67 budget the sum of $350,000 to restore life to the State Economics Development Agency.

This is the agency abolished by the 1965 legislature in a move to chop off useless and non-productive bureaucracies.

THE UNDERLYING purpose of the economic agency was to attract new business and industry to California. No one can quarrel with an objective of this type. But outside the printing of some expensive brochures the economic agency produced nothing in the way of concrete attractions to new business and industry, let alone actual establishment of the same in California.

The legislature no doubt had this in mind when it wiped out the agency.

Yet the Governor plans to ask the 1966 budget session for almost 50 per cent more of the taxpayers' dollars for re-establishment of the agency than was appropriated on an annual basis since it commenced business at the beginning of the Brown administration.

IT'S A FAIRLY well established fact that when a large concern seeks manufacturing facilities near new markets, its own representatives obtain the information necessary. Such concerns want to know about labor availability, transportation, supplies of raw materials, wages, taxes, and other items.

Such information is readily available from current state sources and in communities under consideration for plant locations.

FOR MANY YEARS, organizations supported by communities and the local business interests have done an excellent job of attracting new industry to California. This is the job of organizations like the Los Angeles and San Francisco chambers of commerce, as well as the many smaller chambers throughout the state.

Although the proposal for a state agency to do this work implies these private organizations have fallen down on the job, a trip around the industrial centers of California belies the implication.

Governor Brown says "we need an agency that business can go to for advice and assistance in various fields."

LOOKING AT the practical side of the situation, the thought comes that perhaps business needs an agency that government can go to for advice and assistance!

Supervisors Losing Control

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your recent editorial regarding the appointment of an economic developer I am sure will meet the approval of the majority of your readers. . . .

Mr. Leydecker's neighbor, Mr. Douglas was selected. It appears that Mrs. Douglas helped Mr. Leydecker in his campaign for supervisor. This could appear to be a political pay off. The Marin County merit system has been ignored. Now we are back to the spoils sytsem. . .

Bill Fusselman pointed out in the Jan. 21 edition of the I-J the cost of maintaining an administrator and his various assistants at a cost of $13,681.

The people of the county were sold on the idea that an administrator would save the taxpayers money, by the more efficient operation of the county business. It would be very interesting to know how much the present administrator, through his alleged efficiency, has reduced taxes. He is now proposing an increase in the county taxes of 21 cents. . .

Since we have very competent heads of the various county departments, an administrator is about as useless as a fifth wheel of a cart. He allegedly wrecked the personnel commission which had been doing a very good job and practically abolished the Marin County merit system.

On that commission there is a very competent and outstanding personnel consultant —Miss Margaret Lucas. Julius Selinger is an excellent legal adviser, and was responsible for drawing up the by-laws. . . for protecting the rights of county employees which were approved by the supervisors. Since we lost such outstanding supervisors as Bill Fusselman, Vera Schultz and the late Walter Castro, we now have a majority on the board who appeared to have turned over their responsibilities to the present county administrator.

Elderly Poor Need Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The president of the National Council of Senior Citizens, Mr. John W. Edelman, . .said in Washington recently:

"The impoverished citizen 65 years and over are the most neglected of the poor. Time holds very little for them. The young and the middle aged poor have the promise of the future, while the old grow poorer in health, and assets gone. There are thousands who will not survive the rigor of winter. The casualties among these oldsters would equal the loss of our brave fighting men in Viet Nam."

Mr. Edelman. . .went on to say that thousands are scattered about in dilapidated homes, outmoded hotels. Many live in old shacks in remote mining and railroad towns, alone and friendless. . .

This is an indictment against our rich, fat, ever expanding economy of surplus and plenty. We must not forget these unfortunate oldsters. They were the pioneers, the builders, who sacrificed their all, in war and in peace. . .

The plaintive voice of our senior citizens is not heard, in the modern scheme of things . . . We, the strong with a heart, must take up the challenge ahead, to defeat poverty—wipe it out forever. These senior citizens ask but very little, only a comfortable home, the dignity of being an American citizen, free from want, in their declining years. We have the wealth and the know how.

A politician who would dare ignore legislation for the betterment of the impoverished of this nation would commit a deed inexcusable.

It is up to us, the young and middle aged voters of this land, to deny these callous-hearted men, at the ballot box come next election time.

Nature Area Dumping Termed Unbelievable

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to call your attention to a dumping problem that has to be seen to be believed.

. . . My daughter and I went on a hike on trails leading off the county road which winds up the mountain behind Santa Venetia to the Nike missile base. This lovely area . . . is well on its way to becoming a full-fledged public dump . . . We saw almost every sort of discard that can be imagined, including a mattress, a trunk, a TV cabinet, a broken tricycle, and odds and ends of home furnishings . . .

I can't urge strong enough that your paper launch an all-out crusade . . . Please go and look. On foot. For an impact to make your blood run cold and set you teeth on edge, the area must be explored walking.

There are fines for dumping, as well as numerous "No Dumping" signs . . . Dumping goes on just the same. The threat of a fine printed on the "No Dumping" signs hasn't had the hoped for effect.

Knuckle-rapping of the same sort won't prevent the eventual ruin of Marin's wilderness areas by careless dumping. Some other approach is needed.

I suggest that teachers take school children on field trips through these areas . . . Movies ought to be made . . . and shown at school assemblies. Clean-up brigades of citizen-volunteers ought to be organized . . .

As for the usefulness of legal penalties, I give up. Surely a generation of "adults" who can produce a problem of this magnitude is completely beyond redemption—or at least a good-sized segment of it is. It would be comforting if we could revoke the county residence privilege of anyone caught dumping. Silly as it may sound, and useless as it is to dream, this method just might work. In the meantime, let's all of us forget our "rights," roll up our sleeves and pick up after these people. It has to be done.

PRESIDENT LYNDON Johnson tells of a day when his brilliant political career was just dawning and he was seeking to win favor with his rural Texas audience by emphasizing the beauties of its landscapes. He started with the beautiful piny woods of East Texas, moved lovingly through the bluebonnets and out to the plains and down the hill country to the Gulf Coast and back to the piny woods where he started all over again. When he got going on his third time around, an exasperated little cuss in the back of the hall hollered, "Say, Lyndon, the next time you pass through Lubbock, how about letting me off?"

STUDIED INSULT department: Alexander Woollcott, after listening to an interminable torrent of self-praise from a garrulous lady of the stage, finally interrupted to snarl: "Pardon me, but both my legs have gone to sleep. Do you mind if I join them?"

Presidential Election System Always Has Presented Problems

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
(James Marlow is ill.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Founding Fathers were great men but, being human, they were not omniscient.

They thought up a system for selecting presidents which did not work. It had to be changed after only four presidential elections. Now it is up for proposed revision once more.

IN THE MINDS of many of the makers of the U.S. Constitution was the idea that there is a "natural aristocracy" — composed of men with such qualities as virtue, talent, public spirit, wealth, learning and so on.

Naturally the president should be selected from among the best of these men. But how to do it? The public at large was not considered equipped with enough information or sound judgment to make the selection.

So the Constitution makers hit upon the idea of electors. Each state would choose, by whatever methods it thought best, some of its wisest men to serve briefly as electors.

Each would vote for two men. The person who got the highest vote would be president.

THE SYSTEM worked in the first three elections, George Washington twice and John Adams once. But in 1800 it sort of broke down—the reason being that in their lack of omniscience the Founding Fathers had failed to foresee the rise of political parties.

For the election of 1800, the Republicans — now Democrats —organized to the hilt for the Jefferson-Burr ticket. Thomas Jefferson wrote innumerable letters rallying his supporters. Aaron Burr, Tammany Hall organizer, even used such modern devices as a card index file to elect Republicans to the New York Legislature, which in turn selected electors.

The national result was what Paul T. David and coauthors of the book "The Politics of National Party Conventions" call "the ultimate arithmetical absurdity of the system."

Each Republican elector voted for Jefferson and Burr and the result was a tie for president, 73 to 73. Under the Constitution, the election went to the House of Representatives.

BURR MIGHT have made it to the presidency, except for Federalist Alexander Hamilton. Though he called Jefferson a "contemptible hypocrite" he considered him better than Burr, and Jefferson was elected president after 36 ballots in the House.

So in 1804 the Constitution was amended to provide that electors, instead of just voting for two men, would vote separately for president and vice president.

Electors, beginning in 1800, became mostly rubber stamps, merely voting for their party nominees. But a few have not done so, leading to criticism that some day the popular will may be thwarted.

President Lyndon B. Johnson proposes to abolish the office of elector. The entire electoral vote of a state would automatically be credited to the ticket which won in the popular vote.

HIS IS NOT the only suggestion under debate. Others include:

Elect the president and vice president by nationwide popular vote; that is, a plurality of the popular vote cast in the nation at large.

Elect by a "district method." There would be one electoral vote for each congressional district and two at large for each state. A majority of electoral votes in the nation would be required for election.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Democrat Campaign Cupboard Too Bare

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
And PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Acting Democratic Treasurer Clifton Carter is glumly pondering a most disconcerting financial problem.

The Democratic National Committee is more than $2.5 million in the red.

That's what the long-time political lieutenant of President Lyndon B. Johnson is telling congressmen facing tough election battles this year. According to Carter, the National Committee not only is broke but deeply in debt.

WHILE NOT disputing this, the legislators are frankly baffled.

They are unable to understand why an administration that scored a landslide victory and big majorities in both branches of Congress only a little more than a year ago should be in such dire financial plight. Usually under such circumstances, by this time the election deficit has been paid off and the till again well filled.

Various accounts are afoot on the reason for this exceptional situation.

Some party leaders are attributing it largely to the President. They cite his cold-shouldering invitations to address fund-raising dinners and other gatherings, and his keeping Vice President Humphrey from doing so.

Some are pointing the finger at former Treasurer Richard Maguire, the Kennedy holdover who resigned last month to join a big law firm with offices in Boston and Washington. They are indicating he spent too much and collected too little.

BOBBY BAKER, recently indicted by a Washington grand jury on charges of income tax evasion, grand larceny and fraud, is uneasily waiting for the "other shoe to drop."

A Baltimore grand jury has been investigating the former Senate Democratic secretary for more than a year. His much-publicized motel is in Maryland.

Attorney General Katzenbach is trying to persuade President Johnson to publicly come out against capital punishment.

The President hasn't flatly rejected taking such a stand. But neither is he ready to make such a declaration—ardently advocated by Katzenbach.

BUT AFTER consulting FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and congressional leaders, the President decided against it. They pointed out the proposal would conflict with a number of federal laws, notably the Lindbergh kidnapping act, which have the death penalty.

Katzenbach did succeed in adding a line to the short paragraph dealing with crime in the streets. As expanded the paragraph reads:

"I recommend that you meet the growing menace of crime in the streets by building up law enforcement, and by revitalizing the entire federal system from prevention to probation."

Representative Paul Jones, D-Mo., is beginning the new session of Congress with a much-warranted appeal to his colleagues that is certain to go unheeded. Pointing out that publication of the Congressional Record last year cost around $3.5 million, due to immense verbosity, Jones urged "reasonableness and restraint."

SAID JONES, "The body of the Record has become the dumping ground for material once aptly described as 'trash, tripe and trivia'."

San Anselmo Citizens Tell What They Want For Progress

Mrs. Anne West of the San Anselmo Homes Assn. has been serving as publicity seeker for the San Anselmo Congress for Community Progress. The project committee for the congress has tabulated the results of its recent questionnaire, she said, and figures show that 296 San Anselmo residents took time out to indicate where they feel their city needs improvement.

"IT'S A PHENOMENAL figure," said Mrs. West. "Why that's almost 10 per cent of all the city's registered voters!"

The committee's tabulations, Mrs. West said, also show what community problems San Anselmo residents are most interested in. The problems and the number of citizens indicating interest are as follows:

Traffic and streets, 219; city beautification, 202; the downtown area, 192; city ordinances, 156; recreation facilities, 149; fire protection and water service, 135.

The committee has named panels to discuss these six topics when the one-day congress convenes March 5 at Sir Francis Drake High School. Program for the congress will consist of morning panel discussions which are supposed to produce suggestions for improvement in the six areas.

These suggestions will be considered by the full congress in the afternoon. A committee of the congress will follow up those recommendations adopted by the full congress and seek city council action.

LARKSPUR and Corte Madera city councilmen got together Monday night to realign their city and town boundaries and almost ended up meeting out in the cold. First to arrive were four members of the Larkspur council, who found their city manager, Ronald E. Piper, at the front door of city Hall, fumbling with a set of keys.

"This door has never been locked before," he said with an embarrassed smile. "I have a key to the door, but I've never needed it. I think it's in my desk, inside."

Someone suggested that the building has a back door and Piper scurried around the back, key ring in tow. Minutes later, the lights went on inside the building and the chagrined city manager appeared at the door to let the others in.

The rest, $15,665, will go to the Mill Valley School District to set up portable classrooms as libraries and hire teacher-librarians at Marin Terrace, Tamalpais Valley and Homestead schools.

SCHOOL ELECTION HAS HIDDEN ISSUE

Lagunitas Site Controversy Expected To Affect Fate Of Building Bond Vote

When voters in the Lagunitas School District go to the polls Feb. 15, they may feel they are voting on the choice of a school site, even though there will be nothing about one written on the ballot.

The election is to determine whether the district will issue $200,000 worth of bonds and borrow another $400,000 from the state to build a second school. But the main battle in the election seems to stem from the objections of property owners whose homes would be torn down — or at least moved — if the school winds up where the district board has said it will.

Promoting passage of the bond issue and loan is the Committee for Neighborhood Schools in the Valley. Against it is the Committee for Sensible School Sites.

Chairman of the latter group is Donald A. Pederson, one of those whose homes in Woodacre are threatened by the board's decision and also, with his wife, one of the most vocal opponents to the choice.

The district board has not shied away from linking the election with the site controversy. In the official argument for passage of the bond issue and loan, signed by the board members, they committed the district, if voters make the funds available, to buying a site in central Woodacre, just north of the Woodacre Improvement Club, and another on Tamal Road in Forest Knolls.

Board members plan to start building first on the site in Woodacre.

"The district needs five additional classrooms immediately," says the official pro-bond argument.

"The decision to build the first new school site in Woodacre," it adds, "is based upon the fact that more than 50 per cent of the present enrollment in grades kindergarten through third grade live in Woodacre."

It goes on to say the choice "is predicated upon the board's commitment to the principle of a neighborhood school" and that "the central Woodacre site is the logical location for the new elementary school."

Members of the opposing group, however, pose five reasons why they find the site undesirable.

It would, they say, "force people and remove valuable property from the tax rolls," and would cost more than other sites. Too, they contend, "hundreds of acres of less expensive undeveloped land are within walking distance of the site selected." Further, access roads now used by Woodacre residents and the county fire department would be closed, they say. Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom has denied this.

Lastly, the anti-bond group says "proximity of the firehouse to a school is dangerous nuisance and distraction."

This group has contended in recent weeks that district officials have presented a distorted view of the facts to the public, and have exaggerated the element of crisis.

"A 'no' vote will not affect the educational program," they counter. "There are no double sessions or classroom shortages."

The voters' decision may hinge partly on how important they feel it is to do away with five portable classrooms which are preventing such shortages. Proponents of the bond issue say it is essential to get rid of them because they cost $8,000 per year with no state aid.

The opposing group, however, would rather see portable classrooms than a permanent site which it does not like.

A debate on the issue will be sponsored by the San Geronimo Valley Assn. at 8 p.m. Monday at Lagunitas School. The pro-bond committee will hold an open meeting at 8 p.m. Feb. 9 at the school. A representative of the state education department is expected to appear at that session.

Firm's Owners Sue Bookkeeper

A San Anselmo bookkeeper and secretary, Elsie N. Hiebert, is being sued in Marin Superior Court for $70,000 in a civil action alleging embezzlement and forgery.

Plaintiffs Robert S. and Lorraine Miller charge that the defendant, whom they employed about two years ago to work for the Robert S. Miller Construction Co., 24 H Street, San Rafael, and the Marin Style House, Northgate Shopping Center, forged their names on company checks for over $20,000.

They ask recovery of that amount, and an additional $50,000 punitive damages from the defendant, of 18 Crest Road.

No criminal action has been filed.

Prep's Not Too Impressed With Challenges Of Cal

By BOB KING
Terra Linda High School

Suspicious of the course descriptions found in college catalogs, I recently visited the University of California at Berkeley to see the students in action during schooltime.

The results were somewhat disappointing. Being only a junior at Terra Linda High, I expected to be intellectually lost at the lectures. Actually, the lectures were almost self-explanatory, needing little pre-class preparation.

Moreover, the large lecture classes met in small sections two or three times a week. In these smaller groups, a graduate student correlated lecture and outside reading material.

Ironically, one of the worst lectures I heard was in a small Spanish literature class. Admittedly, the books were in Spanish but the teacher discussed the novels in English. Moreover, he repeated the meaning of a symbol in one novel five times. Meanwhile, the students were staring at the floor or scribbling on their notebooks.

Many of the lectures in psychology and the sciences were mere exercises in memorizing terms and concepts.

I visited six classes in fields ranging from Civil War history to elementary physics, and none of the classroom material was beyond my comprehension as a high school junior. Seemingly, the difficult part of college is applying oneself to read the multitude to outside reading books and to study for the finals.

The college students themselves confirmed my hypothesis. They must and do use time between classes for reading and library work. They can even read in the noisy cafeteria. Moreover, during the slow, insignificant parts of the lectures, they scan the daily university newspaper. Of course, at an immense knowledge factory like UC, the students do not know each other, thereby creating a "big city" atmosphere instead of the "small town" friendliness of the small colleges.

Possibly the most interesting part of the Cal trip was Sproul Hall Plaza at noon. The Viet Nam Day Committee and other radical groups fought for the crowd's attention. A graduate student in the VDC doubted the sincerity of President Johnson's peace offerings. Nearby some speaker wearing a green, fluorescent vest and a Royal Canadian Mounty hat surrounded himself with signs warning the Americans about the Nazi threat. His assistant held a whirling disc designed to induce hypnosis.

At the end of the Sproul Hall Plaza, a red-faced Irishman with three front teeth missing shouted about how the world is basically evil and Christ came to save us. Significantly, none of these radicals looked dangerous or sinister. A bearded VDC funds solicitor argued with another student and produced the inane remark, "In capitalist countries the poor always get poorer."

At any rate, the visit did provide me with some insights to college life. Every student should visit one or more campuses for himself, not on "Open house" days but during regular class hours. The proximity of so many colleges and universities makes trips not only enlightening, but extremely simple to arrange.

A fish can feel sounds, says the National Geographic.
